Boston, Lincolnshire:

To Professoa Holloway.

Dear Sir,—Mrs. Sarah Dixon of Liquorpond St.,

Boston, has this day deposited before me, that for its considerable period she was severely sufficied with Scrofnious Sores and Vicers in her urms, feet, legs and other naris of her body; and although the first of medical advice was obtained, at the cost of a large sum of money, she obtained no abatement of suffering, but gradually grew-worse.

Being recommended by a friend to try your Ointment, she procured a small pot, and a bux of the Pills, and before that was used symptoms of amendment appeared. By persevering with the medicines for a short time honger, according to the directions, and strictly adhering to your rules as to diet, &c., she was perfectly cured, and now enjoys the best of health. I remain, Dear Sir, you's truly.

> CONGRESSIONAL. SENATE. On Monday. Gen. Cass offered the following resolution: Resolved. That the President of the United States be requested to communicate to the Senate, as far as he may deem it compatible with the public interest, a copy of any correspondence which may have taken place with the Government of the Papal States touching a intesion to the United States. Several Senators spoke on the resolution, expressing great respect for the Pope's Nuncio, M. Bedini, and much sympathy for him in his recent persecutions in New York. Baltimore and Cincinnati—the story of his flaying the Italian patriot, Ugo Bassi, alive being entirely discredited. The people who participated in these demonstrations were denounced in an inverse ratio. After several speeches of this kind, the current was suddenly interrupted by the following: "Mr. Weller said, that ever since the arrival of this person in this country the pub-lic mind has been agitated and excited. The Italians and Germans who had taken part in the revolution of 1848, and who had come to this country in great numbers, believed, whether justly or not, he could not say, that this man took a part in the wrongs inflicted upon them. He regretted that there should be violence anywhere. He did not doubt but that any man, tyrant or oppressor as he may be, could have travelled through Georgia without molestation—but there were few Italians or Germans there to what there were in New York or Cincinnati, and who were an excitable people and easily led away by the presence of one whom they look upon as having been their oppressor and tyrant.— He thought it could scarcely be necessary for the resolution to elicit from Senators a disapproval of violence. It could scarcely be necessary to inform the people of their obligations to observe the law, for the great body of the American people knew full well that there was no safety for property or right but the sanctity of the law—what could then be the object of the resolution? Was it to tell the people that they might not peaceably assemble to express their opinions and grievances. If so, it would not have its effect, for such was a right too well known to them; and if these people, charged with outrage, did nothing but assemble peaceably for such
