PULLING THE WRONG BELL

I have heard a story of palling, which, as many of my readers may be ignorant of, and as it is worthy of telling, also being myself in a gossiping mood, I will now even out with it. A fine Western steamer, of the largest class, was plowing her way down stream with a "full head on." The time was early morning; the sun had not yet cooled his fiery beams in the murky waters of the Mississippi; few of the passengers were astir; and the boat, quiet and still, save the regular scream from her iron throat, was making fine headway.

Suddenly the engineer's bell rang out a furious and alarming summons, which being translated into the vernacular, meant-Slow her!" The man at the steam obeyed the mandate, and with his hand upon the lever, awaited auxiously the next call. It soon came, louder yet, "Stop her!"

"Some trouble ahead," thought the engineer; but hardly had the idea passed through his mind, when the busy bell again pealed forth-"Back her!"

Steam was let on in an instant, and siezing the lever, the man commenced working the engine by hand; but the wheel had not yet completed the first retrogade revolution, when a louder fintinabulation tinkled out succes-

- 3 eively-"Go ahead!" "Slow her!"

"Back her!" "Go ahead!"

Having obeyed the last command, and supposing all was right at last, the man quitted his post for a moment, and stepped out upon the guards to see what the trouble had been, when suddenly the over-busy bell again was heard:

"Slow her!"

Before he could put his hand upon the screw, the bell again ordered: "Stop her!" immediately after, "Back her!" and "Go shead!"

Instead of going ahead, the engineer scratched his own, and then applying his mouth to the speaking tube, addressed the pilot thus-but stop, let us turn for a moment to the pilot, and see what was going on in his dominions. ments at his post, and was not fairly awake, when the bell commenced its mysterious operations, but sleepy as he was, the queer antics of the boat, and the strange language of the steam pipe, excited his attention, and he had arrived at the conclusion that something was wrong, at the same moment that identical idea had forced itself upon the engineer; so applying his mouth to his end of the tube, the following remarks were sent up and down simultaueously: "What in thunder are you about, up there?" "What in thunder are you about, down there?"

es. Allen's Revolvers. Rifle Barrels

Having, like two vessels about commencing an engagement, fired these shots across their bows; the twain-went immediately into action as follows: Pilot.-Who told you to "stop her" and "back ber?"

Engineer .--- You did; what did you ring the bell for twenty times?"

Pilot.-You must be a nice fellow to trust, Mr, "Kettles," to get drunk before sunrise. Call your mate and turn in.

Engineer .- Drunk! Drunk yourself; ] hav nt had a drop, and you're just lying drunk that's what it is. Pilot .-- Look here, "Old Kettles," hold on a bit, and I'll be down on you like a thousand of brick. Engineer .- Dou't trouble yourself to come down. I'll be up there in two shakes, and then we will see who is drunk, and who is down. Pill be up there in two snakes, and then we will see who is drunk, and who is not. Now this backing and filling had excited the attention of officers and crew, and as the pilot and engineer having obtained relief; met hadway down on the "boiler deck," captain and clerk, mate and steward, barkeeper and chambermaid, all hastened to the post of ob-servation, and ere the two combatants could join issue, they were seized and held, and an ing estigation of the affair was entered into. investigation of the affair was entered into.

While all this was in progress, neither boat nor bell had been touched, but the same singular succession of orders was going on, and the two assistants, above and below, were meditating a little affair of their own, when that of their principals had been satisfactorily concluded. The mystery was apparently past solution, but the captain bethought him of a possible cause, and stepping to a stateroom, in the "social hall," kicked the door open, and there stood a lanky young Tennessean, who had embarked at Memphis the previous night, very actively jerking at a cord that ran through his room in the further corner. Seizing him by the collar, the captain demanded, "What are you about?".

"About!" answered the Tennessenn, "why, don't you see I'm ringing for my boots?". Pulling the wrong cord, that was all.

A SAILOR, the other day, in describing his first efforts to become nautical, said that just at the close of a dark night he was sent aloft to see if he could see a light. As he was no great favorite with the lieutenant, he was not hailed for some hours.

"Aloft there?" at length was heard from the lientenant. "Ay, ay, sir." "Do you see a light?" "Yes, sir." "What light?" "Daylight, by jingo."

A CONDUCTOR ordered Pat-who had no money-to leave at the next station. "Aye, Sir."

But to judge of the Conductors surprise and wrath, to find him aboard when fairly np-

Barry, Exq.-Dear Sir:-At your request I have tried Marian's Marie Isain in the various complaints for which it is recommended. I fake great pleasure in ad-ding mine to the long list of testimonials in its favor. I candidly confess that its effects have surprised me, in Burns, Rheumatisms, Neuralgia, Sc., by its proinpt ac-tion and certain relief. It should he found in every man's heuse, as an invaluable antidote to pains, of all kinds. I have tried it in my own family, and found that it gave the relief it promised. Yours, truly, WM. H.
