- The man's a dolt who lets in grief,
  When he might ope the door to laughter,
  If tears afford the heart relief,
  They leave a void for some hours after.
  Dull sorrow is a malady,
  That ends in lunacy or phthisic:
- But mirth is nature's recipe, And laughter is the best of physic. And language is the best of physic.

  The kings of old, to shun at least
  The ill effects of melancholy.
  Kept merry folks, to crown life's feast
  With sparkling wit and harmless folly
  So Domus rules with biogant hand—
  To might turns fear, and pain, and sadness.
  And sends forth, ringing through the land,
  The languing shout of hope and gladness:
- Care, oft indulged, is like a are
  That flames and burns the more you blow it Or, like a sexton—wrinkled, dire—
  Who digs your grave before you know it For young or old—for sage or clown— For all who live, or may hereafter—

The Lots are situated in the Village of HERMANN-VILLE, on the Long Island Railroad. County of Suffolk, and 50 miles from the City of New York, and adjoins Lakeland, also a new village, recently laid out, where handsome buildings are erected.

It is one of the healthiest places in the U. States, and within one, mile of Ronkonkoma Lake, a beautiful sheet of water, about three miles in circumference, of singular transparency, and of great depth, with an abundance of fish. The village is but 4 miles distant from the great South Bay, which is 5 miles wide, and 40 miles long, abundantly supplied withoysters, clams and fish of various kinds.

These lands will produce as much per acre, with the same cultivation, as any land within fifty miles of the city of New York.

This wheat is a new variety, of a superior kind, and was soid for seed wheat at $5 per bushel, and Mr. Thompson received for the product of a little more than two acres, over $400.

There have been raised during the past season, the very best of Corn, and Potatoes 150 bushels per acree, Egg Plants and a variety of garden vegetables. The wheal, potatoes, and crops, referred to in the article, were caused at Lakeand, near Hermannville Station. "Having a few hours' leisure during the peat week, we were conveyed over the Long Island Railroad, to a large tract of the country, about fifty miles from New York, which we find to be capable of very successful and profiliable cultivation. Although late in the season, and viewed under some disadvantage, we were surprised at the quality and abundance of the crops which had been gathered from a portion of the land, as also the winter crops, which appeared unusually promising. Wheat, which had been sown but two or three weeks, presented a beauffulthrifty appearance; while turnips, beets, and other vegetables not yet gathered for winter use, would compare advantageously with the best in the New York market. ## The Farmer.

LIME-MARL. If your arable land has never been limed, r marted—or if from 12 to 15 years have intervened since it was, you may very properly conclude that it needs one or the other. The best way to apply lime to thin, sandy land, would be to make a compost in the proportion of 25 bushels of lime or 50 bushels of marl, and 20 double-horse-cart-loads of clay and marsh mud, 10 loads of each, to the acre; make it up into a heap, to let it lay for a few weeks. work it over, taking care to mix the matter well, and mix it with the mass, I bushel of plaster, repeat this twice; plough the ground vou intend to anply it to this fall; early, spread the compost evenly over the surface, harrow if in, and permit it to lie until next spring, when it should receive two ploughings, and as many harrowings, then roll, and it will be fit to receive manure and a crop.

To stiff clays not in very good heart, you may give fifty bushels of lime, or 100 bushels of marl. To stiff lands, abounding in vegetable matter, you may apply 100 bushels of lime or 200 bushels of marl.

operate upon. Mould.-Bear in mind, that mould is the life-blood of soil, and that no land can be very productive, unless it or some other substance, identical in its nature, be present. Clover.-Clover should be cut as it comes in bloom, permitted to remain in the swarth or 5 hours, then cured in cocks.

Farmers ought to know that churning can be done with any good churn in from ten to fitteen minutes, as well in winter as in summer, by having the temperature of the cream right, say fifty-eight to sixty degrees. The temperature of an ordinary sitting or living room in winter, to be comfortable, is sixtyfive to sixty-eight degrees, and a closet openng into such a room would be the best place 🔌 to keep the pot in winter. In summer the cream can be readily reduced to the right temperature, by breaking up clean pieces of ice and putting it into the churn.
