THANKSGIVING LYRIC.

Two turkles led a happy life, That seemed a unipy me,
That seemed a summer's day,
And wandered through the pleasant fields
Together, bright and gay.
From more 'till night the joyous pair
Puraued their quiet way.
Nor ever dreamt of future ill
That would their hopes betray.
When dewy evening-time approached.

When down evening-time approached,
Day's cares and troubles loosed,
They bent tow'rd home their noiseless way,

That women their hopes being.

When dewy evening-time approached, Day's cares and troubles loosed,
They bent how'rd home their noiseless way,
And soughy went to roosal!
This pleasant life not long did last,
With joys and hopes so gay;
For he who owned the noble birds
Thought of Thankagiving Day!
And on that day resolved that he,
(As well became a sinner!)
To church would go—and after that
Have turkey for his dinner!
One evening, when the sun wan down,
And night's grey mantle spread;
While on the pure and quick earth
The moon's cold light was shed!
The happy birds retired to rest.
As was their wont to do;
No care or woe to them seemed nest,
The future seemed bright too.
Upon the branches of a tree,
Where oft' they'd slept before,
The two retired to rest again,
And soon began to snore!
When; suddenly, a noise was made
Thy some intruding wight,
And through the dry and withered leaves
They saw a pale blue light!
They started from their pleasant dreams,
As you of I would do,
If such a sight should come to us
When we were slumbering, too.
Alas, poor birds: they had no time
To think when they had err'd,
Or tell, why in the midnight hour,
Their rest was thus disturbed:
Why brimstone, burning pale and blue,
Upon a slender stick,
Shovild funigate the atmosphere
And make them feel so sick!
For he who held this talisman,
Felled with such magic power,
Ne'er told unto the suffering birds
What brought him at that hour!
But to their bills he gently placed
The pale and trembling light
And quickly did the poor birds dop
Down from their dizzy height.
Now when the dreadful shock was o'er,
If this mosthorrollful,
They found that they were snugly cooped
And could not roam at all:
For they were caught and safely caged
Marking the dry manter at length drew near
When they their death should meet,
And furnish both a plenteous cheer
With friends to help him cat.
He raised the coop with full intont
Both turkies he would slay.
When one he seized by both his wings,
The other flew mway,
And from the branches of a tree
Witnessed with said dis

Mer husband's head dissevered,
And there, a corpse, he lay!
And ever since no comfort hath She, once so bright and gay,
And feels she was a widow made
Upon Thunksgiving D'hay!

Wit and Humor.

American Courtship .- An English paper gives the following account of the American court

You know nothing in the old country of going a-head. If you only saw one of our young fellows setting off to pick up a wife, it would wake you up amazingly. There you would see him parhaps in a harvest afternoon, with his wagon and best team. He arrives at her father's door-leaps out -starts right in. Miss is sitting in the corner sewing a napkin; father in the other putting a new handle in his axe.

"Good afternoon, Fred." say both in return.

"I say, squire," says Fred, "the old lady is in the kitchen, with a something in head she wants to be telling you of: you had better start."

as a Shaker's meeting, and nothing in it barrin, plenty of furniture in the rooms; the kitchen chuck full of hams and ingin nets; the cellar over the lid with cider; and nothing else in the universe but the live stock out of doors."

"Well, what else would you have !" says Miss, " ain't that enough, you goney !"
"Enough," says Fred, " no ! there ain't a wife in the lot."

"Ay! that's queer," says Miss, with a blush.
"No, it ain't," says Frad, "a critter must begin sometime to be married. I've just taken a thought that way since the house is fixed. But I have

"Well, then," says Fred, "tut sin't no. You won't say that ugly word!" Won't I!" says Miss.

"Well, then," says Fred, "will you say no, when I ask you right off!" "To be sure I will, and keep my word too, you "Then," says Fred with a solemn voice, "Mary, my sweet love, will you refuse me ?"

"No," says she, according to promise. "There you are!" says Fred, triumphantly. Taken the bait! so I'll step along and tell fa-

Anecdote of Hamilton .- Alexander Hamilton was once applied to as counsel, by a man having the guardianship of several orphans.— These infants would, on their coming of age, succeed to a large and valuable estate, of which there were some defects in the title deeds. This fact, and the manner in which it happened, was known only to the guardian, who wished to simploy. Hamilton as a counsel to vest in himself the title of the estate. He related the whole affuir circumstantially, and was requested to call again, before he would venture to give his advice in a matter of so much importance. On his second visit, Hamilton read over to him the minutes of their previous conversation that he had reduced to writing, and asked him if the statement was correct. On giving an answer in the affirmative, Hamilton replied, "You are now completely in my power, and I look upon myself as the guardian of the unhappy children. Take my advice—settle with them honorably to the whole amount, or I will hull you from your skin." It is proper to add, that the advice was punctually followed.

Obeying Orders .- A certain general of the United States army, supposing his favorite horse dead, ordered an Irishman to go and skin him. " What, is Silver tail dead ?" asked Pat. "What's that to you ?" replied the officer. "De

L bid you, and ask no questions. Pat went about his business, and in an hour or two returned. "Well, Pat, where have you been all this time?"

asked the general. Skinning the horse, yer honor." "Does it take nearly two hours to perform such an operation!"

No. yer honor; but thin ye see it tuk 'boye half an hour to catch him."

"Catch him! fire and furies! was he slive!" "Yes, yer honor; and ye know I couldn't skin

"Skin him alive! did you kill him ?" "To be sure I did; ye know I must obey orders without asking any questions !"

Shut from Eden .- " Come and see me," said a young man to a friend whose appearance was rather poverty-stricken, " come and see me in

B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge. Tacts for the People.

The constantly increasing popularity and sale of B.

A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge has induced persons, who are envious of its success, to palm off upon the public preparations which all medical men know to be inefficacious in expelling vorms from the system.

This Vermifuge made its way into public favor upon the ground of its own intrinsic merits, more than any other medicine of the kind now used; and, while many worm remedies have, by dint of puffing, been forced into sale, and schortly after gone into the obscurity which their worthlessness justly merited, B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to be triumphantly sustained. It has only to be used and its effects will fully sustain all that is said of its wonderful expelling power:

CERTIFICATE.

Wales. Eric Co., New York, Jan. 7, 1843.—
We certify that we have used B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge in our families, and in every case it has provided a decided and effectual remedy for expelling worms from the system. We coordially recommend it to parents who have children afflicted with that dangerous malady.

D.R. Cullen's Indian vegetaule Remedy.

Warranied to care, or the money returned. This medicine is prepared from an Indian receipt, obtained from one of them in the far West, at great expense.—Those who have been familiar with the Indians. know that they can and do cure Venerial without the Knowledge of Mercury, Balsam, or any thing of the kind.—The afflicted have now an opportunity of being cured without the danger of Mercury or the unpleasant taste of Balsam. This medicine is pleasant to the taste, and leaves no smell on the breath.

SCROFULA.—Messrs. Rowand & Walton:—Gentlemen:—For the benefit of the public and those afflicted as I have been—you are at liberty to use this testimonial as you think proper:

After having suffered over a year with several painful ulcers on my right shoulder; which covered a space of nearly nihe inches in circumference, I was induced to call at your office, to see Mr. Isaac Brooks. (with which if was acquainted) and his cure being so remarkable as to remove all doubt, I commenced taking the same medicine, "Dr. Cullen's Indian Vegetable Panacca." I have not used the number of bottles prescribed, but am pleased to say, I have been entirely cured.

I will be pleased to see any one who may think proper to call upon me for further information at my house, in South Juniper. street, a few doors above Spruce.

Philadelphia, June 22, 1847.

TETTER.—Messrs. Rowand & Walton:—Gentlemen: I cheerfully give you the particulars of a cure performed on me by your justly celebrated "Dr. Cullen's Indian Pegetable Panacca." I had been afflicted with "Tetter" shout ten years on my body and hands. It was exceedingly troublesome and annoying, I tried Ointments but without relief. Last winter I procured some of your Panacea: the itching was sonal alayed; and I had taken the medicine but a short time whe

Mr. Hazieton is a highly respectable farmer, and well known as a temperance lecturer and moral reformer, to the people of the lower counties of New Jersey.

ERYSIPELAS.—Encouragement.—For the benefit of the afflicted. I freely give you a statement of my condition, before I commenced with your Dr. Cullen's Indian Vegetable Panacea. Some four years since, my leg became swollen, inflamed, and painful. The disease was pronounced "Erysipeles," I resorted to the usual remedies, but without effect—except in one case, in which I tried a medicine advertised in an ALMANAC, which, instead of curing, eat the flesh to the bone: my leg became keyr troublesome, and I began to fear it would result in homething serious. Mr. Thornton, a neighbor of inine, was taking your Panacea for a scrofulous sore leg—and much benefitted, (now well) and also a lady of my acquaintance. From their representations I was induced to give you a call, and your offer being so fair, it gave me confidence in your medicine, I commenced its use—and in less than three months was entirely cuted—my leg is perfectly sound, and, as several months have clapsed, I have not the least fear of a relapse.

I give this testimonial cheerfully, hoping it may induce others to make trial of what I believe to be one of the best medicines ever offered to the public. It would give me much pleasure at any time to secthose who wish any further information in regard to the Panacea, at my residence, No. 240, Carpenter street, between 8th and 9th streets, north side Wil.LIAM FLEMMING.

ILAVE YOU A COLD?

Let it not ripen into Consumption! Are you Dyspeptic! Beware of the hypochondria. Two pilis taken every other night on an empty stomach, for a short time, will, in nine cases out of ten, cure the Dospepsia, and thereby drive away the legion of "devils blue." For Headache, no medicine is superior to Wripht's Indian Vegetable Fills. Costiveness, that prolific mother of disease, is caused by a torpid state of the liver, which these pills effectually cures. By striking at the root of disease, wright's Indian Vegetable Fills prevent all and cure at I. They can hardly ever be taken amiss, if used with common discretion; and we commend them to the use of those who have not yet tried them.

THE FARMER By Wm. Haines Lytle.

From golden morn to dewy eye,
When the sky gleams bright and red,
With many a strong and sturdy stroke,
I labor for my bread.
No sickly fits or ills I dread,
My chest is deep and broad,
And though I work the livelong day,
I rise and thank my God.

No lily hue is on my brow.
No lily hue is on my hard hand,
I wield the axe, I drive the plough.
Or when war shrouds the tane,
I seize my father's well tried blade,
And that for freedom's sod
It is my glorious right to bleed,
I rise and thank my God.

And when my dally task is o'er,
And the sun is sinking low,
As faint with work and honest tell,
To my humble roof I go;
I see the perfumed city bean
With his ebony walking rod,
And that I'm not a thing if he he,
I rise and thank my God.

Tame Cows-Hoof Ail.-A correspondent of the Massachusetts Plonghman, speaking of this troublesome and serious disease of cattle, and offering a remedy for it, says :- " Some years ago my father had about 44 head of cattle; the foot sil got into the stock, lost two oxen and one cow before we found a remedy; the hoof began to crack off at the back part and kept on gaining till it came off. We took a fine toothed saw and ent the point of the hoof off so that the whole was sufficient for it to discharge, and put on some tar or other healing ointment; the complaint begins in the hoof and cannot find any other way to dircharge but to crack off the back part, without the point is cut off: the inside is dead and rotten, and emits a great stench when cut off. We did not luse any after cutting off the point." Another romedy, offered by another correspondent of the same paper, is as follows:—" I will give you what t know to be a sure cure, if the disease has not been of too long standing. Take tar and brimstone in proportions of one gallon of tar to one pound of brimstone; heat and stir them well together till the tar boils and the brimstone is melted. Confire the animal so that you can manage her feet : clean or wash out the parts affected, and with a spoon or ladle pour in the mixture, boiling hot. One application generally effects the cure, i not it may be repeated until it does. The hot tar does not appear to give the animal any pain junless it comes in contact with the sound flesh. I send you this in great confidence, having proved its efficacy three several times."

The Culture of Strawberries .- A writer in one of our exchanges remarks: "Is it not most singular that so few provide themselves with a pleutiful crop of this very early and most delicious fruit? Most, no doubt, are deterred by supposed difficulty and cost of culture. But by the following process, an acre of strawberries may be kept in the finest bearing condition for any length of time, at no more cost than to cultivate an acre of corn, after the first setting out has been done. Set out the plants in rows about three feet apart, and a foot apart in the rows. Keep them clean and well cultivated, by a horse attached to a plough or cultivator, and in a year or two they will bear abundantly. In a year or two more, the plantation will want renewing, to do which, let the nurners fill up the space between the rows, which has before been kept clean and in fine condition and then plough under the old rows, leavtween them for new rows with the horse, as be fore; and so indefinitely.

Extraordinary Cure of a Puerperal Fe. ver an a Cow -The following case may prove interesting to our agricultural readers at this season: "On the first of March one of my cows" calved, and appeared afterwards to be quite well. On the following morning, to my surprise; she was down and unable to rise, with loss of appetite, and quite unconscious of everything : care and muzzle quite cold, her head turned b side, and to every appearance a speedy death was inevitable. I sent for C. S. Green, veterinary surit a hopeless case, but wished to try the effects of a compound of ether, with cathartics, which I agreed to, and by the repeated administering of those medicines, in thirty-six hours after its being first administered she got up and began feeding. On the eighth day she was pronounced to be quite well. Having lost a case four years ago by the same disease, which was medically treated, and from knowing it to be a very fatal disease, in future I shall be enabled to have recourse to a preventive." WM. DODGETT.

Draining .- H. Colman, speaking of the evils of stagnant water in the soil beneath the surface, says: "plants produced on a very wet soil, are unpalatable, instrictious, and insubstantial. Animals fed upon them always lose condition, and the manure of animals so fed is almost worthless. I saw this strikingly illustrated in the magnificent park of the Duke of Bedford, at Woburn Abby. Here there were many spots where the grass was luxuriant and abundant, on account of their excessive dampness, and which were entirely, neglected both by the sheep and the deer; but wherever these places, once wet, had been thoroughly drained, they became the favorite resorts of these animals, and were fed as closely as Skill in Farming.—Skill adds more to the profits of farming than hard work. In the article of butter for instance, the same outlay is required, or nearly the same, to make a bundred pounds of poor butter, as would be required to make a hundred pounds of that which is good. But when the two articles are marketed there may be five or six dollars of clear extra profit in the pocket of the skilful dairy man. The importance of scientific farming is realized by those who have found such benefits as is noted above in nearly every department of their labor.

A Long Corn Stalk .- A corn stalk messuring nineteen feet in height, was exhibited at a recent Horticultural fair in Cincinnati. The ear of corn on the stalk was fourteen feet from the root, and a sucker growing fifteen feet high, produced an ear at nine feet from the earth! seed was brought from Mexico; the land on which it was planted, is of the ordinary quality; all the stalks were remarkable for their height, some being tailer than the specimen.

The following toast was given at the Conord Cattle Show dinner: "Uncle Sam's Farm—the only farm where draining is carried on all the year round."

The recent improvement made by the subscribers and which is peculiar to their subdishment slone, visan upper light, has received the highest, recommendations from the press, and also written testimentals from the first artists in the country as to its great upper fortry over the usual Side Light. The peculiar advantage of this Light is, that the natural expression of the eye can be obtained now more perfectly than heretofore. Citizens and strangers are respectfully invited, whether desiring portraits or not, to visit our spacious galleries, probably the largest and most extensive in the United States; and examine for themselves the actonizing improvements made by the subscribers in this wonderful art.
