IMPROMPTU ON A LADY WHO SQUINTED MUCH If uncient poets Argus prize Because he had a hundred eyes. Sure greater praise is due to you, Who look a hundred ways with two.

TO A BOTTLE. 'Tis very strange that you and I Together cannot pull, For you are full when I am dry, And dry when I am full.

LIFTS TO LAW STUDENTS .- Question. What is the difference between a fine and a recovery? Answer. A fine is for getting drunk; a recovery is the feeling you come to experience when you find yourself in a station-house. Q. What animals come under the description of "Game?" A. Timid witnesses, and female defend-

When is it necessary to commence a Q. fresh suit? A. When the other has become too ventilating or seedy. Q. What is a release?

A. To exchange the society of your ugly aunt for that of your pretty cousin. Q. What is a Clerical error? Preaching a three hours sermon. What is the settlement of conveyance? When an omnibus smashes a small carriage.

What are breaches of trust? Trowsers procured on tick. What are incumbrances? Poor relations. Q. What is a mortgagee in possession? A. An uncle.

Q. Mention some of the princical law books, which you have studied. A. Hoyle's law of Whist, Cribbage &c. Q. What are original writs? A. Pot hooks and hangers. What steps would you take to dissolve an injunction?

A. I should put it into some very hot wa ter, and let it remain there until it was melted. Q. What is an original Bill? A. Don't know, but think Shakespeare is the most original bill on record. That will do this lesson.

To MAKE home interesting, every time your husband comes in, 'up and tell him' that Bridget has broken another one of them yaller platters,' and then branch of on 'those distressed people' up stairs, who will persist in throwing potato parings into the front area. Having disposed of this, tell him that the buttor he sent home is string enough to null a tow boat, while the beef-steak which, came from Mutton's the butcher, arrived just in time to get up a fight between the Maltese cat and old Stubbs' brindle dog-a fight that terminated with the loss of the steak and a gain of two quarts, of assorted hair. As soon as this strikes in,' tell him the wood is out, and that ! Mr. Anthracite has sent round again for the amount of that coal bill. If you would throw in here a few hints about your wanting a new dress, and that little Bobby looks as if he was getting the small-pox, the effect will be electrical. Wives who like to have their husbands smell of hot toddy and segar smoke, should presented ent the above our ligid practice on it.

Consumerious. A conjunction means literally, a union or meeting together. An illassorted marriage is a comical conjunction. But our conjunctions are used to connect words and sentences, and have nothing to do | Faner Silks. with joining hands. The Siamese twins form a singular conjunction. A tin pot fastened to a dog's tail is a disagreeable conjunction to the animal. A happy pair may be regarded as an uncommon conjunction. Conjunctions connect similar moods and tenses of verbs and cases of nouns and prinouns: as "A coat of arms suspended on a wall is like an executed traitor: it is hanged, drawn and quartered."

SAPOLE and Harness manufacturers, Philadelphia, beg to call the ted traitor: it is hanged, drawn and quartered." ted traitor: it is hanged, drawn and quartered." "It you continue thus to drink brandy and water, and to smoke cigars, you will be like Boreas, the north wind, who takes "cold without" wherever he goes, and always blows a cloud when it comes in his way." "Do you think the site of their present in the parties of their present in the parties of their present in the saved from the late fire, and shouling to recommence business on their old stand, as soon as it is recorrected, with an entirely new stock, now offer to sell their present stock, consisting of every description of bouble and Single Harness, Ladies, and centlemen's Riding Saddles, and every article in the trade, at a very heavy deduction from the original cost, and respectfully invite its inspection by the public generally, to think there is anything between him and her!" "Yes, he and she are engaged ones."—Comic

IMPORTANT TO SPORTSMEN.—Not long since a vouthful friend of ours accidentally swallowed a lead built; his friends were very naturally much alarmed, and his father, that no means might be spared to save his darling boy's life, sent post-haste to a surgeon of skill, directing the messenger to tell him the circumstances, and urge, his coming without the securety lavested for the superior safety and can received. The doctor was found-heard the dismal tale, and with as much unconcern as he would manifest in a case of common headache, sat down and wrote the following laconic note: Sir-Don't alarm yourself. If after three weeks the bullet is not removed, give the boy a charge of powder. Yours, &c. P. S. Don't aim the boy at anybody."

A Good Reason.-A friend narrates the following as an actual occurrence: A teacher in a Sunday School in R-, was examining a class of little boys from a scripture catechism. The first question was, "Who stoned Stephen?" Answer-"The Jews." Second question: "Where did they stone him?" Ans. "Beyond the limits of the city?". The third question, "Why did they take him beyond the limits of the city?" was not in the book, and proved a poser to the whole class; it passed from head to foot without an answer being attempted. At length a little fellow, who had been scratching his head all the while, looked up and said, "Well, I don't know, unless it was to get a fair fling at him."

BIG THOUGHTS .- The "Doctor," a great Webster hater, was sitting upon "Matt's bench," talking against Webster as was his custom: "Ralph Waldo Emerson's ideas," said he, "will live forever, while Webster's ideas will die with him; Emerson's ideas have force, have power, but not so with Webster's." "That's a lie," said Matt, "and you know it. If one of Daniel Webster's, big thoughts got into Ralph Waldo Emerson's head, it would split it open like a pitcher with ice in it!—

YESTERDAY morning, about 4 o'clock P. M. a small man named Jones, or Brown, or Smith, with a heel in the hole of his trousers, committed arsonac by swallowing a dose of suicide. The verdict of the inquest returned a jury that the deceased came to his facts in accordance with his death. He leaves a child and six small wives to lament the end of his untimely loss. In death we are in the midst of life.

A Person meeting with a coal merchant, inquired what a chaldron of coals would come to. The coal merchant began to consider. and knowing that the question was put to him from mere idle curiosity, deliberately answer eil-"Sir, if they're well burnt they'll come to

DR. SWAYNE—Dear Sir. I feel it a debt of gratitude due to you—and a duty to the affilieted generally, to offer my humble testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. Some three years since, I was violently attacked with Cold and Inflammation of the Lungs, which was accompanied with a very distressing Cough, and pain in the breast and head; a very considerable discharge of offensive mucous from my Lungs especially upon changes of weather, however slight. At first I felt no slarm about my condition, but was pretty won convinced that I was of weather, however slight. SUCCESSFUL GRAPE CULTURE.

ing received several inquiring letters in s-tion to Mr. McKay's method of cultivar.

the grape, I have concluded to ansarthrough your columns. I should have it ere this, had I received the following it mation from Mr. E. A. McKay, of Nari Ontario county, sooner. In an article headed "A profitable ace. western New York," published in your pecting the quantity produced. Instant ten tons, the actual yield was a little me-000 fbs of grapes on an acre. But this r still be considered a great yield, and a reprofitable one. Mr. McKay says that amount over 10 cents per th, which he. Said acre was planted in the sping 1848, one half with vines one year old in the remainder with those aged two years 160 vines to the acre, or a rod apart eway. Mr. McKay thinks on a middling se to give them the greatest amount of sand. of refuse from the currier's shop, and egdead oxen, a drove of which had been en into Naples at the commencement (; ; ter, and a large portion of them having: also uses well rotted barn-yard manure, avines now measure on an average orinches in circumference around the body is there any essential difference in size

For planting, pits were dug from 21 to 3. deep and 6 to 8 feet in diameter. At the tom of the pits he placed, "ten heave! 15 during the winter and spring. Mr. Mc. 312 all fresh and unfermented manures tween the parts of the vineyard planted r one or two year old vines. They are traon wire trellises 8 feet high, running pa north and south. No. 12 iron wire is rec the Reading Railroad to complete the connexions with the Dauphin and Susquehanna and Cutawissa Rail- 2 feet above the ground, and a similar mended, with a wooden slat 5 inches re along the top of the trellis. He take fruit from his vines until the 4th fall r planting. The first year but one the car every alternate hud is allowed to grow, trained to the slats at the top of the up and strapped here about the first of Sesber. The fourth season, the vines wi abundantly, but a vine of 3 inches (around the body) should only be all as bear 5 ths of fruit, and be increased: lbs for every additional inch of girth : extent. This can be safely done with

The ground between the rows of vines be cultivated with any low vegetable or: desired, which will help defray a large tion of the expenses of cultivation. M Kay also cautions against heeding the w. of nurserymen frequently given, to vines as near together as 6 or 8 feet. Such has been the success of Mr. M that his experience must prove acceptably all those who are about to begin the care tion of this agreeable and healthy frun well cultivated, it will pay well. Nor bar any danger of too many grapes being z and the market overstocked, at least forz years, since the demand increases faster the supply, as all cultivators well know The Isabella grape is perfectly hardy t climate. - Cor. Country Gentlemen.

How to MAKE GUANO .- Save the : from your hen-roost. . I bushel of hen manure. 4 quarts of plaster. 4 " " ashes.

Mix well together. Now is the time? it. This is equal to any guano that ever transported over the big waters. Try it satisfy yourself, and it, will save a great pense to the farmers.

UNDERDRAINING PAYS. - A COTTES at Lancaster, N. H., writesh "I shad of land that was so wet that cattle could go on to it. I underdrained it, and be up late in the fall of 1853, and plaintel potatoes without plowing or a particle nure. The piece yielded over two bushels per acre, and were sold at per bushel without sorting." This is acre, and doubtless pays the whole of draining, cultivation, &c.
