COMMON SENSE to NONSENSE.

Dr. F. Tuthill delivered an address the other day before the Agricultural Society of Suffolk county, New York, and in the course of his remarks he touched upon "the false shame of labor " in the following manner: "The day has already come in our cities that if a man, stout as Milo of old, has a load of wood brought to his door, and he really aches for the pleasure of handling it. yet he must hire a man to pitch it into the cellar, while he stands by, nor so much as touch a stick of it on pain of losing caste.-If a stout and vigorous citizen, whose muscles swell with an excess of strength, has a load of wood lying on the sidewalk, he may as well hang himself at once as be foolish enough to save a dollar and saw it up himself; yet if the man has pitched it in, and the grate is down so that he shall not be seen, we are not sure but he may saw on till doomsday, and no one esteem him less a man and a gentleman.
