Myell Le, assisted by numerous Vice-Presidents, presides with great siliciency; and the Treardrer is kepteonstantly busy with receiving money. The Diegates to this Convention are in fits of delight, and have constantly busy with receiving money. The Diegates to this Convention are in fits of delight, and the roublesome rival to other Presidential competitues. We are bappy to say that at this Convention all each of Delegates are received, and no party men's money is accounted just as goods as my body's money. This magnanimity is highly extraordinary.

rom an article in the Southerner, a Richmond (Va. paper, is full of curious matter:

"But I must hasten my description of the Siamese Twins." I rode from Wilkes county to their new residence in Surrey, some 40 miles, and arrived at their house the evening of the second day, after leaving 'Trap Hill.' On riding up to the yard I observed the 'Twins' busily engaged in shingling a house; and on seeing me, they prompt ly approached and requested me to 'walk in,' adding that they would alten! to my horse, and in the meantime I walked into the house and introduced myself to Mrs. Chang, pronounced Chun, and found her to be quite a handsome young woman, just 22. Her maiden name was Adelside man, just 22. Her maiden name was 'Adelide' Lates,' (sister of Sarah;) and her dress and general appearance all indicating a degree of tidiness which Mrs. 'Eng' lacks; indeed, the people about here all say she is 'mighty townified.' Mrs. 'Chang' was married on the same night of her sister, and now has three children, viz: 'Josephine Virginis,' 6 days younger than Mrs. Eng's first, 'Christopher Wren,' 8 days-younger than Mrs. E's second, and 'Nancy,' aged only six months? They are all, very healthy and forward children, but have their father's features clean! months? They are all, very nearthy and toward children, but have their father's features clearly stamped upon them. You could readily single them out of a crowd of ten thousand children.

"After having passed some time with Mrs.
Chang, the "Twins" came in, and gathering up

A LOVE FORM.

To 6---
Oh, dearest, in the midnight, when thine eyes
Are softly closed, as caimly thou art alterping.
There is one spirit in the still, dark akies.
Hovering around thee, love's own vigils keeping;
On shadowy wings that spirit near thee fires,
Gladdening thy smiles, and southing all thy weeping
Mantiling around thee; like the viewless air.
That eye unseen is with thee everywhere. Mantling around thee like the viewless air,
That eye unsees is with thee verywhere.
Canst thou not tell whose love it is that dwelleth,
Thus guarding thee from every grief and ill—
That floateth near thee when the soft breeze swellet!
Like some rich music, o'er the flower-decked hill:
And whose low voice, didat thou but listen, telleth
The tale of love with more than poet's skill.
And breathes against thy cheek its sweet caresses,
And toys so fondly with thy awing tresses?
Oh. didat thou love as! have long loved thee,
Thy heart would feel my spirit hovering near,
And the fond words that thou hast won from me
Would fall so fondly on a willing ear;
My stolen glances then would all be free,
And I could linger near thee, with no fear
That thou wouldst weary, when thy love pursuing,
My voice in gentlest tones thy heart is wooing.
Have stolen to my heart, to nestle there,
And even my dream thy beauty but enhances
As morning calls me with its frettening care.
And through the liveding day, my lover's fancies
Thy young form picture, in its beauty rare,
Half human, half divine—a thing of heaven,
With all its brightness to enchant us given.
How shall I woo thee, dearest? I will sing thee
Lays of sweet love at midnight's gentle time;
Every low breeze in accents soft shall bring thee.
When beauty's brightest bilss is in its prime—
Shall, as it ateals upon thy wakened senses,
Tell the soft tale of love's dear influences.
With thou not love me? Oh! the only pleasure
That now I feel is when I see thee smile;

A fine Poem.

THE VINE-COVERED HILLS. By William Roscoe, Esq. By Nullism Rosses, Esq.

"O'er the vine-cover'd hill and gay regions of France,
See the day star of Liberty rise;
Through the clouds of detraction unsuffied sevance,
And hold its new course through the chies.
An effulgence so mild, with a lustre so bright,
All Europe with wonder surveys;
All Europe with wonder surveys;
And from deserts of darkners and dungsons of night,
Contends for a share of the blaze.

"Ah! who 'midst the horrors of night would ablee
That can breathe the pure breezes of morn ?
Or who, that has the the pure crystalline tide,
To the faculent flood beauty the tabbling heart m
Ah! who can the transport decline?
Or who, that has tasted of Liberty's aweets,
The prize but with life, would resign?

"Let Burke like a bat from its splendor ratire,
A splendor too strong for his eyes?
Let pedants and fools his effusions semire,
Entrapt in his cobweb like dies,
Shall insolent sophistry hope to prevail
Where reason opposes her weight,
When the weighte of millions is hung in the scale,
And the halance yet trembles with fate?

And the dailine yet tenness who save ...

But 'lis over-high Heaven the decision approves, Oppression has strugtled in vain,
To the heli she Bar form'd superstition removes, ...
And Tyranny bites his own chair. In the records of Time a new era unfolds, ...
All nature exults in its hirth; ...
His creation benign the Creator beholds, ...
And gives a new charter to earth.

"The Twins can chop wood remarkably fast four hands being on the axe at the same time! four hands being on the axe at the same time.

They also shoot mark or game with their four heautiful, with a complexion as fresh and fair, and hands resting on the gun. They drive their wagon a kin as smooth as that of an English girl. Mrs. dulge in dress and various other expenses.

"The Twins rarely differ about dress; but often differ in their ideas of purchasing negroes or land. The opinion of Eng is always the law; and Chang resultly acquiresce. Eng does all the writing, including the signing of notes and other timeportant papers. Eng is one inch taller than Chang, and Chang's wife is taller than Eng's.

"Some old lady in the neighborhood a few days ago, saked Eng which was the oldest? and he replied that he was just six months older than his brother. Well," says the old lady, 'I thought there was about as much difference, for you'r purty considerable bigger than your brother. They are both good on a joke, and the old lady was in good earnest.

"They have a blacksmith shop on their farm, and a shoemaker's shop also. I saw quite a good humor, but very rignificantly, "I have never

Jewels in the States.—The only sittle which I missed from the shops, and from the toilette-of the ladies, was jewelry. Almost every English gentlewoman possesses some few valuable trinkets: the stones themselves are probably hereditary possessions, which, by passing through the hands of the jeweller, and receiving a new and fashionable mounting, become new trickets; but still the passing through the still the passing through the pas consequence of the presence of
