An emment legal judge and a pre-eminent judge of human nature observes : "It is an observation I have always made, that dress has a moral effect upon the conduct of mankind. Let any gentleman find himself with dirty boots, old surtout, soiled neck-cloth, and a general negligence of dress, he will in all probability find a corresponding disposition to negligence of address. He may, en disabille, curse and swear, speak roughly and think coarsely; but put the same man into full dress, and he will feel himself quite another person. To use the lai guage of the black-guard, would then be out of character; he The meat it feeds on : That cuckold lives in oliss, Who, certain of his tate, loves not his wronger; But, O, what damaed minutes tells he o'er.
