THE COAL TRADE.

The quantity sent this week by Raile al is 21. 15 13 tons, against 21,385 01 tons for the corresponding week last year. Total 227,129 07, against 266,073 tons to same period last year.

The weather was quite moderate vesterday and the snow and ice was freely melting and running sway. A week or ten days of such weather would materially lessen the damages likely to be sustained from a freshet in case of a sudden thaw and rain. There is less snow on our mountains than below.

. The Canal last year opened the first week in March, and up to the first of April about 55,000 tons were shipped. This year, from present appearances, it is not likely to open much before the first of April. From Richmond, in all probability, no shipments can take place before the 10th of March, respondent of the Buffalo Express, attempts if then. The business will start late from all the Regions this year.

In Boston Anthracite Coal is becoming scarcethe retail prices remain at the rates quoted last week. In New York, the retail price has advanced one dollar a ton. The Pennsylvania Coal Company is selling at $6-and Schuylkill dealers at $6,50 per ton of 2000 pounds retail. COAL FALLING SHORT .- A suit is now pending in Court in New Bedford, Mass., for the recovery of the freight paid on Coal which fell short in weight. This subject is becoming a serious evil to the trade, and every effort, consistent with the rights and interests of all parties, ought to be made to remedy it.
