Having been apprised of the nature of the Panacea, it affords me much pleasure to be able to recommend it as a valuable remedy for those Chronic, Constitutional, and Glandular diseases to which it is espécially adapted. To those who are afflicted and require medicine as an aliteractive, cannot obtain it in a more agreeable, active and uniforn state than is to be found in the Panacea-I have used it is several instances with decided success. THE FARMER'S SONG. While the commercial world doth rock! And feel the earthquike's power, Which deepens every hour. While Merchants' notes suspended lie, Nor banks their specie yield— The Plough still mertily we ply, And still enrich the field. While anxious brow and faces pale, Like acceptes fill the town—
We spend our toils with looks so hale,
"Twould lit bent the frown. While Parsons, Squires and Doctors all,

> Not ease like that which sluggards love, As sweat of brow will show— But rest of mind- 'tis this we prove. The sweets of this we know. What if we sell not as before ! Our land still yield their crop-We shall not starve! and what's still more, May cheer the sufferer's hope. With "food and raiment" we're content, And if God smiles, they're ours— For both through fields and flocks are sent,

One of the first things prepare this month is not beds, the constructions which is so familiar and well known, that we be not go into particulars regarding them. The mainportant things in their management are, to give the plants plenty of steady heat at the bottom, and air on top, with a sufficiency of water; and ye be careful not to check their growth or expen-

them to sudden changes. LIQUID MANUSES—One of the best things to make all kinds of shrubs, vegetable, and flowers grow, is to water them with a liquid manure, made in the proportion of a pint of se to a gailon of water. If a tablespoonful of mis added to this it will be all the better. Gum is now coming into extensive use, and may also be made into a liquid manute by steeping one pound of it in a gallon of water. Liquids thus prepare are quite powerful, and must be used in mo quantities around the plants, and not on them.-
