TOWN CLEANLINESS.

As the season advances and warm weather who come under the head of artifary arability, and hence not entitled to pensions—for which last class and for veterans the Institution may be regarded as especially intended,) will apply for their discharge, as is usual in cases of "ordinary disability;" and the medical officer will state, in the is likely soon to overtake us, (we hope so, at least-though the indications are rather unfavorable just now) it is especially important, at this early day, that the proper officers of the Borough see to the removal of all causes that might interfere with the general good health of our citizens. The people of Pottsville, and, indeed, of the whole County, have reason to congraulate themselves, in this respect. For a number of years there has been comparatively very little sickness in our midst-such a thing as any dangerous epidemic or contagious disease is hardly known here, and our Borough has long retained, very justly, too, the reputation of being one of the healthiest places in the State. Still it is well to observe the oldfashioned caution, that an "ounce of prevention is weith a pound of cure,"—much

Pools of stagnant water should be drained off and their places filled up, to prevent the recurrence of a similar nuisance, in future-heaps of dirt and rubbish, that are often inadvertently suffered to collect in alleys and by-streets, should be removedthe street gutters cleaned out, and everything purity of the atmosphere be carried away; that our Borough may be as famous for its gennity for whatever is left officially undone, to accomplish this desirable object. The Doctors and Druggists might be cheated of many a dime by a liberal use of soap and water—nothing tends more to the general comfort, harmony and good health of a community, than cleanliness. eralcleanliness as for its good health. Every

The monomania of Judge Edmonds, of

New York, has been cited as an argumen! against the public exhibitions of the "Rappers, and other humbugs of the day—it has been suggested that they are liable to prosecution for obtaining money under false pretences, and thus the injurious tendency of their impositions storned. That however their impositions stopped. That, however, would be a difficult rule to enforce—it would puzzle all the lawyers in Christendom to make the distinction, in many cases, between true and false pretences for inoney-getting. Such a precedent, established in the case of the "Spirits," would be likely to interfere very frequently with the more tangible plans of "flesh and blood."

It is evident that the devoted affection of
