AWPIL CASE OF SCALD?

AWPIL CASE OF SCALD?

Mr. Dalley—Dear Sir: While my son, 15 years old, was at work in the shingle manufactory of L. P. Rose, he had the misfortone to sip and fall into a large vat. and for the purpose of boiling blocks preparatory to cutting. The bolcks had just been removed from the vat, containing a large quantity of boiling water. He fell forward scalding both hands and arms, all one side, and one leg badly and the other partially. The scales were so bad on his arms and leg that most of the deah came off with his garments, and his life was deapaire of by both his physicians and friends.

Dalley's Pain Extractor was procured as soon as possible (which was in about six hours) and applied which relieved him from all pain, prevented inflamation and swelling, and in a few days commenced healing his sores. There appeared a general improvement, so much so that in three weeks he was removed to his father's house, distant about one mile and a half, we continued the use of the above medicine about wo months and we believe it was the means, under Providence, of swing his life, and we would cheerfully recommend it in all similar cases as a safe and in valuable remedy. With sentiments of respect 1 remain, dear sir, your most obedient and humble servant, and servant of the confidence and patronage of our readers; and, the confidence and patronage of our readers; and therefore, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we recommend by the dealing his confidence and patronage of our readers; and therefore, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we recommend by the dealing his reference may be a confidence and patronage of our readers; and therefore, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, we wish it to be distinctly understood that Scott's Wickly, one of the best literary papers published, said Aug. 25th—"Dr. Hoofland's German Butters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now vecoming the weakness. As sigh is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save y themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitiated constitutions will find these Bitters advantageous to a title hey have upon weak systems."

SOBER FACTS THAT NONE CAN DENY!

South and the compound Asiatic Balsam has been before the people of this place and County for several differ and literary attainments, said in his New York Reckly Messager. January 6, 1850—Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters.—Here is a preparation which the leading presses in the Union appear to be unanimous an recommending, and the reason is obvious. It is made after a prescription furnished by the late Dr. Versity of Jenn, Private Physician to the King of the versity of Jenn, Private Physician to the King of the presses in the Union and endorser may be confidently relied on. He specially recommended it in liver company has ever produced. He was emphatically the south of the stomach, the liver and the intestines. Nine Philadelphia papers express their conviction of its excellence, and several of the elitors speak of its effects from their own individual experience. Under these circumstances, we feel warranted, not only in calling the attention of our readers to only in calling the attention of our readers to only in calling the attention of our readers to only in calling the attention of our readers to only in calling the attention of our readers to only in calling the attention of our readers to only in calling the attention of our readers to only in calling the attention of our readers to only in calling the attention of

MORE EVIDENCE.

The Philadelphia Saturday Gazette, the best family newspaper published in the United States, the editor says of Pr. Hoofland's German Bitters.—"It is seldom that we reconjuend what are termed Patent Nedicines to the confidence and patronage of our readers; and, therefore, when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the northerns. Evidence upon evidence has been received (like the bruence upon evidence has been received (like the foregoing) from all sections of the Union, the last three years, and the strongest testimony in its favor is, that there is more of it used in the practice of the regular Physicians of Philadelphia than all the other nostrums combined, a fact that can easily be established, and fully proving that a scientific preparation will meet with their quiet approval when presented even in this form.

IN THE FIELD AGAIN:

I have never known the Compound Asiatic Balsam, of Dr. M. G. Kerr & Bert Met, two embent Physiclams of Norristown, Pa., to tail in the treatment of that class of diseases for when they slone recommend it. It is beyond any doubt the most valuable addition to the Materia Medica, that has ever been introduced, not excepting Quinne, that all controlling preparation in Fever and Ague. And as the originators may enough the most respectively of the enterprise, and thereby to discourage all laudable efforts on the part of many who, not excepting Quinne, that all controlling preparation in Fever and Ague. And as the originators may enough to be pretence to secresy, but discise its preparation to all Physicians, who, desire to know its component in my private practice, in which I have found it to possess unrommon curative properties. Under its use, cases recover in a much shorter time, and recoveries are more permanent than under any combination of testiate to express my entire approbation of its and advised its that I have ever tried. How therefore, not he sit are to express my entire approbation of its and advised its try.

We do not claim the Balsam as a universal "cure all;" but in Diseases of the Stomach and Bowells, it has not its equal, as many in this place can testify.

ALWAYS SUCCESSFUL.

[From the Knickerbocker Magazine.] THE OLD FARMER'S ELEGY. By 'the Peasant Bard?' On a green grassy knoll, by the banks of the brook That so long and so often had watered his flock, The old farmer rests in his long and last sleep,

While the waters a low, lapsing lullaby keep He has ploughed his last furrow, has reaped his last grain;
No morn shall awake him to glory again. The blue-bird sings sweet on the gay maple bough, Its warbling oft cheered him while holding the plough;
And the robins above him hop light on the mould, For he fed them with crumbs when the season was cold; He has ploughed his last furrow, has reaped his lust grain; No morn shall awake him to labor again.

fon tree that with fragrance is filling the air, so rich with its blossoms, so thrifty and fair, By his own hand was planted, and well did he say t would live when its planter had mouldered away: He has ploughed his last furrow, has respect his last grain; No morn shall awake him to labor again. There's the well that he dug, with its water so cold, There's the weil that he dog, with at water so cold, With its wet dripping bucket, so mossy and old, No more from its depths by the patriarch drawn, For the pitcher is broken—the old man is gone!

He has ploughed his last furrow, has reaped his the bast form.

No morn shall awake him to labor again. And the seat where he sat by his own cottage door With his eye on the moon, and his pipe in his hand,
Dispensing his truths like a sage of the land:

Lich has ploughed his last furrow, has reaped his last grain; No morn shall awake him to labor again.

Twas a gloom-giving day when the old furmer died: The stout-hearted mourned, the affectionate cried, And the prayers of the just for his rest did ascend, For they all lost a brother, a man and a friend, He has ploughed his last furrow, has reaped his No morn shall awake him to glory again. For upright and honest the old farmer was; His God he revered, he respected the laws; Though fameless he lived, he has gone where his

The Farmer.

SHEEP-IMPROVED STOCK, The Germantown Telegraph has an able article on this subject, from which we take the following extract: Speaking of the sheep generally, the points o examine are the same as in the ox. Flatness, breadth of back, a spreading barrel carcass, with flat belly, and by no means hiladelphia.

Fine INSURANCE.—Buildings, Merchandise and curved or hanging. The essential is the carcass, and a disposition to fatten in the carcass, and perhaps to have the least tallow on the sides.

The keeping of sheep on most of the upland and hilly farms of this country, is, generally speaking, a lucrative business. If selected with reference to their meat-making or woolproducing properties, and with a well digested system of breeding and management, these animals are rarely debilitated by disease; it is principally owing to neglect and carelessness \ that they sicken. By most farmers the winter management of the sheep is deemed a matter of trivial importance, whereas the reverse of ter incurring a heavy expense in purchasing valuable animals, many proceed as if they supposed they had actually accomplished all SOBER FACTS THAT NONE CAN DENY:

Now that the Compound Asiastic Balsam has been before the people of this place and County for several months, we submit the following facts to their candid judyneny:—

1st. That there never was a Medicine compounded that cure the region of the properties of pregraphs in the compounded that cure the region of the properties of the properti their range, and isolation from other flocks, they turn them into the bighway to be crossed by breeds of inferior traits, and emasculated or half-starved from a lack of timely and proper food. The consequence of this ment, are prematurely and forever renounced. This is necessarily an injury to the commu-
