Wit and Humor.

APPEARANCES ARE DECEITFUL.

It is well known that Stephen Girard, of Philadelphia, was a sad unbeliever in the honesty of the clergy, and that one of the conditions of the bequest establishing his college, was that no minister, priest, or clergyman of any denomination, should be permitted to share in the management, be employed as teacher, or even be admitted in the building erected by his money. One of our friends recently paid a visit to the great city of Philadelphia; he was a layman in sober earnest, but he wore no whiskers, imperial or moustache; he dressed in black broadcloth, both as to coat and continuations, and most fastidiously required his neckcloth to be of white and spotless linen. Our friend was a man of serious visage, and somewhat long and austere in countenance. His conversation was, however, very different from his looks, and far from being either serious or sedilying—

In fact, his mouth he scarce could ope,
But out of it there sprang an oath—

which is true, even if it is not rythme.

This serious looking gent, this wolf in disguise, paid a visit, as we have said, to the city of Quakers, Killers and Bounders. He visited unchallenged all the lions; he gazed on the curiosities in the Chinese Museum, he witnessed the operations of the Mint, he ate Philadelphia ice creams in Chestnut street, he walked through the mile of beefsteaks, legs of mutton, and baskets of potatoes and peaches in Market street, he looked at the pumps and reservoirs of Fairmount, and the Fairies and the Tormentors did him no harm, respecting his face all shaven and shorn, and also his choker of white linen lawn. At last our stranger bethought him of Stephen Girard, the millionaire, and his college, so munificently endowed and so magnificent in its architecture. He approached the splendid portico, walked up the marble steps, and stood before the antiquated dame who plays the part of janitoress and sacerne in the establishment, the very beau ideal of an itinerant minister of the gospel. There was the black coat and the black cumeoionables, well powdered with the dust of travel, and evincing just the amount of slovenliness that the good souls often display; and there was the not to be mistaken outward and visible sign, the white neckcloth.

"Stop, sir," she cries, in the shrillest and most peremptory tones of antiquated femininity, "it is contrary to the rules for a minister to enter." Scarcely had she uttered her objection, when the ceepiness of the stranger in black echoed through the hall—

"How the h— do you" ——

He did not finish the interrogatory; the satisfied dame, perceiving her mistake, interrupted it with, "O! walk in, sir; but pray don't swear."

THE LAST FIZZLE.

In a College not a thousand miles from ——, Greenbush, a certain Professor of peculiar temperament, who claimed to be a "strictly moral man, but not particularly religious," was wont to attend chapel exercises, not for the purpose of reading and praying, but of marking those who were absent from their seats, while seated. Professor conducted the religious exercises. But one afternoon he found himself, by some mishap, the only Professor in the Chapel. He saw his situation, and proceeded to record absences, most frequently glancing at the door, hoping to be relieved by the appearance of a Christian Professor, but none greeted his anxious vision. His part was performed, and his situation began to be peculiarly embarrassing. For once, the students were profoundly quiet. He plainly saw that he must pray or lose his dignity. He could not do the latter, he must try the former.

Solemnly he arose, and thus began:

"Hem! Oh Lord—hem! Thou art—hem!—very much of a gentleman—hem! and we thank thee—hem—for—why gentlemanly conduct towards us—hem!—hem!"

He could proceed no further, and with a look of perfect discouragement, turning to the students he said:

"Gentlemen, I never undertook to pray before, and I never will again! You're dismissed!"—N. Y. Knickerbocker.

☞ The Portsmouth Tribune is more funny than fastidious. It is accountable for the following:

Bites.—The following will come off a few days since, but many miles from where we now sit:

Two gentlemen fishing—sharp boy appears.

Boy.—Well, sir, any bites?

Gent.—(unconcerned,) Look at 'em!

Boy.—Ya-as—UNDER YOUR HAT."

☞ Lady Mary Duncan was a rich heiress, and Mr. William Duncan was her physician, during a severe illness. One day she told him she had made up her mind to get married, and upon his asking the name of the fortunate chosen one, she bade him go home and open the Bible, giving him the chapter and verse, and he would find out.—He did so and thus he read: "Nathan said to David, thou art the man."

☞ A Cruel Fellow.—An old bachelor who had procured a marriage license for a friend, whilst glancing over it was heard to solilcquize thus:—"Can't do it—would like to, but won't—wan't a wife—would like to have a wife—but must do without so expensive a luxury—wives are expensive—money is scarce—provisions are high—won't consent to give any one authority to spend my money for me—can't do it!"

☞ The Difference.—A correspondent asks:—"What is the difference between a crop of corn in the field, and a crop of corn in a hat?"

"Not much difference, this year, we should guess. The crop in either amounts to only a few necks."

☞ An Over-the-Way neighbor lately posed us the other night, by asking the simplest question—"When is a fish crazy?"—and assured us it was only when the aforesaid fish was in-sane. We left immediately, and went into our own house with a bang of the door."

☞ Chinese Epigram.—Jim, of the Boston Post, is responsible for the following:

As once my dazzled eyes I set
Where Julia's neck and bodice met
She asked what I was seeking
"Cher—cher," said I—"is that your name?"
The lining of your waist I mean."
"No sir," said she, "that's Paris."

☞ Some villains down East perpetrated the following:

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

When woman's rights are stirred a bit
The first reform she pitches on,
Is how she may, with ease and grace,
Just draw a pair of breeches on!

☞ Aunt Kosy was dividing a mince pie among the boys, and when Jim, who had wickedly pulled the cat's tail, asked for his share, the dame replied, "No, Jim, you are a wicked boy, and the Bible says there is no piece for the wicked."

☞ A good reason.—"Mother, this book tells about the 'angry waves of the ocean.' Now, what makes the ocean get angry?"—"Because it has been crossed so often, my son."

☞ A Difference.—Punch says a girl at school would like to have two birth-days every year. When she grows up a woman she objects to having even one.

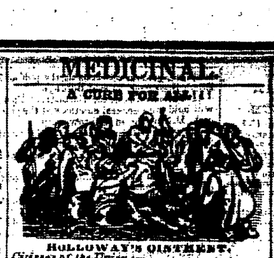
☞ "Is that a lighting bug in the street?" asked a short-sighted old lady.

"No grandma," said a pert little miss, "it's a big-bug with a sigar."

☞ A natural wish.—The Picayune likes Louis Napoleon so wore out with the cares of his position, that he would give anything for a little Nap!

MEDICINAL.

A CURE FOR ALL!!



HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

Citizens of the Union:—

You have done me the honor as with one voice, from one end of the Union to the other, to stamp the character of my Ointment with your approbation. It is scarcely two years since I made it known among you, and already, it has obtained more celebrity than any other Medicine, in so short a period.

THOMAS HOLLOWAY,

ASTONISHING CURE OF SORE LEGS, AFTER NINE YEARS' STANDING.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. W. J. Langley, of Huntsville, Yadkin County, North Carolina, U. S., dated Nov. 1st, 1853.

READ HIS OWN WORDS.

To Professor Holloway,—Sir,—It is not my wish to become notorious, neither is this letter written or the source sale of writing, but to say that your Ointment cured me of one of the most dreadful cutaneous diseases that flesh is heir to, and which was considered by all who knew me, to be entirely beyond the reach of medicine. For nine years I was afflicted with one of the most painful and troublesome sore legs that ever fell to the lot of man. After trying every medicine I had ever heard of, I resigned in despair all hope of being cured; but a friend brought me a couple of large pots of your Ointment, which relieved the sores in my legs in less than a week, entirely regained my health to my agreeable surprise and delight, and to the astonishment of my friends. (Signed,) W. J. LANGLEY.

To Professor Holloway,

We obtained your Medicines from Messrs. Wright & Co., of Chartres-street, New Orleans. I send this from "Home des Princes." Paris, although I had written it at New Orleans, before we finally left, at that time not knowing your address at New York.

(Signed,) E. DURANT.

The Pills should be used conjointly with the Ointment, in most of the following cases:

Notice to the Unfortunate Female.

In this country incumbent upon myself to declare positively the great blessing Dr. Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon has proved to me. For two years my health was miserable; I was almost unable to walk. Physicians pronounced my case falling of the womb. Extensive ulcerations, commencing with fluor albus. The pains, irritation, prostration, and the hideous mental discharge rendered life a burden to me. In this miserable condition, Dr. F. P. Newland recommended Dr. Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon. After taking my Catholicon I find myself in perfect health. Gratitude for my restoration makes me ardently desire that all my sex, alike unfortunate, may find sure relief from this inestimable medicine.

ELIZABETH A. NEWLAND,

The above statement I know to be true.

F. P. NEWLAND, M. D., Utica, N. Y.

Silence on facilitating in saying Dr Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon is invaluable to uterine diseases of females. I have used it in four cases, three of long standing, prolapsus Uteri, and in cases of extensive ulceration of the vagina and os uteri. It is worthy of the praise of the faculty.

J. H. McLean, St. Louis, Mo.—Dear Sir: I was afflicted for fifteen months with rheumatism, so much that I was unable to attend to any business. My legs, arms and fingers were swollen dreadfully, the muscles were contracted, and I suffered the most excruciating pain. I obtained one dozen bottles of your Liniment, which relieved me after six bottles which I shall ever feel grateful to him, and in five days I was entirely well, and I take pleasure in recommending it to the public. And I also add that one of my horses got cast in the stable and was unable to stand up. My families and others of my neighbors are possessed of the same, and they concur with me in saying that no planter should be without a supply of this invaluable medicine on hand. MEDICINAL.

THE CELEBRATED
AMERICAN HORSE POWDER,

A Certain, Safe, Speedy and Effectual Cure for Bots, Distemper, Coughs, Yellow Water, Loss of Appetite, Depressions of Spirits, etc.

The proprietor of the above powder takes great pleasure in calling your attention to an article which excels anything of the kind ever offered for public sanction and patronage.

It has stood the test of many years' experience, and is an exhilarating tonic, as well as a money-making investment; one article substantially and faithfully prepared; composed entirely of such remedies as have been found by practical experience to be valuable for the cure of the diseases for which it is recommended.

It should be in the hands of every Farmer, Farrier and Druggist. No owner of horses should be without one hour, as he will save, if used properly and in time, the lives of many valuable animals.

We ask a trial but to try it. Confident of its utility we deem it unnecessary to enter into any lengthy details of its virtues, but respectfully submit it for the patronage of a discerning public. Also—

THE CELEBRATED
AMERICAN COW POWDER,
A NEW AND VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

Warranted to cure Hollow Horn, and other Diseases incident to Horned Cattle.

Notwithstanding the numerous compounds which are daily offered under the name of specifics, yet there has long been wanted a preparation that would ensure a safe and effectual cure of the many diseases to which every horned animal is subject. The object of the present one, containing ingredients of the most valuable description, is to enable all those who may own cattle afflicted with disease, to obtain a Medicine unsurpassed by any other ever offered. In this composition is entirely omitted the use of tobacco Powder, being adapted expressly to horned animals and their diseases.

It is unnatural and inconsistent to administer the same medicine to both species for the cure of entirely different diseases. What may be valuable as a remedy in one instance, is very often found to be useless in the other. We have, therefore, prepared two remedies of dissimilar natures, which we warrant to eradicate the diseases for which they are recommended.

Use this article once, and we venture to say you will not be without it after.

In the last twenty years many intelligent farmers throughout the United States, and universally given the highest degree of satisfaction.

THE Hydromagen is a valuable discovery for protecting the feet from damp or cold, and therefore a preventative of many Lung diseases, without any deforming. The Hydromagen is in the form of a sole, and worn inside the boot or shoe. Its medical character is a powerful antidote to disease.

Ladies may wear the lightest satin soled boots or shoes in the most inclement weather with impunity; while Consumption, prevailing among the young of our country, may be thwarted otherwise; even a fashion. They entirely supercede corn-shaves, as the latter cause the feet perspire in a very unhealthy manner; and besides, are not dangerous wear to pedestrians in icy weather, like cork soles, but are honored in the proper, and continue to manufacture according to his original instructions, and therefore recommend those who would wear "The Protector," to see to their being genuine.

THE CHEST.

SIR ASTLEY COOPER, BART., M. D.,
THE EMINENT MEDICAL PRACTITIONER HAS LEFT A VALUABLE LEGACY TO THE WORLD IN HIS GREAT

PREVENTATIVE OF CONSUMPTION,
AND UNFAILING CURE OF PULMONARY DISEASES, WITHOUT THE USE OF MEDICINE.

SIR A. C., Bart., invented and advised the use of the Medicated Pure Cod Liver Oil, as a preventative of all ages and conditions, as a certain and powerful agent in those fearful diseases, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, Colds, and other affections of the Lungs, which arise from the applied state of the chest, according to seasons, and the continual changes of our climate.

"The Protector" is simply a chemically prepared fur, lined with silk and padded, which, suspended from the neck, covers the chest, in an agreeable manner that, once worn, it becomes a necessity and a comfort.

"The Protector," although but recently introduced into America, is making rapid progress through the United States; the Canadas, and the West Indies. It has for a long time been a staple article in England and on the continent of Europe, while it bears pre-eminence in many countries to the position of an article of dress.

To demonstrate these facts enquire of any English resident in your vicinity of his knowledge of the beneficial effects of wearing the Protector, without recourse to deceiving or any kind. The cost of wearing these articles is a mere trifle, and one will last some years. No one should be without it. The Lord himself or his family will be without them. The climate in this country are not alone recommending them, but they are manufactured and sold in Canada, by Messrs. Harcourt, Bradley & Co., of London, and Manchester, England, were originally entrusted with the manufacture of the Protector, by the inventor Dr. Cooper, and continue to manufacture according to his original instructions, and therefore recommend those who would wear "The Protectors," to see to their being genuine.

Remember this is a Simple article and no Patent Medicine.
