The Thing Explained. Some, even of those who expect to vote the Free Kansas ticket, seem not exactly to under-stand how that matter is arranged. Others, through similar ignorance, say they wish to vote directly for Fillmore, and so propose to yote the "straight out Fillmore ticket." Now, let us say to these last two things: .
First, you do not rote directly for Mr. Fillmore by voting the "straight out ticket." You vote for electors. Ingersoll, Stawert and twenty-five others. And that is just what you do on the Free Kansas rectly for Mr. Fillmore by voting the Free Kan-sas ticket; because there is a fair chance of the success of that ticket, in which case Mr. Fillmore will certainly get some electoral votes, while notoriously there is no chance for the "straight out ticket." The free Kansas electors, if successions ful, will divide the vote of the State according to the votes cast, respectively, for the tickets headed John C. Fremont and Millard Fillmore. Thus, if the Free Kansas ticket should get 220,000 votes, and if half of these should be headed John C. Fremont, and half Millard Fillmore, the electors will cast thirteen for one and thirteen for the other. If either should get 150,000 out of 220,000, that one will have, say, eighteen electoral votes, and the other eight. Thus, those who are in favor of Fillmore will be sure to have some electoral votes. for him: and those who are in favor of Fremont for him: and those who are in favor of Fremont will be sure to have some electoral votes for him. Is it not true, then, that by Mr. Fillmore's friends voting the Free, Kansas ticket, they vote for the man of their choice even more directly than by voting the "straight out ticket?" No one expects that that ticket will be elected. Consequently not a vote will be cast directly for Mr. Fillmore by those who vote that ticket. Messrs. Ingorsoil, Stewart & Co., will get so many thousands of votes; but not a particle of good will Mr. Fillmore get from it. On the other hand, by voting the Free Kansas ticket, even should it be voting the Free Kansas ticket, even should it be unsuccessful, the number of those in favor of Fillmore will be as distinctly known as by voting the "straight out ticket," and if it should be successful, Mr. Filmore will certainly have more or less votes. What true friend of his can hesitate? The reason for forming this ticket was simply this. The whole opposition to James Buchanan in Pennsylvania, agree on one point-Opposition to the Extension of Slavery-but they disagreed on men and some other minor points—neither party could succeed independent of each other-therefore the honest voters of all parties agreed on a Union Division Ticket, which would unite all the honest opponents of Slavery on one Ticket, which will cast its vote for each candidate according to his strength—and they sustain the principles of all on the Slavery question, without any compremise of principles whatever, on minor points that enter into the canvass.

WHOLESALE LYING. It seems notwithstanding the general good feeling that exists in this State among the Fillmore and Fremont men for the Union Electoral Ticket, that there are men here and there professing to be Americans, who are emulating the conduct of Sanderson. There is not a lie which can be concocted calculated to injure the prospects of the sincere opponents of Buchanan, which is not industriously circulated, and stuck to with a perseverance worthy of a better cause. For instance, it is asserted that the Union Electoral ticket is purely a Fremont ticket, and will in any event be counted off and go for him. Now to show how basely false is the assertion, we ask attention to the annexed Etreams of water must be expected in slopes in a similar situation, when they are sunk on the coal vein, indeed a slope is a very likely class for them to be metwith, and from the position I have found those streams under the deers of deep mines, I may infer that in many cases water will be flaund breaking through the floor of the mines at the bottom of the slope, and originating from surface springs, at a short distance from the inverth of the alope. In such a tase it is an easier mafter to slop the water from running to the bottom of the slope, than pump it up again. It may be tapped near the mouth of the slope and run off by way of an adit, or pumped to the top of the slope for the use of the botters, as it is generally good spring water before it descends into the rous acid gas, with which it becomes saturated. When water its stuinated with sulphurous acid gas, it shoughs oxygen from the air until a portion of sulphuric acid is held in solution with the water. It is this solution that acts with such disastrous effects upon all iron; implements exposed to its action such as pumps, feed and water pipes, and boilers. PUBLIC SALE OF

IRON OR EL LAND.

N SECOND DAY, (Monday,) the Joth of Eleventh month (November.) will be sold a fine FARM, of between 80 and 90 arres, situated in West Vincont township, Chester county, Pa, about 5 miles from Phenix II and 2 miles from Chester Springs.
The mill stage from the Phenix III Railroad depot, to Chester Springs, passes through the Rarm, offering facilities to those who wish to view the premises.

This Farm, though admirably adapted to agricultural purposes, and lying in a beautiful section of country, is especially valuable on account of its mileral weath. Lying in an Iron Ore region, and adjacent to mines which have for year's bern extensively worked, it is known to contain IR-N ORE of which there are doubtless large quantifies lying beneath the surface.

About 12 acres of the above Farm is woodland, heavily set with large timber. The remainder is almost all farm land of the very best quality, in a high state of cultivation, and dying beautifully for tillage. The improvemants rice a fine young Apple Orchard, a large and substantial Sprine Dwelling, a large Stone Barn, Wegon house, Capitage-house, and other ontbuildings.
