A BIT OF HUMOR.

We do not relish truths the less for being occasionally spiced with a little humor.-The following extract from the report of a Committee on Hogs, read before an Agricultural Society "down east," contains come Dr. CHRISTIE'S GALVANIO BELT excellent hits:

Again, some folks accuse pigs of being filthy in their habits, and negligent in their personal appearance. But whether food is drinking whiskey. And as to their personal appearance, you don't catch a pig playing the dandy, nor the females among them picking their way up this muddy village, after a rain, in kid slippers.

Notwithstanding the heterodox notions, hogs have some excellent traits of character. If one chance to wallow a little deeper in some mire hole than his fellows, and so carries off and comes in possession of more of this carth, than his brethern, he never assumes an extra importance on that accounting the strengthen the whole system, equalize the circulation of the blood, promote the excretions, and never do the sumes an extra importance on that accounting the property and the strengthen the whole system, equalize the circulation of the blood, promote the excretions, and never do the sumes an extra importance on that accounting the strengthen the whole system, equalize the circulation of the blood, promote the excretions, and never do the sumes an extra importance on that accounting the strengthen the sum of the fact that they arrest and cure disease by substanting in place of the usual mode of drugging and physicking the patient, till exhausted Nature sinks hopelessly under the interior.

They attended the whole system, equalize the circulation of the blood, promote the excretions, and never do the sum of the strengthen the whole system. If one chance to wallow a little deeper in neither are his brethern stupid enough to worship him for it. Their only question worship him for it. Their only question including all ages, classes and conditions, among which seems to be, is he still a loog? If he is, they were a large number of ladies, who are peculiarly subject to Nervous Complaints, have been treat him as such.

To illustrate the use of the GALVANIC BELT, suppose the case of a person afflicted with that bane of civilization, DYSPEFSIA, or any other Chronic or Nervous Disorder. In ordinary case, stimulants are taken, which, by their action on the nerves and muscles of the stomach, and temporary relief, but which leave the patient in a lower state, and with injured faculties, attending from the application of the GALVANIC BELT. Take a Dyspeptic sufferer, even in the worse symptoms of shustness, and simply tie the Belt around the body, using the Magnetic Fluid as directed. In a short period the imensible perspiration will get on the positive element of the Belt, thereby causing a Galvanic circulation throughout the system. made after a prescription/turnished by the late Dr.
Christopher Withelm Hoodand, Professor of the University of Jena. Private Phylician to the King of Privaia, and one of the greatest wedical writers Germany has ever produced. He was emphatically the enemy of humbug, and therefore a medicine of which he was the inventor and endorser may be confidently relied on. He specially recommended it in liver, compaint, dyspepsia, debility, vertigo, acidity of the stomach, constipation, and all complaints arising from a disorded condition of the stomach, the liver and the intestines. Nine Philadelphia papers express their conviction of Its excellence, and several of the editors speak of its effects, from their own individual experience. Under these circumstances, we feel warranted, not only in calling the attention of our readers to

ABOUT TURNIPS, &C.

A correspondent of the Germantown Telagraph, in an interesting article on the Turnip culture, estimates the cost of his crop at six ents per bushel.—This would appear to be low estimate when we consider the value of the article for feeding; but if by throwing our individual experience into common stock, we can acquire information enabling us to produce the crop at a lower rate than that above noticed, all may be benefitted.

It has been satisfactorily ascertained that gypsum applied to the ground before brokers up for turnips, at the rate of two bushels per acre, will make a very decided difference in the crop. This result has been noticed un-der different circumstances, and on different soils. After a thorough preparation of the ground, the manure from the poultry house will be found to be the best application, excent Guano, which appears to have some peuliar constituent property particularly adapted to the growth of turnips, and on this account is a more economical manure for the cron than any other. I am informed that in Ireland, where so much depends on the success of the turnip crop, the use of all other nanure has been abandoned, and guaro alone relied on.

On the 21st of last July, I applied Patagonia guano at the rate of 200 lbs. per acre in my corn field, making a row between every row of corn, which were four feet apart, covering the guano slighty with earth with the plow. On the ridge thus formed, red-top turnip seed was drilled; the corn kept the ground shaded, and prevented the growth of weeds; consequently no culture was needed. After the corn was cut in September, the turnips grew luxuriantly and produced the finest crop I ever raised; while some intermediate rows that were planted without any guano. were not worth the trouble of going over to pull the turnips.

In this experiment of cultivating turnips among corn, there was no extra ground used, and all the culture and plowing saved; the only expense being the guano, which cost two and a half cents per bushel for the crop produced!

Recives for housekeepers,

Take good stone lime, and slack it in the ordinary way. Dissolve the crystals of one and a half pounds of blue vitriol in boiling water, and when dissolved, mix it with one pound of glue and pour the whole into the whitewash; or pour in the vitriol first, and then slowly add the glue, stirring the mass constantly, that the ingredients may be thoroughly mixed. The first coat should be put on horizontally, (with a common whitewash brush,) the second vertically, or up and down, and the third the same as the first. The color will be of a bright blue, resembling that of the blue bottles sometimes seen in the windows of druggists' shops. The above constitutes a very beautiful as well as exceedingly cheap coloring matter for walls.

ELDER WINE. This wine is considered an excellent remedy n influenza, sore throat, &c. Receipt:-To every quart of berries put two quarts of water, boil half an hour, break the fruit and run the liquor through a hair sieve; then to every quart of juice put three-quarters of a pound of Lisbon sugar, coarse, but not the very coarsest. Boil the whole a quarter of an hour with some Jamaica peppers, ginger. and a few cloves. Pour it into a tub, and when of a proper warmth, into the barrel, with toast and yeast to work, which there is more difficulty to make it to do than most other liquors. When it ceases to hiss, put a quart of brandy to eight gallons, and stop up. Bottle in the spring or at Christmas. The iquor must be in a warm place to make it
