An/Epplish traveller, angious to learn somethis of the character and habits of the people of this country, and stopped for the night at a log tavern, when greatly to his surprise and constarnation, the following uproprious scane took

The company now began to increase, and seve ral men with their rifles and powder horns came Lewis eners, boatmen, de. antil the room was so completely crowded, that a person could not have scrouged the little end of nothing between them; some mered at the hottle some smaked land in, and they were soon followed by a posse of wagscrouged the little end of nothing between them; some tagged at the bottle, some smoked long nines, and played seven-up, between the other's legs, until our traveller found that his situation began to be rather uncomfortable, and requested the host to have him shown to his chamber. He had scarcely defied his outward self, and thrown himself between two cotton sheets, which might have sold well to a tallow chandler, when the hum and betta below gradually swelled into a confused bellowing and howling, the foundation of the house trembled to the stamping and shuffling of the property of the stamping and shuffling of the property of the property, which is undertained from the subscriber, at his fleat Estate Agency, in Hailroad street, Pottsville, Pa. The terms are half cash, and half mortgages bonds. FRANCIS SPENCER!

AVALUABLE RED ASH COLLIERY

THE subscriber, being desirous of rebellowing and howling, the foundation of the house trembled to the stamping and shuffling of feet, and his care were assailed by such sounds'ss these:—"I can chase a streak of lightning round a black jack!" "Rip Roan—the bridle's broke; here's a corn-stealer, who can drive a wedge spontinecously through the Table Rock!" "May be testotally twisted if I can't rum-squaddle two like you, you-jimber-jawed razcal!" "Gonge himpore, and holsting suchine, with pumps and all the necessary machinery, in perfect order; one 35 horse ongine and blocker; schules, bins, screen, hoisting plane and stock, all in good order. The colliery comprises the celebrated Sponne a pitch, that the Englishman thought all the imps of the lower regions were let loose upon him—tremblingly he arose from his bed, and shrieked aloud for the waiter. Isam came, and rubbing alond for the waiter. Isam came, and rubbing tle bit. We hab same like dis ebery night." The Englishman only grouned, and bade the negro begune. His care, in a short time, became familiar to the horrible sounds and he fell asleep. In the morning, when he awoke, all was quiet, a and putting on his clothes, he descended to the bar-room to order his horse. There were but two persuns in the room-Isam, who was succeping the floor with a birch broom, and a stranger who sat moping in the chimney corner. Isam was gathering up some strange-looking things of globular form, and throwing them into a bushel basket, which was nearly full.

"Vot ave you got there, boy?" inquired the cockney, rolling one of them over with his foot, and examining it; "I didn't know that grapes grew to such a size hin this country." "Golly! massa-dat no grape; I'm goin' to trow away dese eyes dat were gouge out last it night." The Englishman started back with horror; his bair bristled, and he scarcely knew which way to turn to shun the dreadful scene. Summoning fortitude, he went up to the stranger, who CHARGING A JURY .- An Arkansas correspon. dent of the New Orleans Picayane writes to that paper :-- You are fond of cracking jokes at the expense of Arkaneas; now here is one on your own State, absolutely true. I got it from an eyewitness. The district court in one of your northern parishes was in session—'twas the first day of court: time, after dinner. Lawyers and others had dined and were setting out before the hotel, and a long, lank, unsophisticated countryman came up and unceremoniously made himself one of 'em, and remarked: "Gentlemen, I wish you would go on with this court, for I want to go home-I left Betsy a looking out." "Ah!" said one of the lawyers "and pray, sir, what detains you at court?"-"Why, sir," said the countryman, "I'm fotched here as a jury, and they say if I go home they will have to find me, and they moughtn't do that as I live a good piece."

"What jury are you on?" asked a lawyer. "What jury?" "Yes, what jury? Grand or traverse jury?" "Grand or travis jury? dad-fetched if I know?" "Well," said the lawyer, "did the judge charge

"Well, equire," said he, "the little fellow that sits up in the pulpit and kinder bosses it over the crowd, gin us a talk, but I don't know whether he charged anything or not." The crowd broke up in a roar of laughter, and the sheriff called court.

Oct. 25, '50. COLLIERIES FOR SALE.

FOR SALE — Two of the most valuable Collieries in Schuyikiil county, Pennsylvania, viz; the BLACK MINE COLLIERY at Poctsville, and the BROCKVILLE COLLIERY at Prockville, and the BROCKVILLE COLLIERY at Brockville.

The subscriber now residing in this city, and being unable from other occupations to give to these Collieries the personal attention which they require has been induced to offer them for same at the opening of one of the best seasons which has ever occurred in the mining of Anthractic Coal.

THE BLACK MINE or York Farm Colliery at Pottsville, embraces all the free burning Red Ash weins of Coal in Schuyikill county, and the product has always been in great demand and met with a ready sale at the highest prices in the New York and New ngland marketa. During the past summer, an expenditure of $20.000 was made at this Colliery in taking a new lift on the Black Mine wein. The property is now in a splendid condition, and capable of producing annually 40,000 tons of very superior Red Ash coal. The Slope has a first rate iron T rail, and all the roadson theoutside are laid down in the same substantial manner. It has a breaker operated by a twenty horse engine, with rollers, large screens, and all the fixtures become property, such as Cars, Wagona. Teams, Mules &c., which will be reld with it.

as Cars, Wagons, Teams, Mules &c., which will be sold with it.

At the BROCKVILLE COLL ERY, a tunnel has recently been driven to rut the celebrated Toucarrer vein which runs through the whole estate for nearly one mile, and which is now in a very fine condition. The two engines at the Stope and the Breaker, and the Iron Drift Cars (of which there is a large number) were made by Haywood & Snyder. All the reads have been last down with the Trail, and all th. fixtures and improvements which have been made upon this valuable property are very advantageously arranged for chorp working. Under a careful and active management, this Colliery will produce annually a large quantity of Coff, for many years to come. The stone Storchous and other property in the town of Brockville, will (if wanted) be included in the sale. n the sale.

CLARK'S PATENT FLOURING MILL.

The Great Invention of the Day.
THE subscriber announces to the citi-The Great Invention of the Citisens of Schuykill county that he has secured the light to sell EDWIN and JAMKS M CLARK'S new Patent Flouring Mill, which is pronounced the greatest American invention of the day. The subscriber has one of these Mills in full operation now. In Tromont, where its invites all persons to call and see it in operation.
This highly ingenious and much needed Invention, torms an entire new feature in the manufacture of Wheat into Flour: and the splendid manner in which it perterms its work; Gridding, Bolting, and separating the grain at a single operation into seven different qualities of Flour and Feed and that within a space of only twenty-one feet in length by four feet in breadth, at the ramidity of twelve, bushels per hour, on a pair of Fronch lurr millistones only thirty inches in diameter. The Grain is converted at a single operation into Extra and Superfine Flour; Fine Flour, Middlings, Shipstuffs, Shorts and Bran, any power being applicable to propel it, from a tour horse up to any other desired. The small space it occupies would not be missed when placedin a room with other machinery, and the small amount of power it requires to propel it, makes it certain that, ere long, it will supercede and revolutionise all other Flouring Mills. So applicable is this Mill to the wants of the world, that every saw-mill, ma-hime shop, locomotive abop, foundry, longs, rolling mill, on any brilding baving a power alreaity erected, can how have within its walls a complete Merchant Flouring Mills. As the triding cost of from four to seven hundred dollars, and thus the enormous amount integrated, can now have within its walls a complete Merchant Flouring Mill.at the trifling cost of from four to seven hundred dollars, and thus the enormous amount of Grain raised within the United States, can be converted into Flour within its limits.
With one of these Mills nearly every large Colliery es tablishment in this county where steam power is used tor pumping, should be supplied. They could be erected at a small expense and would enable them to manufac ture their own flour.
This Mill only occuples the space of 21 feet in length, by 4 in width. It is also portable and when put up can be placed in a wagon or dray, and with a single horse lauled to any part where they desire to use it. Its construction is so simple that it can be connected with any engine by a single shaft.
Single or Township Rights will be disposed of by the subscriber, residing at Tremont. Hundreds of certificates from Millers and others who have seen the Mill in operation, can be seen at the residence of the subscribes.

BOOTS OF TREES AND TURNIPS. A. writer in the Country Gaulleman gives some soful information on this point. He says: The practice adopted by many cultivators nit shows that the distance to which the trees extend their roots is but very imperfectly under tood. We allade more particularly to the price tice of digging or loosening small circles of carth at the foot of the trunk, or of working the wil up nellow but a short distance off. We have recent ly made some measurements to prove the length of the roots of the peach trees. A number of young trees of equal size, and all of the same variety (the Tillotson), were set on a piece of ground of uniform quality, at the same time. They were equally cultivated for two or three years, and grew plike. For the most two years the ground has been allowed to become covered with grain, which has been partured; but near one side of the orchard, a heap of old straw, manure, etc., ha been deposited, but has not been worked into the suils consequently all the fertility which the roots have obtained has souked into the soil. The trees are now about two and a half inches in diameter, and ten feet high to the tip of the highest branches. The following are the effects of the beap of manure and litter already described. The tree which stood within two feet of this heap, and whose roots could freely extend under it cames side, has made a growth of shoots the past season more than four feet and a half long. The next tree, seven feet off, bad grown over two feet. The third tree, fifteen feet off, made a growth of joursen fackes. The fourth tree, twenty-three feet off, and all others at greater distances, made no growth more than about eight inches. The four teep-inch shoots weighed about triple the eight-inch shoots, and the two-feet shoots fifteen times as much, those which grew four and a half feet about seventy times as much. The experiment proves conclusively, that trees ften feet bigh will send off their roots in search of nourishment to a distance of fifteen feet, and what they thus get on one side only, or through about one fourth part of their roots, will increas their shoots to triple weight. Consequently, i a tree of this size stood in grass, a circle of fertil. ity thirty feet in diameter, or fifteen feet distant on each side, would greatly increase its thrift ness; decidedly more, according to our own experiments, than if a circle only four feet in diame or were dug about the fact of its trunk.

result would be quadrupled according to the preceding experiments. 'Altogether, these results show the great impor trees, only ten feet high, and two and a half inch. en in diameter, even if placed thirty feet apart. have already extended their roots so far as to me

If the circle of fertility were only fourteen fer in diameter, or approached within seven feet, the Turupa .-- An experiment was made by the celebrated Jethro Tull, to determine the length the roots of the turnip. A piece of hard as sterile ground was selected, and an oblung sta dug out of it, about a foot wide at one end and eight feet wide at the other. This space was iled with rich earth, and a row of turnips planted along the middle. Those at the narrow end wee smallest, and they continued to become largeral the way to the wide end, showing that the recu from the bottoms of these bulbs extended four feat each way. Doubtless the fibres from the roots of most weeds and other plants are quite as hag, and if so, the fallacy is evident of the practice commonly adopted, of leaving a narroy strip of FURSI FURSI!

And Arch streets, Philadelphia, has opened his splendid stock of Fancy Furs description for ladies and children, and wishes the public to examine them before rurchassing elsewhere. As they are all manufactured under his own supervision, he warrants them to be perfect in every respect and as cheap as those of any other establishment in the city. He has also on land a magnificent assertment of children's Fancy Hats and Caps of the latest styles, heaulfully trimmed also every variety of Moleskin and Felt Hats for gents; is died Ridling Hats: Umbrellas, &c., all of which will be sold at prices to suit the most careful purchaseus.
