In the large number of cases, $05 to out of $35, its use was followed by marked and unequivocal improvement, varying in degree in different cases, from a temporary retardation of the progress of the disease, and a militration of distressing symptoms, up to a more or less complete restoration to apparent health.

"The effect of Cod Liver-Oil in most of these cases was vary remarkable. Even in a few days the cough was militrated, the expectoration diminished in quantity and opacity, the night sweats cased, the poles become slower, and of better youtme, and the appatite, fiesh and strength were gradually improved.

"In conclusion, I repeat that the pure fresh off from the Liver of the Cod is more beneficial in the treatment of Pulmonary Consumption than any agent, madicinal, dietic or regimenal, that has yet been employed."

OH: SPEAK NOT LIGHTLY OF Oh i speak not lightly of the Pent It is a high and holy theme;
Nor carelessly behind thee cast
Its memories as a n idle gream;
But own its gaptle, and control,
And grave its lessons on thy soul.

The Past I oh, let it lead thee on To meet the future's bidden day, And by its hours, forever gone,

A young gentleman strived in L. shout two weeks since, on a matrimonial visit, and of course he donned his best suit to visit his doxy. He made his call, arranged all the preliminaries, passed a delightful afternoon and evening, sipped a honeyed kiss from the laps of his fair inamorata at parting, and started down to his ludgings at the Galt House. The wedding was set for the next day, and the happy young dog tripped along, so hunyed up by anticipation, that you would have funesced, to have seen him, that he had. Mercury-

An amusing scene was transpiring all this time on the outside. The young stranger, in hastily passing through the portal, brushed up one of the tails of his new cost, and the backeeper, in abutting one half the door, securely fastened the coatial in the opening. Supposing, of course, that he would observe it, and instantly release him, he stood still, quietly, for a moment, and the noisy party surrounded him.

Stand aside, stranger, and let us in, said the forement of the party.

It would like to dis an earntemen, was the re-

Here was a very floe opening for a small fight; but one of the party perceiving the difficulty at a glance, interfered with a thousand apologies for his impetuous friend, stated that the torn garment should be paid for, &c., and offered to lend him his own coat until the morning. The destruction of the wedding garment was very unfortunate, and the young stranger lost temper at the idea of his being so awkwardly fastened to the door by the barkeeper; but, what was his further horror, to find that a package of money, amounting to $500, intended to bear the expenses of himself $500, intended to bear the expenses of himself and bride to her future home, was in the contain pocket, and like it, fast in the doors. He did not exactly know whether it was prudent to let the present crowd into a knowledge of the fact that such an amount was in the pocket, but to get the door open, he told them that the marriage certification of the fact that the marria
