WIDOW MACHREE. By L. J. Lyons

Och, Widow Machree, when cowld weather come on, Och hone, Widow Machree,
It isn't myself that will be singing this song,
Och hone, Widow Machree;
For, sure as I live this body I'll give
To the fi-hes that swim away down in the sea;
And the speat and the herrin shall come to my berrin,
Och hone, Widow Machree.

Och, Widow Machree, when you heard of my fate,
Och hone. Widow Machree,
The big tears may roll down, but 'twill thin be to late,
Och hone, Widow Machree;
For even the whale, at the sigh will look pale,
As with a heartful of pity he glares upon ine—
In the salt briny wave he will dig my cowld grave,
Och hone, Widow Machree.

Cch, Widow Machree, when you marry O'Flyn, Och hone, Widow Machree, And sit by the fireside a looking at him, Och hone, Widow Machree; With a tear in your eye, and perhaps with a sigh, You'll remember that I loved you better than he; But the mermaids, poor man, will be utin me thin, Och hone, Widow Machree.

Och, Widow Machree, don't be snoring so lond, so Och hone, Widow Machree,
'Tis awake you should be, and a making my shroud Och hone, Widow Machree,

Dr. S. P. Twensynd's Sarsaparilla,
The most Extraordinary-Meddine in the World! I Over two hundred and fifty thousand persons cured of various discares, within the tait two years. It cures scrofula, Stubborn Ulcers, Effects of Mercary, Fever Sores, Erysipelas, Rheumanism, Consumption, General Debility, Dyspepia, Contiveness, Skin Discases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy and Gout, Ringworms.

Cancers and Tumors, Heart Discases.

The great beauty of this medicine is, that it never injures the constitution, and is always beneficial even to the most delicate, and is the only medicine ever discovered that creates new, pure and rich blood, and that reaches the bone. Thousands are ready to testify to its many virtues.

GREAT SPHING AND SUMMER MEDICINE.

This is to certify, that my child was afflicted with a horrible disease in the face (which resisted the efforts of my family physician.) and was entirely cured by half u bottle of Dr. S. P. Townsend's Sarsaparilla for many years, and consider it a very valuable medicine, many cures having been affected in our vicinity. A young man by the name of Westley Rotherock, of this place, was cured of the Scrofula, (having large lumps in his neck) by the use of one bottle.

Never Knew the Like!

During the prevalence of Diarrice.

Opsentery, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaints, Cramps and Colic, 19st Summer, hundreds were cured of these diseases, in from 5 to 15 and 30 minutes.

Not a single case can be found where, properly used according to the printed directions that accompany cash bottle, it failed to effect a rapid, safe nad radical cure. Numerous cases were outed by it in less than an hour, where the efforts of Physicians, who descry it, failed to do the least good. Of such we have several certificates which are open to the inspection of any one who desires to see them.

So unprecedented was its success, that it effected the voluntary recommendations of the Public Press, wherever it was introduced. The Watchman of Norristown, the Montgomery Ledger of Potistown, the Neutralist of Ekippackville, the Heauert Friend of Sunneytown, the Dental Faaril of New York, and others, recommended it as a certain, unfailing remedy for all the diseases for which we recommend. It we have the tesumony of the hest Physicians in Montgomery County, in its favor, those, who used it themselves, and who publicly recommended it to their patrone.

Costiveness, by cleaning the whole length f the intestines with a solvent process, and months, we submit the following facts to their candid udgment:—

1st. That inere never was a Medicine compounded that cured so invariably in so short a time, and with such entire safety and permasency, as the Balsam.

2d. That it cures Diarchea. Dysentery, Cholera Morbis, Summer Complaint, Cramps and Colic, in from 20 minutes to ziew hours. Dysentery not so soon, as that is of a more inflamatory nature, and under any treatment requires a longer time; but thateven much sooner than any other remedy or mode of treatment.

4th. That one bottle will cure a half dozen cases; thus proving it not only the surest remedy, but also the cheapest ever given to the public.

5th. That no family should be without it. Cases may suddenly arise of such severity that time does not occur to call the regular family Physician. Give the Balsam as directed; send for your Physician, and without violence; all violent purges leave the Diarrhoga and Cholera,, by removing the sharp acrid fluids by which these complaints are occasioned, and by promoting the lubricative secretion of the mucous membrane Fevers ot all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of perspiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

MARRIAGE: WHY SO OFTEN UNHAPPY.

THE CAUSES AND THE REMEDY! MANT and many a wife endures years of bodily suffering and of mental anguish, prostrate and help-less, embittering her life, that of her husband, and hazarding the future welfare of her children, arising rom causes which, if known, would have spared the suffering, the anguish to the wife, and to the husband embarrassments and pecuniary difficulties hav-ing their origin in the mind being weighed down and harassed in consequence of the sickness of the companion of his bosom pamon or the topoun.

How important that the causes should be known to every wife, to every husband, that the dreadful and harrowing consequences to the health and hap-piness of both may be avoided! Life is too short and bealth too precious to admit any portion of the one to be spent without the full enjoyment of the other. Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Dayton, O.

"DAYTON, May 1, 1847.

"DR. A. M. MAURICEAU—My Dear Sir: 'The Married Weman's Private Medical Companion,' for which I enclosed one dollar to your address, came safely to hand. I would not have troubled you with these few lines, but that I am impelled by a sense of gratitude, for myself and wife, to give utterance to our sincere and heartfelt emotions.

"My wife has been perceptibly sinking for some three years or more, in consequence of her great anguish and suffering some months before and during confinement; every successive one more and more debilitated and prostrated her, putting her life in imminent danger, and which was, on the last occasion, despaired of laupposed that this state of things was inevitable, and resigned myself to meet the worst. At this time (now about two months) I heard your book highly spoken of, as containing some matters reaching my case. On its receipt and perusal, I can not express to you the relief it afforded my distressed mind and the joy its pages imparted to my wife, on learning that the great discovery of M. M. Desomeaux provided a remedy. It opened a prospect to me which I little conceived was possible. No pecuniary consideration can ever repay the obligations I am under to you for having been the means of imparting to us the matters contained in 'The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion.' But for this, ere another year would have passed over my head, in all human probability my wife would have been in her grave, and my children left wotherless." Extract from a Letter. Competence and Health.

"My DEAR SHE! I know you will have the kind ness to bear with me in encroaching upon your time, while I acknowledge (in behalf of myself and wife) the obligations we feel ourselves under to you in having made known certain matters, contained in your most invaluable. I had been married some ten years, and was the father of seven children. I was long struggling unceasingly to the end that I might gain a moderate competency, but the results of my utmost exertions at the end left me about where I was at the beginning of each year; and that only, with the most sinted economy, sufficing with barely the necessaries of life. Finally, this constant effort was beginning to have its effect upon my health: I felt less capable to endure its continuation of the protection of it and advise all to try it.

"This constant, unceasing struggle on my part was imperative, in consequence of the prostrated condition of my wife (with occasional intermission) for six years, much of the time confined to her bed, and of course incapable of taking the charge and management of household affairs. Her condition arose from causes of which I was ignorant. Oh! what would I have given had I the six years to live over again!
What would my wife have given to have been spared
the long days and still longer nights prostrate on a bed of sickness!—all of which would have been avoided, had I then seen a copy of. THE MARRIED

THE FARMER'S SONG I envy not the mighty king
Upon the splendid throne—
Nor crave his glittering diadem,

Nor wish the power mine own;
For though his wealth and power be great,
And thousands round him bow

More solid peace I know. I eavy not the miser-he

May tell his treasure o'er,
May heaps on heaps around him see,
And toll and sigh for more;
I'd scorn his varrow sordid soul,
Rapacious and unjust,
Nor bow beneath the base control
Of empty gilded dust.

Let warriors mount fame's giddy height, Where thousands round him bleed: Where thousands round him blee I cavy not their victor's wreath, Their courage nor their tame; Their laurels are a fleeting breath, Their glory but a name.

The Farmer.

Honey and wax are two important articles, and in a commercial point of view might be rendered very profitable. In one year there was imported into France, beeswax amounting to more than five millions of dollars, and was principally used in the manufacture of wax candles, which are burned in. Transplyania, bees are an object of much attention marriage, as it discloses important secrets which should be known to them particularly.

Here, every female—the wife, the mother—the one cither budding into womanhood, or the one in the decline of years, in whom nature contemplates an important change—can discover the causes, sympan important change—can discover the causes sympan important change—can di where they are lodged, and providing them with a shelf. In Dalmatia, where the small district of Cattaro annually exports about 15,000 lbs. weight of wax and honey, the hives are constructed of rough marble with a moveable lid. Mirulo reports that Varro had yearly for the rent of his bees, a thousand gallons of honey, and that a house in Spain not having an acre of ground to it, made yearly, eighty pounds worth of honey and wax! The Don Cossacks keep large stocks of bees; a few years ago the number of apiaries was 1,044, which contained 30,201, and produced annually about 298,764 lbs. weight of honey and wax.

We are informed by Simmond, in his travels in Italy and Sicily, that Sicilian honey is n much estimation, and owing to a great consumption of wax in churches, the proceeds of the bee-hive form a valuable item in husbandry.

In New South Wales, the product of the bee is becoming an object of attention, for Mr. Cunningham in his work on that country, says: "A number of swarms have, at different times, escaped into the woods, and the climate being exceedingly favorable to bees, we may expect soon to see honey and. wax added to our list of exports."

I trust I have said mough to awaken attention to the cultivation of the bee, and I do nope that my efforts in this matter will stim late some of my fellow citizens to study the subject, and thus be enabled in an eminent degree to be useful to the poor and laboring

Our Creator has spread over the earth flowers, blossoms and fragrant shrubs; he has created the industrious honey bee, who, by flower to flower, the delicious honey; and all that is required of man is to build a little house for the insect, where he will deposit in abundance the honey which will increase man's comforts. Attached to every cottage as there should be a bec-house; and in the iron and coal regions of this commonwealth, such a structure, with its numerous inhabitants, humming of a spring morning amidst the opening flowers and delicious buds and blossoms, which nature scatters with a bountiful hand, would be an interesting spectacle of rural beauty, and add a poetic character to the scene, which all can feel, but none but the

SUGAR GROWING IN LOUISIANA. The Baton Rouge Advocate of the 11th nst., after speaking favorably of the highlands in the states, as adapted to the pultivation of the sugar cane, says :- "The last two years have brought a vast cultivation, more, perhaps, than for any previous ten years. In this section, the sugar mill is rapidly taking the place of the cotton gin, the unoccupied lands are coming into cultiration, even the worn-out and abandoned cotton fiels found well adapted to the raising of this crop. There are now being erected in this vicinity, no-less than fifteen sugar mills, at, probably, an average cost of 10,000 dollars each. This will bring into cultivation not less than five thousand acres of land, throwing into the market 140,000 hogshead of sugar, which will find its natural transit through Baton Rogue."

Dissolve the crystals of one and a halt pounds of blue vitriol in boiling water, and when dissolved, mix it with one pound of glue and pour the whole into the whitewash; or pour in the vitriol first, and then slowly add the glue, stirring the mass constantly, that the ingredients may be thoroughly mixed. The first coat should be put on horrizontally, (with a common whitewash brush,) the second vertically, or up and down, and the same as the first. PLASTER .

Every person who applies plaster should endeavor accurately to ascertain, not only the chemical constituents of the soil and geological formation thereof, but note, impartially, the nature of the crop, the time of application, and the quantity used. In this way a valuable accumulation of facts would be soon attained, and practical men could, from deducting their own corollaries from such reliable data, arrange a system that would insure, ultimately, the best and most profit-
