3 A Picture. - Two Dutchmen living opposite each other, who had for many years been in the habit smoking by their door sides in silence, at length broke forth in the following dialogue: 'What sort of wedder you tink it will be to day, neighbor.'

The other, after two or three hasty puffs, replies: Well, I don't know; what sort of wedder you tink it will be?'

The first, somewhat nettled: I tink it will be such wedder as you

—as it never has been need without producing beneficial effects, and ultimate curs of the diseases for which it is recommended. And being a regular graduate of Pharma cy, I can assure the public of its perfect; asfety. It is composed of such preparations as stand in the very highest repute among the medical factive, for the cure of that class of diseases which are too often only the forerunners of that fant disease, consumption. In most cases where there is much pain in the breast, and which often extends through to theshoulder blade, I would strongly advise the application of one of the Compound Galbanum Plasters to the breast, and use the Expectorant as directed. In fact, the useof the Galbanum Plaster camboid-too stronly recommended, as I have seen so many lighteness of its and ontinged consumption. The Expectorant will be found to relieve the cough, and the Plaster the gain and thereby act as a counter-irritant, which every physican will pronounce good, without the least frestation whatever. Persons are often said to have the consumption, when by a judicious use of some of the best Expectorants, and a careful diet, they have been completely cured, so that their experience should act as a warning to those who are said to have the consumption not to despair, but try on. The Expectorant will be found to afford great relief, even when a cure is said to be impossible.

The highest knowledge of Chemistry, and the latest discoverties of the Art bay sall been brought into requisition in the manufacture of the Old Dir's. SARSA-PARILLA. The Sarsaparilla root, it is well known

The highest knowledge of Chemisity, and the latest of discoveries of the Art have all been brought into requisition in the manufacture of the OLD BR'S, 8ARSA-17ARILLA. The Sarsaparilla root, it is well known to medical men, routains many medicinal properties, and some properties which are herr or useless, and others, which, if retained in preparing it for use, produce fernaciation and acid, which is injurious to the system. Some of the properties of Sarsaparilla are so wotatic, that they entirely evaporate and are loss in the preparation, if they are not preserved by a scientific process, known only to those experienced in its manufacture. Moreover, these celatile principles, which fly off in vapor, or as an exhaltation, under heat, are the very essential medical properties of the root, which give to it all like value.

Any person can boil or stew the root till they get a dark colored liquid, which is more from the coloring matter in the root than from anything else; they can then strain this insipil or vapid liquid, sweeten with sour molasses, and then call it "Barsaparilla Extract or Syrup." But such is not the article known as the GENTURE OLD DR JACOB TOWN SEND'S SAR-This is so prepared, that all the inert properties of the Sarsaparilla root are first removed, every thing tapable of becoming acid or of fermentation, is extracted and rejected; then every particle of médical virtue is secured in a pure and eoncentrated form; and thus it is rendered incipable of losing any of its valuable and healing properties. Prepared in this west, it is is rendered incapable of losing any of its valual discaling properties. Prepared in this way, ade the most powerful agent in the CURE OF INNUMERABLE DISEASES.

BANNAN'S It is true that the bay harvest, the present sea practicable, without involving an expenditure altered by anteges, cannot be too highly recommended, or too imperatively urged. Few of the improvements of which the present age can so justly boast, has conduced more decidedly to agricultural progress and prosperity, or can promise more important ulterior results. We would therefore recommend to every one the introduction of a standing apparatus among the labor-eaving and food-economizing 'fixtores' of his establishment, which without them, must ever be incomplete. which without them, must over be incomplete.-

Hallowell Gazette. CURING HAMS FOR PRIVATE USE.

I beg leave to present to the public, says a correspondent of the Main Farmer, my manner of preserving hams. I turn my barrel over a pan or kettle, in which I burn hard wood for seven if eight days; keeping a little warm water on the head of the barrel, and propare a pickel by puting six gallons of water in a boiler, with 12 lbs. of salt, 12 ounces of salt petre, and two quarts of mollasses. This I stir sufficiently to dissolve the salt, &c., and let it boil and skim it. I then let en garden. Planty of venctable conduces not more to health than to profit. In laying in a stock of winter fodder for animals, let it not be forgotten that a little too much is jet in not be torgotten that a little too much is just enough. Starving animals at any time is misersole policy.

As you treat your land, as will it treat you.— Fered it with manure liberally and it will yield your bread bountifully.

It you keep your sheep and castle in your measures and lane and l dows until June, don't complain because you are compelled to purchase hay for your stock.

LOOK OUT FOR A WINTER SCHOOL, And be sure that you have a good one. To do this you must have a good school house. You can seldom get a good teather to go into a miserable, old, rickety school house, nor a cold log cabin; and it he does, he cannot teach your children to and if he does, he cannot teach your entities to any advantage. There is such an idea of discom-fort associated with the place that they cannot learn. And, finally, do not forget this month to organize a club, to visit around among the farm houses during the winter, and talk over matters concerning your immediate interest; and if any one has discovered anything that he thinks willbenefit his neighbor, make it known.
