PREDICTIONS FOR 1853. According to an almanac published in the United States, the year of our Lord, 1853, is to be an eventful one. We extract from said Almanae the following predictions: / On several occasions during the year the sun will rise besore certain-people discover it, and set before they have finished their day's work. It is quite likely that when no business is doing many will be heard to complain of hard times, but it is equally certain that all who hang themselves will escape starva-

If bustles and hoops go out of fashion, a church pew will hold more than three ladies. If dandies wear their beards, there will be less work for barbers, and he who wears a moustache will have something to speeze

Whoever is in love will think his mistress a perfect angel, and will only find out, the truth of this by getting married. There will be more published than you will find readers, and more bills than will. find payers. If the incumbent of a fat office should die, there will be at least one dozen pair of feet ready to step into one pair of shoes. Many a Locotoco office-seeker will curse his party because he cannot get a fat office. If any young lady should happen to blush, or baste a turkey, she will grow red in the face. If she dreams of a young man three nights in succession, it will be a sign of something. It she dreams of him four times, M or have the toothache, it is ten to one that |she will be a long time getting either of them out of her head.

Any man who spends faster than he earns, will not be any richer at the end of the year than he was at the beginning. Many an old sinner will resolve to turn over a new leaf this year, but the new leaf ? will turn out-blank.

DIFFICULT TO CATCH.

Brisby pays a considerable attention to young lady to this village who rejoices in the sale at name of "Skiddy "-indeed it is whispered around that he has some notion of " getting slung to that gal "-be this, however, as i may, he put on his " Sunday-go-to-meetin'

Brisby stood this, for a while, like a martyr, but at length his equanimity fairly "caved in," and he was fully resolved to know whether it really was Miss Skiddy's intention to have him for a mark to be sneezed at during to have him for a mark to be sneezed at during the whole evening, so he brought things to a crisis in the following summary manner:

idently expecting a delicate compliment "and pray, sir, which one is that." "Your nose, Miss," said Brisby, "for ! perceive that it is continually running." The indignant Skiddy made a rush for the poker, while Brisby bolted for the door in a paroxysm of laughter. 1 "MY NAME IS DORBAL." 'The "influenza" is raging as badly i

New York as in this region. Everybody coughing and sneezing. The Democrat man witnessed a scene at the theatre:

There is a rumor in town of this sort :-One of our principal business men was, with his wife and several gentlemen and ladies invited out to tea, a few evenings since. When all were gathered around the table, the lady of the house having in some way got the impression that our hero was a religious. man politely invited him to say grace. He was taken all aback, but not knowing how to excuse himself, he went ahead after the following fashion: "Oh Lord! have mercy on this table, world without end. Yours respecifully, Amen."

THE LEARNED professor and principal of the Academy of Saumur, used to spend five hours every morning in his study, but was very punctual at dinner. One day, on his not appearing precisely at the dinner hour, his wife entered his study and found him still reading. "I wish, 'Ssaid the lady, "that I was a book." "Why so?" replied the professor. "Because you would then be constant to me." "I should have no objection," rejoined the professor, "provided you were an almanae." "Why an almanae, my dear?" "Because I should then have a new dear. I believed the professor. Should then have a new dear. I believed the professor is the professor of the minimal transfer of the minimal trans one every year." OLD BRIGGS asked us the other day if we could tell why people almost invariably took a journey immediately after marriage? We replied in the negative, and applied to him for information. " Because," exclaimed the misanthrope, they seek for happiness, and feel satisfied that they will not be able to find it at home." Briggs married when quite young, and his wife put on the inexpressibles the first week; so we concluded not to put too much depen-

PLANTING BY THE MOON. We would never write an article on this subject, were it not that our opinion is so requently asked in relation to the matter .-We have no faith in it—we never had any. The belief with some is, that if a fruit tree is planted when the moon is two days old, it will bear the second year, and if another is planted when the moon is twenty days old. it cannot possibly bear until the twentieth year-the influence of the moon at its planting won't let it. Our opinion of this moon power is frequently asked by those who wish o plant fruit trees; but who wish to run no risk by offending the moon. Our uniform answer is as given above.

and will quote an incident pertinent to the In the spring of 1849, we planted an apple orchard of some considerable extent. Having prepared the ground, we planted just when we were ready, and made an entry in our memorandum book, stating varieties, location of each, &c. By reference to the en. try, we find it was "April 13, 1849." And s moon-planting had been spoken of in con. versation, by other planters, we concluded to make a note of it, in connection with our other memoranda. It read as follows:-' Note-six days after full moon." Now.

LIME WATER FOR HENS. During the last season, Mr. Joseph Wilcox, of Wayne county, having occasion to administer lime water to a sick borse, inadvertently left a pail of the preparation in his barn, which remained there for some nonths, serving as a favorite drink for his hens. He soon afterwards found that the laying of his hens was apparently increased to a considerable extent. Being convinced of the (to him) new discovery, he has, during the present sesson, kept his hens constantly supplied with lime water, placed in troughs within their convenient access, and the result was an increase in eggs of nearly four-fold as compared with previous experience. He is willing to share the benefits of the experiment with his neighbors, if they choose to try it; and hence this publication, The newners of the discovery (tho' it may not be new to all) is claimed only as applicable to the mode of imparting the lime in this

MANURING FRUIT TREES. Many fruit trees which have been consifered valueless, may be recovered by being manured in fall and winter; and, during warm days when the surface of the soil is not frozen, even stimulating, manures may be applied, with impunity, and covered with earth. Thus Peruvian guano, now applied, will be so divided through the soil by spring, as not to injure the young spongiols from the roots when they resume growth; whereas, if applied after the spring growth commences, the spongrols would be injured.-Lime, ashes, and other manures appropriate to different soils and trees, may be applied

PRESERVATION OF SHADE TREES. The entire efficacy of a decoction of tobacco in preserving elm, linden and other shade trees from the ravages of the worm, has been most satisfactorily established by repeated experiments. This specific, we learn, has been tried in Washington by the Commissioner of Public Buildings on the elms in front of the Capitol steps, and by the keeper of the grounds at the War and Navy Departments on both elm and linden trees, and in each case was attended with the most perfect success. The decoction is destructive both to the bug which feeds on these trees and to the eggs which it deposits on the other side of the leaf. The proper time for the application is as soon as the leaves are well developed, at which time the presence of the bug may be easily perceived. The cost of the decoction is inconsiderable.

E. B. Hubley, of Reading, in a communication to the American Farmer, states that in 1844 he planted a bushel of common black walnuts in his garden at Orwigsburg, Schuylkill county, where he then resided, about three inches deep and so near together that they touched each other-that the following spring most of them had sprouted—that subsequently the trees were parcelled out among many persons who desired to raise this excellent fruit-and that at last New Year's dinner, his family enjoyed walnuts from his trees, forwarded by his brother, who occupres his place at Orwigsburg, to Readingless than nine years from the planting of the seed. In two hours time you will find all the weevils on the cloth, which must be carefully gathered off that none of the insects may escape, and then immersed in water to destroy them.

"Cast the animal; and with a long, keen, sharp-pointed knite, the flesh should be cut way around the place of discharge, sufficiently to remove to the bone a tough pipe which will be found to have formed there. Nitric soid should then be poured into the wonud, after which a few cleansings, with water, at periods of a week each, will effect a cure.
