It has, therefore, been the steady alm of the manufac-

That, the governor told him, was of no account whatever. The religious sentiment of the country was against him, and that was enough. That evening six young men from the village on the hill called on the captain to say, that if ie would come up there again, they and some others would stand by him, and that they could throw stones as well as the other party. The captain, however, declined this reort to carnal weapons, and took the occasion to enlighten his friends upon the nature of the pure gospel, for which they thanked him, and retired very much pleased with their visit. On reaching Genoa, the captain found that a process had been commenced against him, and his passport was refused him to continue into Switzerland. It may be some ime yet before the case is decided.
