MATRIMONY. MATRIMONY.

I hold that every one is bound to carry
In full effect the duties of this lie;
That is, that men in proper time should marry,
And live in love and harmony with a wife.
If now and then a woman prove a shrew,
'Tis an exception to the general rule;
And I would deem him either knave or fool,
Who cays that woman is not kind and true.
There may be men who ne'er should marry such
As have a heart affection cannot touch;
But he who bears the impress of a man,
And has a bosom filed with yearnings human,
Should win the heart of some pure hearted woman
And pop the question bravely as he can. An angel always dwells beneath the roof
Where, in her virue, a sweet wife fulfils
Her gende duites; unnumbered lifs
From that love-guarded precient keep aloof,
And The who finds a wife," 'twas said of old,
"Finds something good," and so I always hold.
The bachelor is awondescript—(I beg
His pardop, but it's true;)—quite out of placo
He seems to me, among our living race;
Unfinished, like a chair that lacks a leg—
A kinfe without a fork—a book unbound—
A lonely traveller on a lonesome way,
Who, faint and sad, looks wisfully around,
But from the sun of love receives no cheering ray. An angel always dwells beneath the roof

But from the sun of love receives no cheering ray.

If this be so, why don't he go and marry.

This winter now; the birds long since have paired,
And e'en the flowers their nuptful time have shared;
Then why should he still solitary tarry.
Were I a bachelor, I'm sure I'd fall
A captive to some maiden of our land;
I'd scarce know how to choose among them all,
Yet in our day, a single heart and hand
Are all the law allows; and this well,
The love of one sweet heart on one bestowed
Is full enough to make hits bosom swell, §
And teach his feet to leap along life's read;
Ye bachelors, go—a loving helpmeet take,
And send around your compliment of cake!

A Jig in Prose -Once upon an evening dreary, while I pondered lone and weary-over many an olden paper, reading forgotten stories o'er-suddenly I heard a carious, I mely, ghostly strange, mysterious grating, underneath the floor! -Tis some little mouse, I muttered, underneath-the office floor-only tais and nothing more. And again I trimmed the taper, and once more resumed my paper-aged, torsaken, antique paperporing its ancient contents o'er; when again I heard repeating this some strange, mysterious grating, but much londer than before-and it seemed like some one sawing wood beneath the office floor; Itis no mouse, thought L. but more. As I listen-ed, each particular hairs tool upright, perpendicular-cold, out standing drops, orbicular so in my forehead covered o'er-while a strange, mysterious terror filled my soul with fear and horror, such as I ne'er felt helores; much I wondered what this curious grating meant, beneath the floor .- Thus the toil. I sat and eyed the floor, And thus watching, gazing, pondering, trembling, doubting, fearing, wondering, suddenly the wall was sundering, as for Buiquo's ghost of vore-and, while gazing much astonished, in tantly from there bounted a huge rat upon the floor. Not the least obeisance made he, but a moment stopped and stayed he, your soul. shrinken ingers, fell the hold discase has already gained upon her—the sound of her sepulchral ough pierces your soul.

Young man, when just about to enter life, disease sends a heart-rushing blight over the fair prospects of the future—vour hectic cough and feeble limbs fell of your loss of hope, but you need not despair. There is a balm which will hear the wounded lungs, it is SHERMAN'S ALL-HEALING BALSAM.

Mrs. ATTREE, the wife of Wm. H. Autree, Esq., was given up by Dr. Sewall of Washington, Drs. Rue and McClellan of Philadelphia, Dr. Roe and Dr. Mott of New York. Her friends all thought she must die.—She hadevery appearance of being in consumption, and was so pronounced by her physicians—Sherman's Balsam was given and it cured her.

Mrs. GARRABRANTZ of Bull's Ferry, was also cured of consumption by this Balsam when all other remedies failed to give reticf—she was reduced to a skeleton. Dr. A. C. Castle, Dentist, 281, Broadway, has winessed its effects in several cases where no opher medicine afforded reticf—but the Balsam operated dike a charm. Dr. C. also witnessed its wonderful effects in curing asthma, which it never fails of doing. Spitting blood, alarwing as it may be, is effectually cured by this Balsam. It heals the ruptured or wounded blood vessels, and makes the lungs somn again.

Rev HENRY JONES, 108, Eighth avenue, was cured of cough and catarrhal affection of 50 years standing. The first dose gave him more relief than all the other medicine he had ever taken. Dr. L. J. Beals, 19, Delancy street, gave it to a sister-in-law who was laboring under Consumption, and to another sorely afflicted with the Asthma. In both cases its effects were impediate, soon restored them to comfortable health.

Mrs. LUCRETTA WELLS, 20, Christic street, suffered from Asthma 42 years. Mrs. LUCRETIA WELLS, 95, Christie mabled to subduce every attack by a timely use of this nedictine. This indeed is the great remedy for Coughs, cylds, Spitting Blood, Liver Complaints, and all the momption.

B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge. Tacts for the People.

The constantly increasing popularity and sale of B.

A. Fahnestock's Vermiting has induced persons who are envious of its success, to pain off upon the public preparations which all medical men know to be ineflic preparations which all medical men know to be inefficacious in expelling xorms from the system.

This Vermingemade its way into public favor upon the ground of its own intrinsic merits, more than any other medicine of the kind now used; and, while many worm remedies have, by duit of puffing, been forced into sale, and shortly after gone into the, obscurity which their worthlessness justly merited, B.A. Palmestock Vermifuge continues to be griumphantly sustained. It

CERTIFICATE.

We certify that we have used B. A. Fahnestock's Vermitinge in our families, and in every case it has provided a decided and effectual remedy for expelling worms from the system. We cordially recommend it to parents who have children afflicted with that dangerous malady.

SCROFULA.—Messrs, Rowand & Wulton:—Gentlemen:—For the benefit of the public and those afflicted as I have been—you are at liberty to use this testimonial as you think proper;
After having suffered over a year with several painful ulcers on my right shoulder; which covered a space of nearly nine inches in circumference, I was induced to call at your office, to see Mr. Isauc Brooks, (with whom I was acquainted) and his cure being so remarkable as to remove all doubt, I commenced taking the same medicine, "Dr. Cullen's Indian Vegetable Panacca." I have not used the number of bottles prescribed, but am pleased to say, I have been entirely cured.

I will be pleased to see any one who may think proper to call upon me for further information at my house, in "South Juniper street, a few coors above Sprace.— MELLEN GRUBB, Stone Mason. I had been afflicted with "Tetter' about ten years on my body and hands. It was exceedingly troublesome and annoying, I tried Ointments but without rether. Last winter I procured some of your Panacea: the itching was soon allayed; and I hadtaken the medicine but a short time when biles made their appearance on different parts of my body: when the biles disappeared the Tetter went with them, and I an now entirely well. I would certainly recommend the Panacea, to all like afflicted.

ERYSIPELAS.—Encouragement.—For the benefit of the afflicted. I freely give you a statement of my condition, before I commenced with your Dr. Cullen's Indian. Negetable. Panacea. Some four years since, my leg became swollen, intalmed, and painful. The discase was pronounced "Erysipelas," I resorted to the usual remedies; but without effect—except in one case, in one case, in which I trien a medicine advertused in an Almanac, which, instead of curing, eat the flosh to the bone: my leg became very troublesome, and I began to fear it would result in something serious. Mr. Ehornton, a neighbor of mine was taking your Panacea for a scrotulous sore leg—and much benefitted, (now well) and also a lady of my acquaintance. From their representations I was induced to give you a call, and your offer being so fair, it gave me confidence in your medicine. I commenced its use—and in less than three months was entirely cured—my leg is perfectly sound, and, as several months, have clapsed, I have not the least fear of a relapse.

I give, this testimonial cheerfully, hoping it may induce others to make trial of what I believe to be one of the best medicines ever offered to

SPEED THE PLOUGH. The soldier, with his martial throng,
And banner waving bright,
May swell the loud, triumphal song,
To tell the rage of fight;
But we are come in purer borst,
To crown a victor's brow;
We come — a "rough and ready" host,
We come to speed the noble plough,
Chorus—We come to speed the plough,
We come to speed the plough,
We come to speed the plough,
We come to speed the plough,
The sailor, as his bark may glide

We come to speed the plough,
The sailor, as his bark may glide
With pendant streaming gay,
Sings as he mounts the heaving tide,
And ploughs his trackless way;
And we, upon our own green coast,
Will sing rejoicing now;
We come—a "rough and ready" host,
We come to speed the plough,
We come to speed the noble plough, &c.

The statsman's wreath of lofty fame, The statisman's wreath of lofty fame,
The poet's garland too,
The flowers that crown the soldier's name,
Within our bowers grew;
Then who shall make a nobler boast,
Who bear a nobler brow,
We come—a "rough and ready" host,
We come to speed the plough.
We come to speed the noble plough, &c.

The "staff of life" 'tis ours to raise, On which the world may rest,
On which the world may rest,
The "daily bread" for which man prays—
By which our labor's blest,
And though we "bear the burden" most, Till sweat is on the brov Till aweat is on the brow,
We come a "rongh and ready" host,
We come to speed the plough.
We come to speed the noble plough,

From early morn 'till truiting shades,
Through honest toil we press,
In ways where pleasantness is spread,
"And all our paths are peace;"
No hone to us is ever tost,
No time moves dull or slow,
We come—a "rough and ready" host,
We come to speed the plough.
We come to speed the noble plough, &c.

Our fect upon our own free soil, Our hearts bound to our home,
With bands made strong in honest toil;
Should danger ever come,
Our country eler our glor lous boast
We'll speed to meet thy for,
And rush "rosgh and ready" host,
To speed Columbia's plough.

To speed Columbia's nobte plough, &c.

Le Encouragement to Young Farmers .- At the cattle show in Waldo county, a few days since, we made the acquaintance of an agel and agreeable farmer. William Sibley, Esq., of Preedom, who is now one of the wealthiest farmers in that county, and who raises a large quantity of good table fruit, which he ships to foreign markets. His case furnishes much encouragement to young farmers in Maine, and we allude to it and give a few incidents in his life for their benefit.

Forty-five years since he made his way by means of spotted trees to his present home, there to make him a farm. His humble house, with its roof of bark, was constructed, and thither he took his wife to share his burthens and lighten his pathway by her smiles. As he first went through the woods to commence upon his present farm, he was not worth enough to pay for an axe. He has raised fourly-four crops, and since his first crop he has not bad in his house a quart of meal of a pound of flour not raised upon his farm. He has in some seasons raised 500 bushels of corn and large crops of wheat. He made preparations for raising fruit, and has succeeded finely, and is still active in introducing into his acres the choicest varieties of fruits. - He has given his children a good literary and a good business education, and they severally reflect high credit upon their parents. His property is now estimated at about twenty thousand dollars. Mr. Sibley was one of the active contributors to the fair, exhibited various specimens of fruit, &c., and manifested great interest in all that seemed calculated to advance the noble art to which he has devoted his life. He is a man of active habits and sound health, and : - worthy example of what farmers can do when they unite an active mind with an industrious aand in their pursuit, and where the culture of the soil and of the mind goforward together. . It may be thought that we have trespossed: much upon the personal history of Mr. Sibley but our excuse must be found in the encouragement which is given to young farmers who are about commencing life as he did. Por this purpose we think it well occasionally to point out the successes of those who have gone forward in the thorny path, and from small beginning, by their industry and skill, have accomplished that which is praiseworthy and honorable .- [Bungur Whig.

The Farmer's Life. We take pleasure in presenting our readers with the following ex-cellent remarks from the New-York Farmer and Mechanic, on the "Dignity and pleasure of Agriculture."-" There is a moral dignity in the pursuit of agriculture. True it is toilsome; but what gainful pursuit is not ? There are few merchants r professional men who would not at times will ngly exchange their burdens, their cares or anxieies, for following the plough or other labor connected with farming. The young man who fancies there is so much of lessure and aristocracy in trade and the professions, and so much drudgery in farming, knows less of human life than he wi or likely to learn if he lives to middle age. But, while the laboring people usually attain greater longevity than men of leisure, their exercise may considered as conductive to health, and hence to happiness. In labor itself there is nothing degrading to the best feelings of our nature. It is only vitiated artificial public sentiment, that can induce painful sensibility in view of the necessity for industry, which the wants of life impose. It is not the object thrown around the farmer, the woods and streams, and fields arrayed in green, that make all the charms of his life; for, while he subdues the soil and filts it for his purposes, and scatters the seed on the furrows, the progress of vegetation and the ample harvest are in his mind; as the reflection at night that the day has been devoted to usefulness, prepares him for peace-ful rest. Then there is a practical independence enjoyed in the feelings of the farmer when he gathers the golden harvest, and partokes of the fruit of his labor. "He eats his own lamb, his own chickens and ham, He sheers his own fleece and he wears it. Agriculture has in all ages been esteemed the true associate of nobility. Virgil wrote its praise, S and the greatast statesman of the Roman Empire made the following of the plough an indication of his conscious dignity and an example of his most sterling virtue. Later, during the middle ages, the possession of land was a necessary apendage to nobility. George Washington was a farmer, and all the Ex-Presidents of the United States, with perhaps a single exception, have found the honor of their settrement in farming estates and their cultivation.

Planting Quince Trees .- Premising that the quince will grow on any soil that will give good corn or potatoes, the first maxim is that it should be well prepared before planting. This is, done by aid of the great earth regenerator, the subsoil plough. Two or three weeks, if possible, before the planting season, the land where the quince orchard is to be set should be broken up by a team of horses and a good plough, set so as to turn a clean furrow. Following this team comes the subsoil plough, drawn by a pawerful pair of oxen. This breaks up and stirs the soil twice the usual depth. Most persons spread a coat of manure before ploughing. It is my practice to have it scattered along the bottom of each furrow from a light cart which follows the subsuit plough. This places it at the bottom of my soil, which, as it is a loamy one, is the best place for it; because it enriches the poorest layer, and being always damp, it is, I conceive, always more soluble and ready for the roots to take up than when mixed with the top soil. The soil thoroughly ploughed and prepared, planting may commence. prefer the spring, but I have been equally succossful in the autumn. But in either case by all means, "take time by the forclock."

Dig your holes twice as large as the roots of the trees and eighteen inches deep. Have if possible half a barrel of good compost, (stable manure and bog earth well mixed for three months previously,) for each tree. Shorten in the branches, (one-balf The state of the s
