Wit and Humor.

FOUR FUNNY FELLOWS.

Theodore Cibber in company with three others, made an excursion. Theodore had a false set of teeth—a second a glass eye—a third a cork leg—but the fourth had nothing in particular except a funny way of shaking his head.

They travelled in a post coach, and while on the first stage, after each had made merry with his neighbor's infirmity, they agreed, at every baiting place to affect the same singularity. When they came to breakfast they where all to squint—and language cannot express how admirable they squinted—for they went to a degree beyond the superlative. At dinner they all appeared to have a cork leg, and their stumping about made more diversion than they had done at breakfast.—At tea they were all deaf, but at supper, which was at the "Ship" at Dover, each man resumed, his character, the better to play his part in the farce they had concerted among them.

When they were ready to go to bed, Cib—ous and fatal to animals. In the cases we witnessed, the sheep exhibited vertigo and trembling, and frothed at the mouth, and evidently endured much pain. After seven hours had elapsed, a noble lamb. belonging to one of the poisoned sheep, came un and called out urgently for his supper.-The sick and dying mother raised her head, and turned and looked piteously at her offspring, crying with hunger. Nerved with a spirit of maternal affection, she struggled and gained an upright position, and with much difficulty maintained it and gave nurse to the bleating lamb. This done, the lay down and died instantly; and we presume

Most vegetable poisons, however, are acids, and require alkalies to neutralise them. Ammonia, ley of wood ashes, and pot and pearl ashes are used for the purpose. - [Buffalo Wool Grower.

LEAVES AS MANURE. Leaves, buds, and tender branches are peculiarly rich in the vegetable alkali; besides which they contain other organic elements derived from the soil, and which, by being returned to the soil, enrich its surface, tending to prevent its exhaustation, or when newly applied that is to other ground, to enrich it more than superficially. The celebrity of the Virgalicu pears of western New York, in some of the eastern markets, is well known. The value of this, good name is quite amusingly shown by a story related by L. F. Allen, in the Horticulturist. Two gentlemen of Genesee county sent each several barrels of Virgalieu pears, to be sold in New York. One of them called his pears the "Virgalieu," the only name he knew: the other, to be precise, marked his "White Doyenne." In a few weeks the consignee returned an account of sales. but if the owner of the Dayennes had only sent his Virgalieus as his neighbor did, he could have sold them for as much!

TURNIPS-LATE HARVESTING. Never take in your turnips till there is a prospect of the ground's freezing. As a general thing, the growth of this root proceeds far more rapidly in cold, than in warm weather, and a light frost is by no means injurious. I have known this crop to remain out till the soil froze quite hard, and no injury resulted to the crop. If harvested before cold weather, the turnips become "corky." or spongy, and shrivel up, which induces an unpleasant flavor, and a tendency to decay. In this condition, they are fit only for stock feeding .- [Germantown Telegraph. IN ALL cases of pruning, cut towards ou,y beginning a little below a bud, but on the opposite side, and ending just above the
