Wil and gamer. EEVER COURT BUT ONE! Every body to the village

Knews he's been a wooing me,
And this morning he was riding

White that yang; Anpu Lee.

They may he smil'd upon her
As he canter'd by her side.

And I'll wirnth you he's promis'd

To make her soon his bride. Hatrisburg, June 14, '86 But I've finished it, the letter,
From this moment he is free—
He may have her if he wants her,
If he hoves her more than me.
He may go—it will not kill me—
I would say the same, so there,
If I keen it would, for firling,
It is more than I can bear. It is twilight, and the evening
That he said he'd visit me—
But no doubt he's now, with Anna;
He may stay, there, took for sue!
And as true as I'm a llving,
It he ever comes here more,
I'll act as it we never,
Never, never met bafore. ASHLAND. It is time be should be coming,
And I wonder if he will;
If he does, I'll look so coldiy—
What's that shadow on the hill?
I declare, out in the twilight;
There is some one could mear—
Can it be? yes, 'its a figure.
Just as true as I am here! Now, I almost wish I'd, written
Not to him that he was free,
For perhaps 'twis but a story
That he ride with Anna Lee.
There, he's coming thro' the gate-way,
I will meet him at the door,
And I'll ell him still I love him,
It he'll court, Miss Lee no more! Ashland, May 10, 36 TAHAQUA. MINE GOOT POYS DON'T PLAY ON ME MIT TE ENCHINE OF ST SANUEL TYLER READ. The summer of 1849 welcomed to the students of Jamestown University (thus we will call it) a little bit of a Dutchman, not in the guise of a stuilitis bit of a Datchman, not in the guise of a student, but with the imposing and overbearing demanor of "Prof. Shankleton Von Cram, A. M.; Profssoor of Latin, Jamestown University."

Collegians winked knowingly at each other as the little sour krout goaleman stratted up the walks, entered his apartments at No. 86 East College, and closed his door behind him with a dignified, I'm professor air.

Two weeks had passed away, and the only tokens bestowed upon the newly arrived Professor, were sacers of disapprobation. First impressions, of the part of the Sophomores, had become lasting ones, and at every recitation, Von Cram was found the same false, dignified, iron-hearted Jonah amid his literary erew. DONALDSON.

found she same false, dignified, iron-hearted Jonah amid his literary erew.

All is still. The old University towers up from its foundations, like an ared Cyclops who has left his sub. Extnean forger and in the stillness of night has raised his huge head and shoulders from the mouth of his cave, to gaze on the works of nature and of man. The old chapel clock has just tolled the requiem of the gone day; and as its sonofous tones of the surrounding hills, it seems as if one heard in them the feeble wails of the infant morrow. Prex." and Prof." Tutor and Patron, are all bound prisoners, in the camp of Morpheus.—Von Cram slumbers at No. S6, little thinking that such calms as he is now cojoying, precedes the storms of college life. Poor man! Those pleasant dreams of sour krout and guilders and Dutch love will soon be interrupted, and the mazes of desaminal will be forn from his eyes, like cobwebs from the palace of Thrift.

We will cast our eyes down towards the twen. The still damp brieves comes to tell us, like the bribed watchman of Jericho—"All's well." A distant murmar, just like the humming of contending rephyrs, attracts our ear. Forms begin to appear, accending yonder steps which lead up from the common to the college buildings, and each with a careful tread bears upon his shoulders a large white burden. They are returning from a tempenter's ahop in the village; which they have robbed of as many shavings as each could wrap large white burden. They are returning from a carpenter's shop in the village, which they have robbed of as many shavings as each could wrap up and the in the sheets which he has carried thence from his bed for the purpose. They adance and carefully deposit sheir burdens in a pile sneath the window of No. 86. This is one scene the laying of the plot.

From the floor, hear the door of 86, there rises a flight of stairs to the second story of the building. At the summit of the stairs there is a level platform. Here we see chairs with tall backs, and chairs with short legs, chairs with long legs, and chairs with short legs, chairs with long legs, and chairs with short legs, chairs with (almost) no seats at all, coming together from all parts of the college. At last they are all stationed at the top of the stairs, and one of the students is left to take chayge of the second seens in the laying of the plot.

At the bottom-of the stairs are two of the single in the loor, of the stairs and in silence around, watching the upportation with mute interest. Three four-quart syringes, filled with water ready for use, lying in the floor, complete the properties of scene third, which another students is left to superintend.

And now the door and window blinds of the Professor's room dre securely fastened upon the outside. The stlent students throng around No. 86, like bees around a hive. One takes a card of matches from his pocket and stations himself by the stavings. Another steals up into the chapel matches from his pocket and stations himself by the shavings. Another steads up into the chapel belify.
Now all is ready. All hold their breath and pause in mute excitement. The moment has come, A barning match is quickly, applied to the crackling shavings, and "Fire!" "Fire!" "Fire!" echoes and re-choes, in tentorian notes from a hundred throats, around among the massive walls and adjacent bills. The chapel bell's "ding, dong," adds a doleful accompanionate to their hideous yells, and chairs begin to come down the stairs, clattering and ruttling together in almost deafening confesion. "O, mine Got! Mine Got! Mine Got! Tis puilding is all purnt down!" exclaims Prof. Von Cram, is he jumps in ghostly "dishabille" from his bed. us be jumps in ghostly "dishabille" from his bed.

A fiere jet of water, from a syringe, through the suger-hole in his door, greets him in the face.—

He purses to catch his breath, and as the contents of another syringe follows him around the room, and his dodging is ineffectual, be sjaculates—

"O, mine goot puys, don't play on me mit te enchin, but 'elp me out o' dis 'orrid blase!"

The tones of the bell, the confused shouting of the students now mit them. the students, now and then a chair rolling down the stairs, and darkes of cool water from the rethe stairs, and dashes of cool water from the replenished syringes, do not, in the meantime, cense: and the old building shakes with the uproar.

Shouts of "There, North College has fallen in!"
"Eart College begins to totter!" "Pour on the water, boys!" "Did you see Joues fall from that Jadder?" "He's broke his back." "Smith's obvered up in the rains of North College!" "O, mercy! mercy!" "Help! help!"
"Fire!" "F—t—r—e!" "F—i—r—e!"

The uproart is reducabled. One of the students.

goes to the suger hole in the Professor's door, and errection.

"Perf. Von Cram is in his room; he'll be burnt to death! Help him out! Help him out!"

And from the room of the Prof. comes a voice— And from the room of the Prof. comes a voice—

Now the students all shout, "Save the Professor"

The nighteaps which were thrust out from so many windows in the village below, are all withdrawn, and the owners have quietly fain down again upon their beds, with the sage conclusion in their uninds that "it's nothing, after all, but some of those offliege boys having a time."

The morrow dawns. Prof. Von Crain sits by his bedside, the picture of a stranger in a strange place. 'Around his door are slops of water, and here and there a fragment of a broken chair to be prepared article.

CLARK'S PATENT FLOURING WILL.

The Great Invention of the Day.

THE subscriber unnounces to the citi-ENHE subscriber announces to the citi zens of Schuyikilf county that he has secured the light to sell EDWIN and JAMES M CLARKS new Pabent Flouring Sill, which by pronounced the greatest American invention of the day. The subscriber has one if these Sills in full operation now, in Tremont, where he invites all persons to call and see it in operation.
This highly iugonious, and much needed invontion, torus an entire new feature in the manufacture of Wheat into Flour; and the splendid manner in which it periorus its work, Grinding, Bolting, and separating the grain at a single operation into seven different qualities of Flour and Feed, and that within a space of only twenly-one feet in length by four feet in breadth, at the rridility of twelve bushels per hour, on a pair of French diurr millstones only thirty inches in diameter. The Girain is converted at a single operation into Extra and Buperfine-Flour. Fine Flour, Middlings. Shipstuffs, Shorts and Iran, any power being applicable to propel it, from a flour horse up to saiv other desired. The small space it necupies would not be missed when placed in a room with other machinery, and the small amount of power it reiquire's to propel it, makes it certain that, eye long, it will supercede and revolutionire all other Flouring Mills. So applicable is this Mill to the wants of the world, that every saw-mill, ma blue shop, locumotive shop, foundry, love, relling mills, o. any building having a power airesengine by a single shaft.

Single or Township Rights will be disposed of by the subscriber, residing at Tremont. Hundreds of certificates from Millers and others who have seen the Mill in operation, can be seen at the residence of the subscriber J. A. L. TICE.

feast at the poor farmers' expense. Cieero made some allusion to the very significant grin with which Roman Soothsayers were wont to greet each other, when passing in the streets. They were conscious of the humburgery they were practising upon their dupes, and they could not repress the grin of triumph when facing each other. We do not know that our Wheat Speen laters give the same outward signs of joy which characterized their Roman prototypes; but they would be amply justified in doing so. Since the first of August they have had everything their own way. "Whent dult and declining," has been the grateful bulletin that greeted their early every morning; and the more depressed the more larger the farmers to be victimized.
