ADDRESS, Delivered before the Members of the Pottsville Section C. of T., on Monday Evening, Janua ary 26th, 1852, BY A BROTHER.

FELLOW CADETS:—The members of this association, as yet young, in the course of a few years will fall the places of the now more prominent actors on the stage of the theatre of life. From among the boys of this generation, in a few years hence, will be chosen occupants for all the responsible, honorable and important stations in society. It matters not, tho we may not look to the inture with suricinations of distinction in the forum; it is li matters not, tho' we may not look to the future with anticipations of distinction in the forum; it is manly in us, occasionally to lay aside our boyish sports, for recreation of the mind, and will qualify us to act an honorable parh, if ever, as is positions of honor. There is no reason, in nature, why our expanding minds may not; within our attainments, and understanding, participate in the "feast of reason, and the flow of soul."

In concluding upon a subject for this evening, it is concered to me, that peculiar circumstances, connected with our meeting, angrested a plain one for observation, which might not be uninteresting. It is something high, noble and manly in the idea of boy speaker to boy audience, and although our minds may not produce researches of so high literary merit, nor comprehend with clearness of mature judgment, the subjects we discuss, we are susceptible of improvement, and our efforts speak volumes for the boys of Pottsville. It is said that among all men there pervades a feeling called national pride, a primitive love of the land of our birth, and; 'tis arked, "Is there a man, so dead to every sense of shame, That cannot say, this is my own, Is there a man, so dead to every sense of shame

That cannot say, this is my own, My native land." What does A.B. C., of West Haven take us for?
Why, there's hardly a school-boy ten years old, in the County, but knows the Chameleon Story, all "by heart"—aye, and knows how to spell every syllable in it and that's more than A.B. C. scems to know of the first word.

Within three-fourths of a century, since the turning their attention to the Maine Liquor Law, as the rising star of their hopes. Its operation, at home, seems to be so entirely satisfactory and day after day adds so many new proofs of its triumphant success, that, we have no doubt, its ultimate destiny, and that, too, at no distant day, will be the establishment of similar restrictions upon the Liquor Traffic, throughout the entire length and breadth of the land.

The very liberal governmental license, for the sale and use of spirituous liquors, is known to be sadly deleterious to the morals, intelligence and lives of our people; while, on the other hand, every experiment to rement in arts, sciences and civilization, than he Curone before in a dozen centuries.
