I take it for granted every one knows that in curing pork, the main point is to put in a great abundance of good salt. There need be no tear of applying too much. Il not required in curing the meat, it will remain in the cask, and is as good as ever to be applied In curing beef, salt should be used more sparingly. Six pounds of fine salt, four ounces of saltpetre, one and a quarter pounds of brown sugar, make a good proportion of ingredients for 100 lbs of beef. In twenty.

end-ways should be applied. Drying beef To cure hams thoroughly, so as to have them sufficiently salt, and to give them the real Jersey flavor, is a more delicate operation, and requires a pice hand. The following receipt is a good one, and may be relied on for making a first-rate ham : . To 80 lbs. of hams, take four ounces of brown sugar, fine salt, pulverize and mix them thoroughly ; rub the hams well all over, particularly on the fiesh side, and laygthem on boards for 36 or 49 hours, then pack them in casks, of hams. In fifteen or eighteen days they nay be hung up to smoke.

RAISING QUINCES.

A correspondent of the Horticulturist, who raises this fruit of extraordinary excellence. oursues the following course. He selects'a good, deep, dry, rich soil, which is deepened by a thorough use of the subsoil plough, and manure applied copiously and deeply, by dropping it in the bottom of the furrow as the plough proceeds. Large and deep holes are dug for the trees : each receive half a barrel of good compost ; the branches are shortened one half before setting, and the soil well settled among the roots by drench. ing with water before the hole is quite filled All truit trees, by the way, should receive this good treatment. He does not lose one

n a hundred by this excellent practice. The pruning is given in autumn, and consists of cutting out, as sparingly as possible. and only old, crooked, crowded; and decayed branches. Every autumn manure is spread round each tree, and after a light ploughing in spring, salt is spread-broadcast at the rate of ten bushels to the acre .-The salt is regarded of very great consequence, but must be applied in connexion with free manuring every year.
