Educational.

FOR THE MINERS' JOURNAL.

HISTORY OF EDUCATION,

The interest, which was felt in the extensive diffusion of knowledge in the 16th cen-tury, shows itself also in the influence which this subject had acquired over some of the first minds of the age, whom it forced to sur-render themselves wholly to its power, and to devote their talents to the great work, now brought so irresistably to men's consideration. At no time before were so many strong minded men laboring in the cause of education and in the work of diffusing knowledge among all classes.
