She loved them all three wid an equal affection, And it was quite immaterial which she shou choose.

For Rory and Pat had no point of objection,
And Shady, no sinsible girl could refuse.
But the boys were impatient and begg'd a decision
She blushed like a turtle, as thus she replied:

That same shall behold me, on Wednesday, hi "A twig of the loveliest plant in creation Let such fetch to-morrow; this task, sirs, will prov Who has the most skill in acute observation, And that is the man I shall ardently love." All bowed at these words and went out from h presence,

And Rory and Pat studied hard all that night;
Bur Sindy, indulging in barley's quintessence,
Was blue as a razor and almost as bright. The time had arrived for the boys to assemble, And soon the she judge call'd them up to the bar; You may guess how their hearts with emotion did

As each took his bitters and lit his segar. As each took in thiers and in this eegat.
First Rory address'd her: "Adorable creature,
That which is most useful is loveliest too,
And so I have fetched you a sprig of potato,
And my love, like its blossom, shall yearly renew.

"Very well," said the maid, "and good luck to Kory, Now Pat, its your turn."—"Yes, my honey," says he;
"Is there aught in creation more lovely than glory?
And I brought you a twig of that very same tree;
Old Rye is the plant that awakens the spirit,
And makes it wid ardor and energy awell;
The hero and poet acknowledge its merit,
And faithful affection its vartues can tell."

"Good again!" said the maid, "that's a bit of stumper,
But Shady, don't give up too soon to despair."
"Is it me," answered Shady," "just fill me a buu And I'll settle that matter all anug to a hair. Potatoes are good in their place, darling—rely, Old Rye is still betther, but nayther can slow A sprig to compare with this Sprig of Shilaleigh As Rory and Patrick shall prisintly know.

" Take this then," he said, " for your 'usefulness And tetch'd him a clew along side of the head; And Patrick take this, if you please, for you 'glory,"
And vanish you scoundrels, or d-n ye, you're dead."

"Well done now, my darling, superlative Shady!
The maid thus exclaimed, as his rivals retired;
"I see that faint heart nivir won the fair lady,
And your's is the sprig I have chiefly admired."

THE subtribers begleave to inform the public that I in addition to their former ATEAM ENGINE SHOPS and FOUNDRY, they have recently put up new Machinery and Shops for the manufacture of COAL CARS, TRUCKS and other Rail Road Cars, by Steam power; which enables them to execute all that kind of work, not only much better, but with greater despatch and at the very lowest prices. Having thus hade these extensive preparations, individuals, and companies requiring work of this kind, will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

OREAT CURE FOR DISPERSIA!

DR. J. S. HOUGHITON'S PERSIA, the true Digesting Fluid, or Gastric Juice—prepaied from Rennet, or the fourth Stomach of the Ox, after directions of Hands Liesno, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. Houghton, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.

"I Digest" Sach is the true meaning of the word Pepels. It is the chief element, or Great Digesting Principle of the Gastic Juice—the Solvent of the Food, the Parifying, Preserving, and Stimulosing Agent of the Stomach and intestines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming a true Digestive Finid, precisely like the natural Gastric, Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it.

This is Nature's own Remedy for an unhealthy Stomach. No art of may can equal its carative powers. The contains no Alcohol, Bitters, Acids, or Nauseous Diugs. It is extremely agreeable to the last, and may be taken by the most feeble patients who cannot eat a water cracker without acute distress. Beware of Davidop Instrations. Pepeln is NOT A DRIJO.

ECONOMY IN FATTENING HOGS. The following experiment in fattening hops with ground and unground corn, would seen -as far as a solitary experiment can,-tose,the he question of economy as to the best mode of feeding hogs. It is an extract from a communication in the Patent Office Report for 1850-'51, by Mr. J. E. Podge, of Potost, Grant county, Wisconsin. He says. "In October last, I selected from my stock two pigs of the same size, and, apparently, alike thrifiy; one, however, weighed 2000s. the other 247lbs. Immediately after being weighed they were put to apartments of the same house; kept dry and warm, ted with great care for 40 days; then they were a. gain weighed, and slaughtered. The hear. iest was fed with corn meal, mixed stiff with cold water ; the other with shelled com with pure water for drink. The one ted with meal consumed 425lbs., and gained 63 lbs. live weight : the pork after drecsing, was 287 lbs. The other ate 398 lbs. of com, and was found to have gained 32 lbs. live weight; his pork weight being 231 lbs, By subtracting the pork weight from the live weight, the amount of offal is ascertained. which in the experiment, proved a fraction less than one fifth of the live weight, It one-filth be deducted from the amount each pig gained, we have the true gain, in pork weight, produced, which was 61 pounds for every 65lbs. of meal, and 5 pounds in BROOM CORN. Few properly estimate the value of broom corn. Scarcely a habitation can be found in America without a broom made of this ma. terial. We do not know what our country. women would do without them; and ve they are not of very ancient origin. Before the manufacture of corn brooms the American ladies generally used bireh brooms, or similar articles made of black ash. When these could not be procured, they would, sometimes, make a besom of hemlock bought. In Ireland and England, there grows a shrub called heath or ling, which is made into besoms, and used quite extensively in those countries. The Irish and English also make and use hair brooms, bristle brooms, &c. Of all the different kinds of sweeping uterof all the different kinds of sweeping uter-sils, corn brooms have the preference for common use, wherever used. In the last century they were scarcely known, but now they are known all over the United States. A few years ago a lot of these brooms way sent to England, where they readily brought five dollars per dozen.

ORIGIN OF WHEAT.

A most curious and able dissertation ist, has made the discovery, which has been

Scientific and Practical

CLEAN HAIR BRUSHES AND COMES Subcarbonnte of soda or potass, sometim called salt of tartar, or salt of wormwood is to be dissolved in boiling water, two herped teaspoonsful will be sufficient for half a pint; into this mixture dip the hair of the brush, and draw the comb through many times. The brush and comb with the help of this solution, will quickly cleanse each other; dry quickly, and they will be as white as new. Observe two things; the potass must be kept in a stopper bottle, or it will soon become liquid; when liquid it is not injured for use, but it left in paper would be wasted; also the mahogany or satinwood back of the brush must be kept out of the solution, as it is apt to discolored wood.

VINEGAR FROM BEETS. Good vinegar is an almost indispensable article in every family, many of which purchase it at a considerable annual expense, while others use but an indifferent article and others for want of a little knowledge and industry, go without. It is an easy mate ter, however, to be at all times supplied with good vinegar, and that too, without much expense. The juice of one bushel of sugar. beets, worth twenty-five cents, and with farmers can raise without cost, will mate them five or six gallons of vinegar, equal a the best made of cider or wine. Grate the beets, having first washed them, and express the juice in a cheese press, or in any other way which a little ingenuity can suggest and put the liquor into an empty barrel; 00 ver the bung hole with gauze and set it is the sun, and in twelve or sixteen days it will be ready for use.

WHEAT AND INDIAN BREAD. It our lady friends will comply with the directions given in the following recipe, we will guarantee them as good bread as ere was broken by mortal: To two quarts of fine Indian meal add boiling water enough? wet the same; when sufficiently cooled, add one tea-spoonful of salt, half a pint of year. one tea-spoonfu! of saleratus, one-halt ies cupful of molasses, and flour enough to long. it into a loat, (it should not be kneadea hard,) when light, bake two hours in a well helt ed oven, (it should be baked until brown.)

HORSERADISH.

If you want to keep horseradish, grates quantity while the root is in perfection, pul it in bottles, fill the bottles with strong rinegar, and keep it corked tightly. You mit thus have a supply all the winter.

GINGER COORIES. Take one teacup of sugar, one of molar ses, one egg, one spoonful of salæratus, of of ginger, and one of vinegar, and mix the with seven teacups of flour.
