

great importance to its prosperity are the introduction of a copious supply of water into the city of Washington, and the construction of suitable bridges across the Potomac to replace those which were destroyed by high water in the early part of the present year.

At the last session of Congress an appropriation was made to defray the cost of the survey necessary for determining the best means of conveying a sufficient supply of good and wholesome water to the city of Washington.

Further appropriations will also be necessary for grading and paving the streets and avenues, and extending and rebuilding the public grounds within the city of Washington.

It is a commendable object, together with the charitable institutions of the District, your favorable regard.

Experience has shown, however, that whenever the Indians are brought into contact with the whites, the latter are liable to be misled and deceived.

THE MESSAGE

On Monday last, the day appointed for the assembling of the second session of the XXXII Congress, there being a quorum present on roll-call, in each House, the usual message of the President was delivered immediately. We print it in full, in this morning's paper. It is a most comprehensive and able document - we refer to it as the "Message of the President."
