POTTSVILLE, PA-SATURDAY, AUGUST 23, 1858.

THE AUBURN AND ALLENTOWN BAILEDAD-THE NEW JERSET CENTRAL, &C .- As everything which refers to the proposed Auburn and Allentown Bailtingle State that Mr. Fillmore has the remotes road, is at this junctate, interesting, we ask attention to the annexed notice of this important Bine, contained in the last Report of the Central Heilroad of New Jersey. In the Report which is dated June 1st, 1856, but which has just been published in New York, the paragraph we extract is found under the head of "connecting lines"in which category we might remark, the Beading and Lehigh Road is not referred to. The Auburn iarity.

Road is thus noticed : "The link of Road from Allentown westward to connect with the Pennsylvania Central railroad to connect with the requestions contrast with the and thus form an air line of unbroken gauge from New York to Pittsburg, still remains to be sup-plied. Important as this enterprise is to the ountry through which it will pass, a country rich in soil, in cultivation, in minerals, in everything but avenues to a market; to the city of New York and the Western States, brought by this channel into more intimate connection; and to the Central railroad of New Jersey, which it will cor your most inveterate opponents. supply with an entirely new source of traffic; it cannot be much longer delayed. these links are so obvious to all concerned, and especially to the business classes of New York, especially to the busiliess times of a furbishing irivals, and presents monthly an array of illustrations the comparatively small amount required for its

The importance of the Auburn and Allentown Railroad to the trade of this section of Pennsylvania, is not questioned. It is a fact readily admitted. The most interesting query, has been, how are the grades of the Central Jersey Railroad a road which forms so important a portion of cur preferred Coal route to the harbor of New York ! The Report from which the above extract is made, relieves all doubts on that score. For the gratification of this community, which is warmly interested in this route, we make the following extract, which proves that on the score of grades, not to mention distance, this proposed continuous Coal route to a favorable shipping point, is the best to which the attention of the people of this Region has yet been directed. The extract in regard to grades, &c., of the Central Jersey Railroad, is as follows:

"Many small variations in the grades of the older part of road below Somerville have been cor-rected, and the reduction of the heavy grade at-Scotch Plains, from 45 to 21 feet per mile, has been finally effected. It is a matter of some credit to our efficient superintendent and engineer, that this reduction, involving, as it did, the entire roconstruction of three miles of road, raising or lowering the track in some as much as 16 completed without accident to trains or interrup tion to the business of the road; the regular pas
