Wit and Humor.

THE EDITOR.

The Editor sat by his easy chair,
His books and his papers around him there;
He played with his fingers among his hair,
And oft came an idea every where.

He seized his pen to the table he flew,
As large wit brighter each idea grew;
The manuscript then, through the genius' power,
Grew longer and stronger every hour.

The Editor rose in his own esteem
Till his head nearly touched the rafter-beam—
Ah thought what a noble soul have I,
What a pity this I should ever die!

"The clink of life—were it only mine,
In centuries hence I'd blaze and shine,
I'd dazzle all minds by the power of my brain,
Like me even kings would be proud to reign.

"From the depths of the sea to the clouds on high,
No creature would live more mighty than I,
From the poles of the North to the Antartic sea,
No being on earth but would bow to me—"

The Editor started—leaped from his chair—
O, what a catastrophe!—laugh if you dare!
A bottle of ink o'er his pages did stream,
And woke the poor Editor out of his dream.

A SPEECH.—The editor of Harper's Magazine pulls the following scrap from his "drawer:"

Many a verdant Congressman, fresh from his constituents, has found the floor of the national bear garden quite a different theatre for the display of his abilities from the tavern or the store up country, where he has been wont to hold forth to his admiring friends. Mr. Collier, who became one of the leaders in the Lower House, was taken all aback, when he was first on his legs in the hall. He rose and said, "Mr. Speaker."

"The gentleman from New York," said the Speaker.

It began to grow dark in front of the rising member, but he managed to exclaim again, "Mr. Speaker."

"The gentleman from New York," said the Speaker.

By this time attention was arrested, and the sudden silence was even more confounding than the uproar in which he had risen. Once more he cried out, and now on the verge of despair, "Mr. Speaker."

"The gentleman from New York," said the Speaker, with the faintest smile of compassion on his face.

But no words came to hear the thoughts of the embarrassed member, and turning to a friend sitting next to him he burst forth—

"I say, Ellsworth, do you know where I can charter a knot-hole for a fortnight?"

That was his maiden speech. His next was a decided hit, and he speedily rose to the front rank of speakers in the House.

POPULAR THE QUESTION.—The Springfield Republican adds to the story of the man, who, when told by his landlord he could not leave his house until he paid his bill, replied, "Good, just put that in writing, make a regular agreement of it; I'll stay with you as long as I live!" the following:—It must have been the same individual who, too poor to get married, was yet too susceptible to let the girls alone; and of whom it told this circumstance: He was riding with a lady "all of a summer's day," and accidentally—men's arms, awkward things, are ever in the way—dropped an arm around her waist. No objection was made for a while, and the arm gradually relieved the side of the carriage of the pressure upon it. But of a sudden, whether from a late recognition of the impropriety of the thing, or the sight of another beau coming, never was known; the lady stared with volcanic energy, and with a flashing eye exclaimed: "Mr. B. I can support myself!" "Captain!" was the instant reply, "you are just the girl I've been looking for these five years—will you marry me?"

THE BUTCHER'S WIFE—A Domestic Drama.—"Riley, dost thou love me, dearest?"

"Why asketh thou, Helendra?"

"Not that I fear thy answer, dearest Riley, but because I love to hear thee speak—say, dearest Riley, dost thou love me?"

"Ask the stars if they love to twinkle, or the flowers to smell, or the rose to bloom. Love you! As the birds do warble, or the breeze wafts its balmy influence—why asketh thou me, flannel of my heart?"

"Because my soul is grieved; care has o'ercast the joy that once spread sunshine o'er thy face; anguish sits upon thy brow; and yet your Helendra knoweth not the cause. Tell me, my aching heart, why droops my soul—has mutton riz?"

"No, my Helendra—thank the gods, no; but my credit's fell. Clearer, from this time forth, sells next for cash."

Helendra faints, screeches, and falls into her husband's arms: in the anguish of the moment he seizes a knife, and stabs himself over the left.

AN IRISHMAN in Rhode Island was about marrying a girl who had a pretty sum of money. Now the priest hearing of this, desired to get a piece of the money, and told the bridegroom he would charge $25 for performing the marriage ceremony.

"It's rather high, your reverence, "said the latter.

"Then I'll not marry you," replied the priest.

"Very well, your reverence, I'll go to some other priest."

"I'll excommunicate you."

"I can go to another church."

"Then I'll not let the girl have you."

"There's plenty of others, your reverence, and I've been thinking, your reverence, that the churches and girls are very much alike—if one won't have ye, another will."

A FREAK OF GENEROSITY.—One of the most penurious of bachelors this afternoon after attending the opera, was guilty of making a gift under circumstances somewhat original. He entered a millinery store and accosting a very pretty attendant, inquired the price of a hat which he saw in the window. She took it out, and in order to show its beauties, placed it on her own head, with just pitch enough to make it taking. The old bachelor admired it, and pulling ten dollars from his pocket, concluded to buy it. The attendant took the money, and with pencil in hand, inquired where she should send it.

"Wear it yourself my dear," was his blunt reply as he left the store.—Boston Gazette.

"WHAT'S THAT horse out of?" said a fellow, with a view to quiz a farmer's boy, who was riding an old horse which showed less blood than bone.

"Out of?"

"Yes, what's he out of; do you know?"

"Yes, I do."

"Well, what?"

"He's out of oats."

A YANKEE has just invented a method to catch rats. He says: "Locate your bed in a room much infested by these animals, and on retiring, put out the light. Then strew over your pillow some strong-smelling cheese, three or four red-herrings, some barley-meal or new malt, and a sprinkling of dried codfish. Keep awake till you find the rats at work; then make a grab."

A DELICATE CREATURE.—Youthful Swell.—"Now, Charley, you're just in time for breakfast; have a cup of coffee?"

Languid Swell.—(probably in a Government office.)—"Thanks! No! I assure yah—my do-ah fellah! if I was to take a cup of coffee in the morning, it would keep me awake all day!"

TWO IRISHMEN in crossing a field, came in contact with a jackass, which was making daylight hideous with his unearthly braying. Jemmy stood for a moment, turning to Pat he remarked:

"It is a fine large ear that bird has for music, but he's got a wonderful cowld."

PRINTING AND PUBLISHING.—A young lady explained to a printer the other day the distinction between printing and publishing, and at the conclusion of her remarks, by way of distinction, she said—"You may print a kiss on my cheeks, but you must not publish it."

GUARANTEEING A HORSE.—Officer.—"Didn't you guarantee, sir, that the horse wouldn't shy before the fire of an enemy?"

Horse Dealer.—"No, more he won't. 'Tisn't till after the fire that he shies."

A QUIVER FULL OF DAUGHTERS.—Happy is he who—according to Lord Granville's new version—has a quiver full of daughters; and happier still, if all are in the quiver meet with the proper beau.

A REVILER OF IRELAND.—Snobson thinks that there is no reason for Ireland's poverty. On the contrary, he says that the Green Isle should be one of the richest in the world, since her Capital is always Dublin!

DON'T JUDGE FROM APPEARANCES.—It won't do to conclude that a man is always happy when he is "smiling," or that he is a house-builder, because you often see him with a "brick in his hat."

THE GAME of fashionable life is to play hearts against diamonds.

"I SPEAK within bounds," as the prisoner said to the jailer.

MATCHES! MATCHES!!
JOHN DONNELLY, Manufacturer and Inventor of Safety Patent Square Upright Wood Matches, No. 106 North Fourth Street, (Over Race,) Philadelphia. Matches having become an indispensable article in housekeeping, the subscriber after a great sacrifice of time and money is enabled to offer to the Public an article at once combining Utility and Cheapness. The Inventor knowing the danger apprehended on account of the flimsey manner in which Matches are generally packed in paper, has by the aid of new Steam Machinery effected his own intentions. Exceeding in getting up a Safety Pat out Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far preferable inasmuch that it occupies no more room than the ole round wood box, and containing at least Ten Hundred per cent. more matches, which to shippers is considerable advantage: it is entirely new, and secure against moisture and spontaneous combustion, and dispels all danger on transportation by means of Railroad, Steamboat or any other mode of conveyance.
Those matches are packed so that one gross or more may be shipped to any part of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets that have ever been invented.
Dealers and Shippers will do well to call and examine for themselves.
☞ These matches are WARRANTED to be superior to anything heretofore offered to the Public.

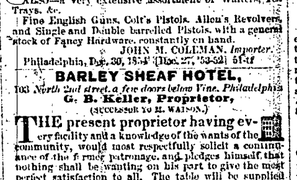
PATENT METALLIC COFFINS!



READ! READ!!
MR. H. GRESSANG has been appointed Agent for this county, for the sale of "FISK'S PATENT METALLIC BURIAL CASES."
Which supercedes all other kinds in use. Being perfectly air-tight, it effectually prevents the escape of noxious gases, and preserves the body from immediate decomposition.—They are particularly suitable for transporting the body from one place to another. The face is covered with a thick glass, with metal to match the coffin or case, at any time, and the face of the corpse seen by its friends or relatives. We might give you hundreds of certificates, to corroborate our statement as to the advantages the Metallic Coffin has over the Wooden, but the following will suffice:

WASHINGTON, April 6th.
Gentlemen—We witnessed the utility of your ornamental "Patent Metallic Burial Case" at the recent interment of the late Hon. John C. Calhoun to the Congressional Cemetery, and is impressed us with the belief that it is the best article known to us for transporting the dead any distance, or their final resting place.
With respect, we subscribe ourselves, yours, etc.,
(Signed), Henry Clay, Lewis Cass, Dan. Webster, Wm. R. King, Jeff. Davis, J. M. Berrien, J. Y. Mason, D. R. Atchinson, A. C. Green, Wm. P. Mangum, Henry Dodge, D. S. Dickinson.

A MARVELLOUS REMEDY!
For a Marvellous Age.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.
The Grand External Remedy.
BY the aid of a Microscope, we see millions of little openings on the surface of our bodies. Through these this Ointment, when rubbed on the skin, is carried to any organ or inward part. Diseases of the Kidneys, disorders of the Liver, affections of the Heart, Inflamation of the Lungs, Asthma, Coughs and Colds, are by its means effectually healed. Every humane body knows that salt passes freely through bone or meat of any thickness. This healing Ointment far more readily penetrates through any part of the living body, curing the most dangerous inward complaints, that cannot be reached by other means.
Erysipelas, Salt Rheum & Scorbutic Humors.
No remedy has ever done so much for the cure of diseases of the Skin, whatever form they may assume, as this Ointment. No case of Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Sore Heads, Scrofula, or Erysipelas, can long withstand its influence. The inventor has travelled over many parts of the globe, visiting the principal hospitals, dispensing this Ointment to the poor, and by its application, and has thus been the means of restoring countless numbers to health.
Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Wounds & Ulcers.
Some of the most scientific surgeons rely solely on the use of this wonderful Ointment, when having to cope with the worst cases of sores, wounds, ulcers, glandular swellings, and humors. Professor Holloway has, by command of the Allied Governments, dispatched to the hospitals of the East, large shipments of this Ointment, to be used under the direction of the Medical Staff, in the worst cases of wounds. It will even in many cases, glandular swellings, stiffness or contraction of the joints, even of 20 years' standing.
Piles and Fistulas.
These and other similar distressing complaints can be effectually cured if the Ointment be well rubbed in over the parts affected, and by otherwise following the printed directions around each pot.
Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunions	Sore Legs
Burns	Sore Breasts
Chapped Hands	Sore Heads
Chilblains	Sore Throats
Fistulas	Sores of all kinds
Gout	Spavins
Lumbago	Scalds
Mercurial Eruptions	Swelled Glands
Piles	Stiff Joints
Rheumatism	Ulcers
Salt Rheum	Venereal Sores
Skin Diseases	Wounds of all kinds.

☞ Sold at the Manufactories of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and 244 Strand, London, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers of Medicines throughout the United States, and the civilized world, in Pots, at 25 cents, 62 cents, and $1 each.
☞ There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.
N. B. Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each Pot.

A Truly Wonderful Cure!
The following highly interesting statement of the case of Miss Naomi Wilcox, well known for character and respectability to a large portion of the citizens of St. Lawrence county, is truly worthy of attention and is so well authenticated that the most skeptical must be at once satisfied of its correctness:
To Dr. Swayne, Philadelphia—
GOUVERNEUR, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., Dec. 16, 1854.
Dear Sir—Having experienced very great benefit from the use of your COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, I feel bound, as an act of humanity, to recommend this most invaluable medicine to others. More than eight years ago I fell into a gradual Catarrhal Consumption; and notwithstanding the use of many other remedies, I continued to grow weaker, and more and more disordered in my Lungs and Stomach until myself and my friends despaired of my life. My digestive powers became so exhausted that I could not bear the lightest kind of food, except in the minutest quantities. In this condition, at the request of my brother, I began to use your SYRUP. Almost immediately I d rived great benefit from it. In less than three days after commencing the use of small doses, my stomach began to recover its natural tone and power—gradually every bad symptom began to give way, and in a few months I recovered to a state of comfortable, though not perfect health. I have no hesitation in saying that to your "WILD CHERRY" I owe, under God, the continuance of my life, and a degree of health far beyond my expectations. I have since had attacks of the same old symptoms, but in every instance I have resorted with perfect success to the use of your medicine.
NAOMI WILCOX.
GOUVERNEUR, N. Y., 16th Dec., 1854.
I certify that the above named Naomi Wilcox, is my s
