THE PANGS OF ABSENCE.-A fair corre pondent, whose beau ideal of manly beauty, recently sailed for Europe, without (the wretch) bidding her adieu, in propria persona, writes in the following touching, heart-breaking manner, on the subject, to us: But how can I broach the subject ever nearest to my heart-"Snobs?" That name is written in my heart of hearts! I hear it in my dreams. 'Tis music to mine ear! But ah, shy dwell on pleasures past?

I defined to finish my take of woe; but I shall never be myself again. When my friends at a distance once more visit me, they will behold a pale, attenuated (how dreadfully she must have "fallen away,") form, instead of the once blooming Mary. Ah! lovely youth, (that's us,) may you never know "how fraught with bitterness, is unrequited love"! hearing a Datch triend of our give a direction to his son, which may be consi ered a practical commentary upon Lord Manfield's dic-"Hans," said he, "go to the mill right off, Dere ish no corn meal." "Yah," said Hans, "and dere ish no corn shelled neither." "Nein? Vell, den, Ttells you. How much corn Schmidt borrows? you know ven-last year sometimes."

"Vel, pout von bushel," replied Hans. "Yah, so I tink too. Take de mare, Hans, and tell Schmidt you come for de corn vat he borrows. And Hans, take a couple of bags mit von, mine son Hans. Schmidt have a very short memory. Hans, and tain't worth viles taking one bushel to de mills. Hans."

"Hege you little rascal, walk up and give an account of yourself. Where have you been?"

"After the girls, father." "Did you ever know me to do so when I was a boy?" "No, sir, but mother did!"

A Judge of Pork .- "No man," says Mrs. Partington, "was better calculated to judge of pork than my poor husband was; when he was a living man, he knew what good hogs were, for he had been brought up among 'em from his childhood."

An imaginative Irishman gave utterance to this lamentation: I returned to the halls of my fathers by night, and I found them in ruins! I cried aloud, "My fathers, where are they?" and euho responded, "Is that you, Pathrick McGlathery ?"

There are two things about this herb that appear to me surprising; first that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful; and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846—second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853. I peddled it and sold about six bottles per day—in April, 1854. I sold over one thousand bottles per day—in the anuals of patent medicines was over like it.

Some of the wholesale druggists who have been in the business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the anuals of patent medicines was over like it.

A discovery of this age of progress. In the way in from a distinguished member of the medical profession:

St. Piul., January 1, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dan Sin:—Unsolicited, I send you this certificate. After being nearly baid for a long time, and having tried all the half restoratives extant, and having no faith in say, I was induced, on hearing of yours, to give it a trial. I placed myself in the hands of a barber, and had my head well rubbed with a good, allf brush, and the Restorative then applied and well rubbed in, till the scalp was all aglow. This I repeated every morning, and in three weeks the young hair appeared, and grew rapidly from August last up to the present time, and is now thick, black and strong—soft and pleasant to the touch, whereas, before it was harsh and wiry, what little three was of it, and that little there, was disappearing rapidly. I still use your Restorative about twice a week and shall soon have a good and perfect crop of hair. Now I have read of these things—and who has not:—but have never seen hitherto, any case in which any person's hair was really benefitted by any of the hair tonies, &c., of the day; and it really gives me pleasure to record the result of my experience. I have recommended your preparation to others, and it already has a large and general sale throughout the Territory. The people here saw its effects, and have confidence in it. All who have used it here's will coincide with me in what l hace written. The supply you sent us as the wholesale agents for the. used it here will coincide with me in what have written. The supply you sent us as the wholesale agents for the Territory, is already exhausted, and daily inquiries are made for it. You deserve credit for your discovery. I, for one, return you thanks for the benefit it has done mefor I certainly had despaired long, long age, of ever effecting any such result. I conglatulate you that your fortune (and a large one) is already made.

Yours hastily,

J. W. BOND,

Firm of Bond & Kellogg, Druggists. Prof. Wast-Dran Six:—Having made trial of your lair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say that its esfect has been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff, and a constant tendeucy to itching with which I have been troubled from childbood, and has also restored my hair, which was becoming gray, to its original color. I have used no other article with anything like thapleasure and profit.
