23 THE MINERN JOURNAL has a larger circulation than any other Newspaper published in Northern Pennsylvania. It circulates among the Coal, Iron and Business men, not only in this and also circulates largely among the masses in Schuyl-kill County, which renders it one of the most valuable Advertising mediums in the Country. But few Papers have so many Capitalists enrolled on their

BANKING FACILITIES-THEIR INCREASE -Upon an adequate and reliable currency depends everything of financial and consequent social healthiness in communities.-Hence that part of Governor Pollock's late Inaugural, relating to Banks, is regarded, we believe, with general favor, as indicative of an official course, on the part of the Executive, that will tend greatly, not only to relieve the present monetary pressure, by reviving confidence in business prospects, but also to establish a wholesome banking system throughout the entire Commonwealth.

His Excellency, instead of taking the broad ground of opposition to all increase of banking facilities, like his predecessor, (though contrary to his professions, the latter subsequently allowed all manner of "shaving shops" to slip through his official fingers), has more wisely marked out the true line of policy-promising to exercise a judicious discrimination upon applications for new banks, and being willing to grant such but only such as are really needed. It now requires but that Governor Pollock should follow up, carefully and decisively, the course he has so favorably prescribed, to commend his action in this matter generally to the business portion of the entire Commonwealth.

Opposed, as we most uncompromisingly banking institutions, there is, nevertheless, both reason and justice in the application for increased facilities, where the business necessities of communities clearly demand them. In these cases, but in no others, do we favor such applications; in which the peculiar nature and extent of the business of the several communities should determine the action of the Legislature and of the Governor.

With these preliminary views of the sub ject, we cannot withhold the expression of our hearty concurrence in the now pending application of the Miners' Bank of this place. for an increase of capital. The business necessities of the community clearly demand it, and the institution is in every way worthy of such favor. The nature of the business of this immediate Region requires liberal facilities, for its proper and successful prosecution, and in their absence our business men are put to great inconvenience in seeking the necessary facilities for the transaction of their business abroad, or are left to the tender mercies worst shared community, perhaps, in the State. The Miners' Bank has the entire confidence and respect of the community, and stands business has always been above suspicion, and no charge of favoritism or of illegal connexion with any sort of brokerage establish ment, so far as we are aware, has ever been raised against it. To increase the capital of clear of Rum, and ignorant and corrupt poli such an institution would be far preferable, for general accommodation, to even the establishthe necessary reputation, for such purpose.

Had it the means to afford sufficient accommodation for the extensive business operations of the place and Region, there would be no necessity, as there now is, to submit to this imposition from abroad. For the same reasons we can see no reasonable objection to chartering a hank in Tamaqua; but on the contrary, every argument of financial policy and justice to that commuof financial policy and justice to that community favors the establishment of such an institution there. The citizens of that place have at present no banking institution nearer them than Pottsville-distant 18 miles. Their business, both in Mining and general merchandize, is already large, and like the town itself, is rapidly increasing. Under the circumstances, we have no hesitation in saying that a bank in Tamaqua is indispensable to the convenience and legitimate prosecution of business, on the part of her people.

The present state of things is as calamitous as it onorable, The shame of this so-called democratic country in being reduced to the howling

We think the conclusion, "that our Democracy is, in plain English, a lie," core rect. It is true Democracy is a principle, and our institutions are Democratic-but those whom the people have selected to carry out this principle, don't seem to understand what Democracy is,-they are, generally speaking, a set of ignoramuses, so far as business is concerned—in fact, a cheat and a fraud upon the community. Take the present Congress, are, to the indiscriminate multiplication of for instance, and how many understand even aftern to thirty thousand dollars extra annually the first principles of business, or any business measure affecting the interests of twenty-five millions of people? Scarcely one in ten. In fact, the only recommendation threefourths of them possessed, when elected, was, that they had shown to the community their total incapacity to make a living by following any business pursuit, whatever; and the people, out of mere compassion, in a great-many instances, elect these ignoramuses and political paupers to Congress to make laws to advance their interests. Democracy is not a lie, but our Democracy, as administered, is a lie-and the majority of its exponents cheats. Again Congress is more like a "Rum Shop," than a deliberate assembly of lawmakers. At least two-thirds tire drunkards and rum-suckers-the most important laws have been passed when a large portion of the members had been plied with liquor, fairly

THE PEOPLE'S MONEY—WHAT IS DONE FITH IT.—On the first page we present an important table, somewhat condensed from the original, showing how the people's money yours and ours, reader is politically distrib uted for safe-keeping and speculation (who will dare deny this last?). We commend it to the special inspection of the Tax-payers of the Commonwealth. No comment of ours is needed, but we append an explanatory letter from Harrisburg to the Phila. North American-the writer doubtless speaks by the card

"This document was drawn from the Treasury "This document was drawn from the treasure. Department by the passage of a resolution in the Senate, and is full of instruction—exhibiting, in a short but comprehensive manner, the system by which state Treasurers have been operating, and the extent to which they have carried their speculation in money they did not own and had no moral or legal right to use. Every man in the lith, who pays taxes, and is interested in seeing them applied to the proper purposes, or who wishes to see wrong rebuked and corrected, should not only look at, but read, and thoroughly examine this table. It tells a simple, yet fearful tale—that of perversion of power, of profitable vi-olation of law. That the public may form an idea of the profits of the transactions dis these few facts should be considered.

"The interest on the public debt is payable on the first of August and February in each year.—Between these periods considerable sums of money accumulate in the treasury, which have been loaned, for pay, to Banks, Savings Banks, Insurance, Contagn. rance Companies. Brokers' Offices and private speculators, scattered in various parts State The amount thus loaned has varied from time to time, as will be seen by footing up the columns, but has seldom been less than a quarter of a million of dollars, and has sometimes rised above six hundred thousand dollars. The aver age amount in the Treasury available for loaning purposes has been at least four hundred and fifty housand dollars, and the average time it has been out between seven and eight months-giving revenue to the Treasurer, at 5 per cent. interest, of not less than fifteen thousand dollars. This is doubtless much less than the profits really real ized, for I have not made the calculation closely against the Treasurer; but it is enough to startle the public mind, and to attract general attention to the subject. When it is recollected that this practice has no license whatever, no shadow o ustification for it in the laws of the commo realth-that, by it, State Treasurers spon amas fortunes, as well as those who are enabled, by this timely assistance, to carry on their speculat less cost than their neighbors, and actually, a the expense of those who are obliged to pay their taxes promptly, in order that they may save the five per cent discount; and that under this system, an officer of the Commonwealth, who is legally entitled to $1800 salary for taking charge of the public funds, and managing them according to the provisions of law, is able to pecket from an approximate idea may be formed of the her neus nature of the offence—of the daring violation of law it involves, and the gross ill-faith and dis honesty which are the mainsprings of the transaction. Had I room to do so, it would be curious t trace the connection between the deposit of the public funds last year, and the effort of certain parties for Mr. Bailey's re-election, as well as to point out the particular localities in which large sums, in the names of different parties," were deposited; but this would carry me boyond reason able limits. There is, however, one feature of the case which ought not to pass unnoticed. I is this :- In the early months of Mr. Baily's in cumbency, the funds were concentrated, but in the latter scattered so as to reach and propitiate as much influence as possible, and attract every practicable agency to secure his re-election; the Treasurer thus virtually using the public money to win influence which no other means could reach to the end that this system of wrong to the people might be perpetrated. Fortunate is it that this exposure has been made; for is it too much to hope that it may be followed by the complete colition of this corrupt and corrupting practice? No subject could more worthily angage the attention of the Legislature than a reform in the management of a number of public departmentsthe correction of evils which previous partizan reeling into their seats in a state of intoxicalegislation was unwilling to make."

In this connection we also extract the following from the Harrisburg correspondence of well, considering the short period of their organare more drunkards in Congress than can be the Phila. Ledger—the whole thing taken together discloses a nice system of gambling with the public funds to enrich certain partizan favorites:

> "In reply to a resolution of the Senate reque ting information as to whether any allowance has month of April last, to the Bank of Pennsylvania, for services as transfer agents of the State for the years 1848, 1849, 1850, 1851, 1852 and 1853, being for salaries of clerks, reut of rooms, &c. The Auditor General never received any direct authority from the Legislature to andit and hay this ac-count, but acted entirely under the constructive power of the Act of 30th March, 1811, after hav ing procured the opinion of the Attorney General that such power could be exercised under the act mentioned. The liberal construction of this act gives the Auditor General very great discretionary nower in allowing money without a direct act the Legislature, a power which should certainly be curtailed. No account of this payment appears in the annual report of the Auditor General, at least not in a specific form?

That the fees of any commissioner or surveyor appointed under this act shall be fixed by the court at the rate usually paid surveyors, and those of the prothonotary shall be the same as in other equity cases, and all the fees aforesaid shall be paid in the first instance by the party ma-king the application, who shall thereupon be en-titled to demand one-half the amount from the other party and enforce the same by execution costs are recovered in other cases.

There is but one opinion among partie knowing anything about the subject, as to the to interfere, directly or indirectly, with the natural course of streams, impair the qualit of the water or obstruct the facilities of navigation, is palpably wrong and ought to be stopped. The only question that occurs to us in connexion with the enactment is its just and equitable operation, arising from the difficulty of fixing, in all cases, the proper limits for such deposits.

Such examples pertinently address every citizen,-"Go thou, and do likewise." Arrangements have been made for the de livery of Prof. Tiffany's lecture, in this place, on Thursday evening next (8th), on America and Americanism, in the Court House. The literary reputation of the speaker, to say nothing of the popular attractiveness of his subject, will doubtless draw together a large audience from all parts of the County. The lectures he has recently delivered in Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and other places, in this connexion, are spoken of in the highest terms of commendation.

Surgery, in consequence of the peculiar branch of industry pursued by our population, finds a large field for its exercise, especially in the treatment of injuries. The management of these is generally simple, in accordance with the plan pursued in the Pennsylvania Hospital. Under this treatment; and in some good degree, also, in consequence of the pure air of our mountain region, most of the injuries which occur do well. It is eldom that an injured part is attacked by crysip-clas; and when this is the case, the discuse easily yields to an appropriate treatment. 🍍 🧚 In obstetrical practice, our physicans are fro-Saturd. 27 21 17 23.65 | Height of Pottsville (corner Sunday 28 26 17 23.82 of Market & 2d. sts.) above Monday 29 50 29 23.68 | mean tide, 633.957 ft.—DisTuesdy 30 21 15 28.99 | tance from Philadelphia, 95 Wedny 31 21 16 23.05 | miles.—Latitude, 40° 44′ Thurs'y 1 19 23 29.93 15".—Population in 1850, Priday 2 16 23 23.88 17,800.

No case of placenta previa; or of puerperal convulsions, has been reported. few cases of hysterical convulsions occurred du ring the summer.

If we would present a general character o Schuylkill County, we should have to class it among the healthy portions of our State. It is true that the mortality (1.44 per cent.) is not be-low the average; but if we deduct the large number of deaths which occur from accidents, and which have no connection with the sanitary condition of the locality, but result entirely from the nature of the occupations of the great mass of the population, we shall find that the mortality is much below the general average. Furthermore, even the mortality from injuries is less than in other localities, the condition of the atmosphere being such as to present no impediment to the surgeon in his efforts to save an injured part, or even the life of the sufferer, in cases where such

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

DEAR JOURNAL:-On Sunday night last, the wind all about here seemed out on a regular "bust," and "went it" on the "blow out" fashion Some of its capers were quite fanciful. One of its greatest exploits performed hereabouts, was to carry off the roof from the Lump Coal Schute of Mr. Brittain's Breaker, and after sundry whirls and turns, landing it in fragments some distance | Church, Market street, Pottsville, on Monday, February from whence it started. One of the fragments, 5, at 21/2 o'clock, P. M. ten or twelve feet square, was carried a distance of forty or fifty yards.

The Inclined Planes below this place, are very nearly finished, and are now considered in workgo far to settle a great social question that has ing order. A few cars of Coal have been drawn The recent fall of enow, combined with the high wind, has caused an almost entire suspension of out-door labor.

It was rumored here this morning that two persons were frozen to death near this place, last taght. The truth, I believe is, however, that one when found, was quite dead, but in the other life was not yet extinct. It is said to-night, that the latter died sometime during the day. The primary cause was Rum. It was on this wise, as I hear it:—The two in the (last) evening, went into some Porter shop, or place where Rum is sold, and purchased a quart. They then went out and climbed into a carf or wagon somewhere near, and commenced imbibling the contents of their canteen. One becoming stupefied, fell out upon the ground and there lay until morning, and when found was quite dead. The other got out of the vehicle, and going some distance, fell to the ground, and when found was just alive.

Had there been no rum-shops or other places where rum could be purchased, these two unfortunate beings might still have been alive; and who will say if rum were absent, or out of reach, that they (as well as thousands of others who have met death in various ways: through the same instrumentality) would not now he useful members of society and a blessing to surrounding friends?
