Choice Poetry. A DOMESTIC SCENE.

'Iwas early day—and sunlight streamed.
Set through a quiet room,
That hush'd, but not formsken seem'd—
Still, but with nought of gloom;
For there, secure in happy age,
Whose hope is from above,
A father communed with the page
Of Heaven's recorded love.

l'ure fell the beam, and meekly bright On his gray holy hair. And touch'd the book with tenderest light, As if its shrine were there: But oh! that patriarch's aspect shone
With something loviler far—
A radiance, all thespirit's own,
Can ht not from sun or star.

And silent stood his children by,
Hushing their very breath,
Before the selemn sanctity
Of thought o'er sweeping death;
Silent—y, t did not each young breast,
With love and reverence meit?
Oht blessed be those fair girls—and blest
That home where God is felt.

PENNSYLVANIA SOAPSTONE. - An American offin of the victim he had helped to poison in London, in a communication to the Lonind strangle.
Nicholas has now been added to the numher of deceased czars: His struggle with causes which contributed to the formation of teath lasted through Thursday, the 1st of March, 1855, and ended soon after the succeeding day commenced. The event, an poch in itself in the politics of Europe, is of Soapstone in Cornwall, seem to have produced the same result in Pennsylvania. He says: "On the banks of the river Schuylkill, ten miles above Philadelphia, the gneiss which, alternating now and then with mica schist and lot less note in the annals of scientific skill. for the first time in the history of the world, porphyry, has prevailed for the whole of that ntelligence of the decease of an imperial podistance, is succeeded by an extensive tract of tentate has traveled by land without horse or serwentine. The gueiss is much invaded by chariot, and has crossed the sea without the veins of trap and granite; and, at the juncsaid of ship, sail, wind, or steam. For the first tion, a great dyke of granite shows itself crosstime also, death's doings on the banks of the ing the river. It is at this precise spot that the Neva have been known on the day of their sonpstone, in massive, irregular deposits, is seen. Nodules of serpentine are is cluded in ccurrence, on the banks of the Seine and the Thames. Along telegraphic wires, tidings hat the czar was no more were transmitted the deposit. The citizens of Philadelphia have his brother in-law at Berlin, his daughter good reason to remember this spapstone, since for a long time the doorsteps of their houses Stutgard, his sisters at Wiemer and the lague, while widely separated courts and were invariably made from it. The czar expired at ten minutes after midnight; and on the same

"A singular fact attending the occurrence of this deposit, may also be here mentioned. The soapstone is interspersed with little nodules of iron pyrites. The portion of the rock in which this is most abundant wears off into a sugary substance . On being analyzed by a young Philadelphia amateur chemist, Theo. Rand, this substance was found to contain 8 per cent. of epsom salts-(sulphate of magnesia.)"

THE DEAD BABE.—There are few things which appears as beautiful as a young child in its shroud. The little innocent face looks so sublimely simple and confiding amongst the cold terrors of death. Crimeless and fear-less, that little mortal has passed alive under the shadow, explored the mystery of dissolu-tion. There is death in its sublimest and purest image; no hatred, no hypocrisy, no HOME AND WOMAN -- If there has been a duke Constantine."
