B. BANNAN :- You are anxious to learn the opin-ions of your reliaw-outlinens in reference to the General Mining Law. A few facts, briefly stated, Dolars, many win results in the function who have send Dolars. There are no land-owners who have the means, or disposition, to epend such large sums of money upon their estates. The result is inevitable. The ionings of the lower Coal field must remain where it is, and gradually decline, or else stock companies must be formed to raise this money, and develope, the financase resources of the region. The objector may urge that our esti-mates are too high, and that the Carey Shift, at St Clair, is a proof of this. But we must not for-get that there are no other localities in the region situated as favorably as this. Few men have the iron will energy and perseverance of Enoch W. McGinnes, few the liberality of Henry O. Carey and his associates, and there is no other place, so far as we know, where Eighty Thousand Dolars will sink a shaft and propare Collisties capable of mining Three Hundred Thousand tons of the best Cosl, is the Shaft shows, ever mined in the County; such Coal as would induce Walkase & Rothermel, and other shippers at Richmond, if they had the chance, to edvance large sums of mo-ney upon the Collisties in order to score the sales with one collisties in order to accore the sales. ilestios. they had the chance, to edvance large sinus of mo-ney upon the Collisries in order to scotte the values of the Coal. The Carey Collisry is an exception, and the parties interested are fortunate that it is so. Other lands not so well tocsted must remain unde-veloped many years, while trial regions absorb and carry off our trade, misss some plan be adopted to bring more capital to the County. The friends of the General Mining Law believe thut such a Last will contribute much to the desired result.

practical operators who sak for the introduction of Corporations in our midst, but, they are mostly mere speculators. The Governor in his Message mentions a significant fact on this subject, -that since the enactment of the general law to encourage manufactures, in 1849, 5 years ago, there

We were much surprised when he first read of this invention, and were dispised to class it among the numerous hundings of the day. But the Pittsburg editors form us that the furnace is actually in operation in that city; and that they have wingsed the process as above described. It is fertainly one of the most important invention of the age, and will be invaluable to moons of limited meaus, who own property in coal and iron districts .- Balt. Tim I HUNTINGDON & BROAD TORR. THE LOST ARTS .- The art of making the Damascus blade is lost. It is said they were made by welding togetheralternate steel and gold wires, and twisting them in the process. There elasticity and keeiness are almost fabulous. We all remember the stene in Scott's novel, where Richard divided a thick iron bar with a blow of his sword. and Saladin cut in two parts a silk scarf floating in the air, with his Damascus blade.
