...ick" gives the following humorous ...his shrewd bargain with a cheese-...

"I will find," said the Doctor, "the men ...the other sex always) are as acute ...at a bargain. You are more like ...an than to bite, if you try that game ...

"Give a dollar," said I, "I sell that old ...ger as a clock. What, a Cheesecook-...nah for a Yankee! Come, I like that; ...is good. Here goes for a trial at any ...

"Guesses," said I, "have you any wood to ...

"I didn't need no wood, but it don't do to ...to ask for what you want, or you can't ...ything.

"Yes" said he.

"What's the price," said I, "cash down on ...nail" for I knew the critter would see ...print" of coming down with the blunt.

"Ten dollars and a half," said he, "in ...Halifax, and it don't cost me nothing ...

"Sure for I have my own shallop—...for ten dollars to oblige you."

"Ten dollars more than it was ...

"That's not high, only cash ...barrel (which was two dollars ...value) praps we might trade.—...sell me twenty-cord?"

"Twenty-five," ...may be twenty-five."

"And the mackerel," said I.

"Oh," said he, "mackerel is only worth three ...llars and a half at Halifax. I can't sell ...ne even at that. I have sixty barrels num-...er one, for sale."

"If you will promise me to let me have all ...the good I want, more or less," said I, "even ...if it is ever so little, or as much as thirty cords, ...ten dollars a cord, real rock maple, and yel-...birch, then I will take all your mackerel at ...and a half dollars, money down."

"Say four," said he.

"No," said I, "you say you can't get but ...and a half at Halifax, and I won't beat ...down, or advance one cent myself. But ...rain, if I oblige you by buying all your mack-..., you must oblige me by letting me have ...the wood I want."

"Done," said he, so we warped into the ...harf, took the fish on board, and I paid him ...the money, and cleared fifteen pounds by the ...peration.

"Now," said I, "where is the wood?"

"All this is mine," said he; pointing to a pile ...containing about fifty cords.

"Can I have it all," said I, "if I want it?"

He took off his cap and scratched his head, ...scratching helps a man to think amazingly.— ...He thought he had better ask a little more ...than ten dollars, as I appeared to be so ready ...to buy at any price. So he said,

"Yes, you may have it all at ten and a half ...dollars."

"I thought you said I might have what I ...wanted at ten."

"Well, I have changed my mind," said he, ...it is too low."

"And so have I," said I. "I won't trade with ...a man that says that way," and I went on ...board, and the men cast off and began to warp ...the vessel again up to her anchor.

...Lewis took off his cap and began scratching ...his head again, he had overreached himself. ...Expecting an immense profit on this ...wood, he had sold his fish very low; he saw I ...was in earnest, and jumped on board.

"Captain, you will have him at ten ...as much as you want of him."

"Well, measure me off half a cord."

"What!" said he, opening both eyes to their ...full extent.

"Measure me off half a cord."

"Didn't you say you wanted twenty or thirty ...cord?"

"No," said I, "I said I must have that much ...if I wanted it, but I don't want it; it is only ...worth three dollars, and you have had the ...modesty to ask ten, therefore send a half but I ...will take half a cord to please you, so measure ...it off."

He stormed and raved and swore, and ...drops his cap down on the deck and jumped ...in, and scratched on his arm as if he was ...going to fight, and screamed out his wrongful ...fate, as if it made his losing easier, and foam-...ed at the mouth like a boss that has eat lobe-...lin in his hay.

When the fly ...breaks, what becomes of the fragments?

"SAY, what letter in the alphabet do you ...like the best?"

"Well, I don't like to say, Mr. Wright."

"Pah, nonsense; tell right out. Favs, which ...do you like the best?"

"Why, (blushing and dropping her eyes) I ...like U, you, best."
