

Miners' Journal

Saturday Morning, July 12, 1913

WHIG NOMINATIONS. FOR GOVERNOR, WILLIAM F. JOHNSON, of Armstrong.

JUDGES OF THE SUPREME COURT. RICHARD COULTER, of Westmoreland.

THE JUDICIARY. It is a symptom highly favorable to the progress of an elective judiciary, that the people generally seem disposed to regard the qualifications of the candidates as judges, before any other consideration.

In addition to a freedom from prejudice and intrigue, associated with the political arena of the day, there are other qualifications important and quite indispensable to the character of a good Judge.

Prominence and position of character are equally essential, with a life, that may be the additional weight of example to the precepts of morality he so often administers.

Judged by this standard, one cannot fail to remark how striking the contrast between the opposing candidates now before the people.

On the one side, there is no hesitation on the part of many of the Loco-foco process in expressing their opinion, touching the character and abilities of the men selected from their ranks, while the Whigs are unanimous in commendation of the whole ticket presented for their support.

There is a marked difference not only in the nominees themselves, but also in the manner of their selection. It is notorious, admitted by themselves, that the Loco-foco nomination was earnestly solicited, and bargained and maneuvered, unworthy the most violent political aspirants, used to secure certain favoritisms.

The opposing factions were untried, in their efforts. Every device was invented, and every means, open and secret, just or unjust, made use of to advance the interests of the ticket.

On the other side, the Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Local Affairs.

Who Contracted the State Debt? The following statement of the various loans constituting the present STATE DEBT on the 31st day of December, 1880, is copied from the Annual Report of JOHN N. COPPING, late Loco-foco Auditor General, made to the late Legislature:

Statement of the Public Debt of Pennsylvania. Stock Loan per Act of April 1, 1861, $1,000,000.00.

It was perfectly aware that the horse purchased from Mr. Hammon, and used in the race, was a stolen horse, and that the race was a fraudulent one.

When Mr. Hammon came to Pottsville, I went to see him, without giving him the trouble to call upon me, and I inquired of him the name of the horse he had lost.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

Schuykill Haven Affairs.

Sons of Temperance. At an election held in Mountain Spring, No. 139, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. B. Cummings.

Mechanics. The election for officers for the ensuing year in Matamoras Council, No. 68, U. M. W. O. was held on the 10th inst.

George Winkop, Esq. Believing that you would not willingly do injustice to any citizen, particularly one who has never done you injury, and never contracted any thing but the feeling toward you, I desire to correct the erroneous statement in an article in your paper of the 10th inst.

When Mr. Hammon came to Pottsville, I went to see him, without giving him the trouble to call upon me, and I inquired of him the name of the horse he had lost.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

On the 11th day of December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885, and went out in December, 1885.

Whig Affairs.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.

Whig Affairs. The Whig nomination was the result of a free and open canvass, in which the merits of the candidates were fairly and honestly weighed.