own political aspirations are some what involved in his success. Mr. Buchanan it is aid has endorced his qualifications in a speech ; at Lancaster, and the Convention that put him into nomination, it is alleged, was composed of able men. Such reasons may sal sly those who are unacquainted with the chemes and machinations of politicians, but will have little or no weight with those who, are better informed. Mr. Buchanan's declaration can have no weight whatever with us, from the fact, in the first place that he has had but little or no opportunity of forming a correct opinion of Judge Campbell's

Whether this spasmodie effort of Mr. Buchanan to sustain a man notoriously incompetent, in order to strengthen himself, will add anything to his own character, time and the people will soon de-It may be asked by the uninitiated, how Judge Campbell succeeded in securing his agmination in Convention. It must be remembered that there were five Judges to be nominated, a circumstance that will not again occur under the present Constitution. ludge Campbell had already managed to get the twenty delegates from the City and Coun-ty of Philadelphia, by means disreputable, and insulting to the American people. This was all the capital necessary, in a Convention of 133 members, when five candidates could play at the same game. Any four who could manage to get a similar number, by splicing together, could secure a majority, and those who have any knowledge of human nature, expect too much, if they sup-pose even honorable candidates, would long hesitate about rejecting an advantageous compromise. Under other circumstances, is openly admitted by many of his warmest friends, some of whom excuse themselves by saying, that with four other good Judges on the Bench, he could do no harm. This was the language of one of his most influential supporters before his nomination .---Yet if elected, he must in his turn become Chief Justice of Pennsylvania.
