Blater's Patent (Bio Paint, Shiver's Ename) Patin, the Old Spanish Böwn Puttsbürg Paint & C., and I have never found anything fit to compare with Nields' Mertille Paint, ether for durability of color or dow-ing eventy, and must say that it covers better, with beiter body, than aby paint I have ever used. I have covered several large Factories and Mills with iron and im. in Manayund, which I painted with NiELDs' METALLIC PAINT, and examined one yesterday painted in July, 1532, which I found as hard as the metal likel.
