Wit and Humor.

A young itinerant preacher, in the constant habit of declaiming a great deal about the Creation, and especially about the first getting his native eloquence to good advantage, was -one day holding forth to a mixed congregation in a country school house. Becoming warm and enthusiastic as he proceeded, it was not long before he reached his favorite theme, and started off in something like the following style: "And when the world was created, and the beasts of the field, and fowls of the air, and pronounced very good, God said, "Let us make man." And he formed man after of all the works of his hands. And he made woman also, and fashioned her in the exact image of man, with a little variation-" "Thank the Lord for the variation! shouted an old sinner, who sat over in the amen corner of the room, at this interesting juncture of the discourse. The effect was perfectly ludicrons and irresistible. The preacher dropped the subject popular air of "Ever be Happy," in Opera "Enchanwhere he was interrupted, and was never heard to allude to it during a subsequent ministry of forty years.

VERY LAST OF THE MODICANS. Joe Scobasin, a Penobscot Indian, not long since, was sued for the sum of $6, by a white man, before Squire Johnson. On the day of the trial, Joe made his appearance and large trial, the man before Squire Johnson of the day of the trial, Joe made his appearance and large stand most complete assentment to be found in REMARKABLE MEMORY.

"Who made you ?" inquired a lady-teacher of a great lubberly boy, who had lately ioined her class.

" I'd o'know!" said he. "Not know? You ought to be ashamed of yourself. A boy fourteen years old! Why! there's little Dicky Filton-he's only three-he can tell, I dare say. Come here, Dicky: who made you?"

"Dod!" lisped the infant prodigy. & There!" said the teacher triumphantly, "I knew he'd remember!"

MATRIMONIAL.

A correspondent, a wag in his way, says that, when a young man, he occupied a chamber separated from that of a married couple by a thin partition. One cold night he heard the rough voice of the husband grumble out:

buffoon having offended his sovereign, the monarch sentenced him to death-the culprit, in great terror, fell upon his knees and cried for mercy.

"I will extend to you no other mercy," said the monarch, "than permitting you to choose what kind of a death you will die. Decide immediately, for I will be obeyed." "I adore your clemency," said the crafty jester, I choose to die of old age."

" I say mister," said a little urchin to a man with a pair of cross eyes, "warn't you born in the middle of the week?" "No you little rascal why do you ask

"Cause I didn't know but you mought have been, seeing you are all the time tookin' both ways for Sunday."

An Inebriate Irishman, on being kindly questioned in a very narrow lane, across which he was reeling as to the length of the road he had travelled, replied:-"Faith! it's not so much the length of i as the breadth that's tired me."

Somebody says : "the devil never troubles a busy man:" This we know to be false. Show us a busier man than the editor, and yet he is fortunate if he has no more than one "devil" to trouble him, especially when "copy" is short.

FROM OHIO.

THE Subscribers have just received a further sup ply of this ringular and valuable substance. In addition to the slate color, they have a beautiful chocolate or brown, resembling the sand atone now in use, and so much admired for the front of buildings. Its principal ingredients are sitica, alumina and protoxide of iron, which in the opinion of scientific men satisfactorily accounts for its fire-proof tature—the two former substances being non-conductors, and the latter-acting as a cement, to hind the whole together and make a firm and durable paint.
Foruce it is mixed with Linneed Oit, and applied with a brush, the same as ordinary pa.st, to wood

AS A DYSPEPSIA CURER,

Dr. Houghfon's preparation of PEPSIN, has produced the most marvellous effects, curing cases of Bability, Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspeptic Consumption, supposed to be on the very verge of the grave. It is impossible to give the details of cases in the limits of this advertisement—but authenticated certificates have been given of more than TWO HUNDHED REMARKABLECURES, in Philadelphia New York and Boston afone. These were nearly all desperate cases, and the cures were not only rapid and wonderful, but permanent.

It is a great nervous antidate, and particularly use full for tendency to bilious disorder, Liver Complaint, Fèver and Ague, or hadly treated Fever and Ague, and the evil effects of Guinine, Mercury, and other Drugs upon the Digestive organs, after a long sickness. Also, for excess in eating, and the too free use of ardent spirits. It almost reconciles Health with Intemperance.

COOKING FOOD FOR ANIMALS. In all cases, where it becomes important to force the production of large quantities of lesh and fat on the anima, frame, and in the shortest period and with the least expense, the cooking or fermenting of food and bringing t into the nearest stage possible for the assimilation of the nuturitious particles, is an inquiry of some importance to the farmer. The experiment has been tested with the greatest exactness, by many of the best breeders and graziers of this and the old country. and that too, under the stimulus of large premiums, which enabled the experimenters to perform it with great care and labor. The result in all cases shows that animals consume more cooked food in a given time, than they do or can of raw food. With horses and horned animals, the corresponding increase in weight, is not however so great as in the hog.

In fattening hogs for market, or for tise, it is imperious that it should be done in the shortest time, and at the least expense. They cannot be put up and subjected to the fattening process till the middle or last of September, as the coarse food devoted to their use is not perfected till about that time-and it is important to get them out of the way before the extreme cold weather sets in, and to get them into market by or before Christmas. The hog, unlike ruminating animals, has small stomach, incapable of much distention, and it therefore becomes important nor o fill if with coarse and raw food, calling on the animal economy to perform those duties that heat and fermentation can do in a much more concentrated and economical manner moreover they are not provided with the READ THE EVIDENCE.

There is no danger of overloading or deranging the stomach of the hog by overfeeding, for with rich and concentrated food. Unlike their great prototype, man, in whose internal arrangement of the viscera they remarkably resemble, they never have the dyspepsia, gout, or delirium tremens.

The next best preparation to cooking/15 fermentation; this only applies to meals and farinaceous substances, or a mixture of them with cooked roots. Barley meal or barley and out meal, boiled and soured in the tub, if the hogs are properly and comfortably housed and cared for, will produce more muscle and fat in a given time than any other process of which we are advised .- Rural New-Yorker.

TO CURE HAMS. At the late Fair of the Maryland State Age ricultural Society, the first premium for the best cured Hams, out of twenty-one samples, was awarded to Mr. Thos. E. Hambleton, of Baltimore. He uses the old Maryland receipt.

We give it for the benefit of those who may have meat to cure in the coming season: 'To every one hundred pounds weight of pork take eight pounds of ground alum salt, two pounds of brown sugar, two ounces of saltpetre, one and a half ounces potash, and four gallons of water. Of these form a brine. The meat should be well cooled and dried before being cut up, and then suffered to lie one day in a cool place. Then rub each piece with fine salt, and pack the whole down and suffer it to remain some two or three days, according to the weather. The above brine. should then be poured into the cask or tub on the side.
