

POTTSVILLE. SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 13, 1893.

Gold Dollars—A fine lot of gold dollars, which do not show any signs of wear, and are smaller than our best pieces. On the one side is stamped the face of Liberty surrounded by a circle of stars, and on the other "Dollar 1893, United States of America."

Post Office Robbery—The Post Office of New Orleans, has been robbed of a letter from that city addressed to Christopher Hecker, containing diamonds valued at $3000. Several arrests had been made.

Another Fresh—Another destructive fresh in the Allegheny, has been caused by the recent rains. A large amount of property along the banks has been carried away, by which considerable loss was again occasioned.

Another Fresh—The large grist mill owned by Henry Hays, on the West Creek, Union County, Pa., known as Caldwell's Mill, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning week. The property was insured to the amount of $13,000.

Sound Democracy—The Postmaster of Wheeling, Va., who is a Leconte, refuses to deliver papers of a certain character to subscribers. This, we presume, is in accordance with Leconteism.

Quite a Crowd—A correspondent, writing from Chagres, under date of April 9th, states that there were at least 2000 persons at that place, some of whom are camped two miles from the city, (not being allowed to pitch tents nearer), and others at the different hotels paying $2 per day.

The Coal Trade for 1893. The quantity sent by Railroad this week, is 111,906 tons—by Canal, 9,200 17—total 121,106 tons. There is a falling off this week of 5,004 tons from the week of the 1st of the month. On the Canal there is a slight increase.

The shipments for the corresponding week last year, was by Railroad 32,498 01, and by Canal 10,066 08, making 42,564 09 tons, more than double the shipments of the present week.

The turn-out will continue among the men—On the West Branch, we learn, but two or three Colliers are in camp, and the remainder of the men had gone to work at the prices offered, but a party in order, but we learn they were driven from the works by a large body of men, armed with clubs on Thursday. On the North-west and Mill Creek there are but few at work—and as high up the Valley as Silver Creek. At Tappan we believe the colliers are nearly all in operation. At the latter place they have partly agreed to pay the wages demanded, but will not agree to the conditions between good and bad workmen, and are accordingly, Good hands get the wages demanded, we learn.

During the week several lawless acts of depredation have been committed, which will unquestionably call down the vengeance of the law upon the heads of the guilty, and turn the current of sympathy, which has heretofore prevailed in their favor, to one of reprobation. It is a free country—a free country, and every honest citizen, high or low, rich or poor, is bound to sustain it in self-defense. It is the right of any man to use all lawful means to better his condition—we applaud the act in doing so, and we will sustain them in their efforts as far as the law will permit us—but further than that we cannot and will not go—and he who goes beyond that point becomes an enemy to the Government, and the law, and owns his country, and must suffer the consequences without expecting any sympathy, if brought to punishment. We are aware of the difficulties attending movements of this kind—the Operators, with all their efforts and all their appeals, could not procure a total suspension of the Trade—so with the men—they will always find some one from necessity or different views, will work under any circumstances. They have their rights, and in sustaining these rights, the law, which were instituted to protect the weak from the strong, will be invoked in their behalf. This is one of the great and glorious privileges which freemen enjoy, under a Government instituted like ours—and he who would trample these laws under his feet, is undermining and decaying the Temple of Liberty, which was raised by the blood and treasure of our forefathers, and which are the admiration of every civilized nation throughout the world.

Our Operators ought to meet the men in a spirit of candor, and good feeling, and pay as far as possible as the circumstances will permit—but on the other hand, the men have no right to demand all, or more than their proportion of the advance obtained on Coal, nor have they the right to impose conditions, which they, under similar circumstances, would not submit to themselves. All parties must endeavor to be guided by justice and common sense, and a mutual good feeling will soon grow up between them, and should always prevail when their interests are so closely interwoven together. And besides it is important to bear in mind that every day's stoppage, now, since there is a demand for Coal, deprives the region of at least $8000, which is a total loss, because it cannot be used by hereafter.

POSTSCRIPT. BY TELEGRAPH From New York. Exclusively for the Miners' Journal. [From our New York Correspondent.] DREADFUL RIOT AT THE ASTOR PLACE OPERA HOUSE The Mob Fired Upon by the Military! Ten to Fifteen Persons Killed! TWO WOMEN AMONG THE VICTIMS! &c., &c., &c. New York, Friday Evening, 10 o'clock.

There was a Terrible Riot at the Astor Place Opera, last night, at the occasion of the 2nd appearance of A. Macready, at an early hour in the evening. The Police in force, took possession of the house. The mob gathered in large numbers outside. Some 2000 spectators assembled in the vicinity of the Theatre, and the mob attempted to break through the windows and doors to obtain an ingress into the Theatre; but the police put them to flight, after an obstinate resistance, by directing water on them. The rioters still persisting in their unlawful conduct, a Company of mounted men came on the ground, but were pelleted with stones, and at length driven from the field by the rioters. A Company of Infantry and the City and Governor's Guards then marched to the spot, but were received with a shower of stones and missiles from the mob. A portion of the Regiment commanded by Col. Dungen, then came up, together with a portion of our Artillery Regiments, when the riot acted was read by Recorder Tallmadge; but the mob refused to disperse, and again commenced pelting the soldiers, several of whom were so badly wounded by the missiles that they had to be carried off the ground. An order at this time was to fire a round of blank cartridge with some balls on the mob. By this volley one or two were killed and several wounded. The rioters not dispersing, a 2d, 3d, and 4th round was fired with balls, by which some 10 or 15 were killed or fell badly wounded, and some 20 others wounded more or less. Among the killed are one or two women. Great consternation prevails throughout the city.
