Dr. Swame:—Dear Si. About six years ago, I discovered that mylungs were affected, of which became more convinced from time to time, although I tried many remedies, yet without any sparent benefit, and my disease increased until I was compelled to keep my room, and at last my led. I had great pain in mily left side, upon which I could not lay in bedjand in the morning my cough was so severe that I found it very gainful to throw up the phiem which gathered in great quantities on my lungs, when fortunately I houghted your agent, of this place, one buttle of your compound Syang of Wild Cherry, which so much refer in great quantities on my lungs, when fortunately I houghted your agent, of this place, one buttle of your compound Syang of Wild Cherry, the limit believed me that I continued using it muit now. I have used six bottles, and am happy to tell you that you was affected with that painful hacking weakenning cough and I firmly believe that to your medicine, undertile blessings of Prividence, I am indebted for this great change, and am very happy to abbstribe myself.

Someimes he amused his weary hours by counting the spots on her golden fur, and observ-ing how beautifully they were shaded; she showed no displeasure even when he held her by the tail to count the splendid white rings, that glittered in the sunshine like precious stones. It was a pleasure to look upon the graceful outlines of her form, and the majestic carriage of her head. She delighted him most when she was in a frolic. Her extreme gracefulness and agility as she glided swiftly along, jumped, bounded, and rolled ver and over, was truly surprising. When she was darting up the rocky eminence at her swiftest speed, she would stop suddenly and beautifully as the Frenchman called 'Mignorne.''

One day a very large bird sailed through the air over their heads. In the desert anything that has life is intensely interesting.— The Frenchman quitted the panther to watch
