THE SCOTT AND GRAHAN ELECTORAL ticket is headed with the name of JAMES POLLOCK-remember that, voters,

The first business after a battle is to reckon the cost in the number of dead, wounded and missing. The smoke has cleared from the political field, and now, before the next and still more terrific engagement, it is but prudent we' should count our losses and estimate the remaining strength of the contending parties for the coming conflict. What, therefore, have the Whigs of Pennsylvania lost by the late election?

As a party, they have lost nothing-absolutely nothing: for the election of the late State ticket was not decided upon exclusively political grounds, and hence cannot fairly be cited as a test of the strength of the two parties. Now for the proof. The choice of a Supreme Judge and Canal Commissioner does not excite the political enthusiasm and invalvy usual in the selection of other State of the State, it is fairly estimated from the returns, is not out by some 25 or 30,000 feets, to say nothing of the large increase in favor of the Whigs, which the Presidential issue must-cause—Scort will certainly for the state the state of the state of the state the state of the state the state of the state of the state the state of the s receive hundreds and thousands of votes, capable of such bare-faced, impudent eleccast on either side, exclusively, would have riff tarce.

back his claims. As we have before remarked, in relation ! to the Canal Board, the Locos have had euseems that nothing short of a miracle can dislodge them. Everybody understands how such matters are managed. The local process and are man every of the having an almost countless number of Sub's at their beck and not Contractors, Bosses, and other employees, on the several lines of Railroad and Canal—can readily wield a potential influence at the ballot-box; and it is not to be supposed that Office-holders, living on a fat per diem, and who have schooled their consciences according to the "Disagrations, are over-scrupulous about "Proceedings of the purposed find the Perce and king Cob of Schurlkill county, as appears by their proceedings."
