In the days when we was young "Oh! If the make the strength of the business commands a happy throng of youngsters, who, after having spent a delightful atternoon in the various duties and sinusements usually incident to an old flashioned "country quilting,"—such as rolling up, toteing water, threading needle, etc.—found themselves with the quiltout, the room cleared and swept, the chairs all placed against the wall, and everything in readiness for an out-and out quilting frolic.

Our party, in addition to the boys and girls included several matried persons, some old included several matried persons, some old and some younger, most of whom had just dropped in to see the young folks enjoy themselves, and to partake of the creature comforts which usually constitute an important feature in the programme on such occasions. But in the programme on such occasions in the programme on such occasions. But in the programme on such occasions in the programme on such occasions in the programme of the firm is a practical mechanic, they will be able to furnish mechanics.

After the usual preliminaries in the way of small talk and compliments, just to wear off foolish embarrassment, the order of the evening commenced with a play called "contentment," and many a payr ning commenced with a play called "contentment," and many a pawn was paid and faithfully redoemed—not by repeating pretty verses, standing five minutes with the face to the wall, walking three times around the room blindfolded, or any such tame performances, as are more commonly practiced in the more refined circles of the cities, which only serve to remind one of the better times in the countermelant in the primitive way, by good old to remind one of the better times in the country—but in the primitive way, by good old fashioned honest kissing, that sounded out clear and distinct, like the cracking of a wagon whip, set the old folks' mouths to watering, and made old Mrs. Deal whisper to Mrs. Skelton that "ake didn't see why a married state of the country will be seen to be considered." woman couldn't enjoy play just as well as single gals; for her part she didn't see no ditference; because she was old, it warn't no reason she shouldn't feel." The sport continued for some time, the boys The sport continues for some time, the boys ever and anon alyly peeping at the pretty face of Mrs. B., and only wishing they could select her as a partner, but restrained by the fear that her stalwart husband might think proper to resent such a liberty with his new bride; in consequence of which latter expression, ahe was, for the time being, a mere wall-flow-

This state of things was observed by John, who, construing this lack of attention to one whom he thought as deserving as any, into a want of proper respect towards his wife, and by reflection towards himself, determined it should not longer pass unnoticed. So rolling up his sleeves, he stepped into the middle of the room, and in a tone of voice that at once secured marked attention, said:
"Gentlemen, I've been a noticing how things have been working here for some time, and I ain't half satisfied. I don't want to raise a fuss, but—".

"What's the matter, John?" inquired half a dozen of us. "What do you mean? Have I done anything to hurt your seelings?" "Yes you have; all of you have hurt my "Yes you have; all of you have nurr my feelings, and I've just got this to say about it:

—Here's every gal in the room has been kissed mighty nigh a dozen times apiece, and there's my wife, who I consider as likely as any of 'em, has not had a single one to-night; and I just tell you now, if she don't get as many kisses the balance of the time as any has many kisses the balance of the time as any gal in the room, the man that slights her has got me to fight that's all. Now go alread with your plays!"

If Mrs. B— was slighted during the balance of the evening we did not know it .-As for our ourselves, we know John had no fault to find with us, individually, for any neglect on our part.

OLD Ma. RUSSELL was once fairly caught in his own trap. He was better known as Major Ben. Russell, and was once met by his old friend Bushy, when they exchanged a hearty shake of the hand, and the latter familiarly saluted the former with—

"How are you, old Ben Russell?"

"Come, now," said Major Ben, "I'll not take that from you—not a bit, you are as old as I am this minute."

"Upon my word," returned Bushy "you are my senior by at least ten years."

"Not at all, friend Bushy; and if you please we will determine that question very soon.—Just tell me the first thing you can recollect," said Bushy "was hearing people say—"There goes old Ben Russell."

"Well, the first thing you can recollect," said Bushy "was hearing people say—"There goes old Ben Russell."

"The warrants his work to give satisfaction, and accordingly solicits patronage at home and abroad.

TAMAQUA COACH FACTORY

The subscriber, having taken eccession of the house formerly, occupied by Mrs. E. M. Beatty, has converted the same into a Drug and Apothecary Store, such as he thinks will prove satisfactory to all purchasers, and respectfully calls the attention of his friends and the public to his choice stock. He has taken great care in the selection of his Drugs. Medicines, Ac., and can therefore cheerfully recommend each antiverey one as being PURE AND UNADULTERATED.

He is determined to give his undivided personal attention to his business, at all hours of the day and night when required, believing that the success and equation of physicians as well as the installable liver of their policinals depends in a great measure on, the care of the Apothecary and the quality of his drugs and mixtures; and he feels confident that convaryans, when obtained at the expense of virtue and health, will not be the only question with his customers, when once his reputation as a careful and competent Apothecary, shall be natisfactorily established.

This reputation he is determined to build up, with the assistance of a shale of the public patronage—a fair proportion of which is guaranteed to him by numerous riends, independently of that which he hopes to obtain by close attention to business and strict attention in mixing prescriptors which may affect the health and lives of his customers.

Deception in preparing and compounding of medicines for rathless speculation he will never resort to, though it is notoriously five that such a daugerous deception is much more extensively and successfully practiced by druggists than can be readily imagined.

Consident of obtaining a name and rank amongst the first of, his cotemporaries, he only asks attention to the prove his will to eave, and his ability to satisfy the most exacting.

April Patrons may with confidence rely upon the prompt and faithful execution of their orders, sent by mail or the highest recommendation.

CLARK'S PATERT FLOURING MILL.

CLARK'S PATKET FLOURING MILL.

The Great Invention of the Day.

HE subscriber announces to the citizens of Schuyhill county that he has secured the light to sell EDWIN and JAMES M CLARK'S new Palent Flouring Mill, which is pronounced the greatest American invention of the day. The subscriber has one of these Mills in full operation now, in Tremont, where he invites all persons to call and see it in operation.

This highly ingenious, and much needed Invention, forms an entire new feature in the manufacture of Wheat into Flour; and the splendid manner in which it performs its work, Grinding, Bolting, and separating the grain at a single operation into seven different qualities of Flour, and Feed, and that within a spaced only twenty-one-feet in length by four feet in breadth, at the rapidity of twelve bushels per hour, on a pair of Franch burr milistones only thirty inches in diameter. The Grain is converted at a single operation into Extra and Superfine Flour, Fine Flour, Middlings, Shipstinfs, Shorts and Brau, any power being applicable to propel it, from a four horse up to any other desired. The small space it occupies would not be missed when placed in a room with other machinery, and the small amount of power it requires to propel it, makes it certain that, ere long, it will supercede and revolutionise all other Flouring Mills. So applicable is this Mill to the wants of the world, that svery saw-mill, machine shop, locumotive shop, foundry, forge, rolling mill, or any building having a power already creted, can now have within its units a somplete Merchant Flouring Mills. The trifling cost of from four to seven hundred dollars and thus the enormous amount of Grain raised within the United States, can be converted into Flour within its limits.

With one of these Mills nearly every large Colliery establishment in this county where steam power is used for pumping, should be supplied. They could be erected at a small expense and would enable them to manufact ture their own four.

This Mill only occupies the spac

ENGLISH FARMING.

Professor Johnson, of Yale College, in a description of the farm of Charles Lawrence, Esq., of Girencester, England, in the Country Gentleman, thus describes the general field management, and the care of fattening stock, &c., pursued upon it.

The farm is under a four years rotation, The farm is under a four years' rotation, viz: 1st. root crops, 2d, barley, 3d, seeds, (grass, clover, rape or lucerne,) 4th wheat.

The soil is prepared at the beginning of the rotation for root crops, by turning under stable manure in the aulumn, to the depth of 5 or six inches. In the spring the root crops are drilled in with a peculiar, manure, which is of a powdery character, admitting of a distribution with the seed. It is composed of pig and privy manure, mixed with ashes and superphosphate of lime. Mr. Lawrence conducted me to a sort of excavation made in the side of a knoll, the only rough place on the farm, where he caused all the weeds from the farm, where he caused all the weeds from the fences and roadsides, all dead leaves and veand for sale by ANDIEW MERIDE ASON.

field is subsoiled numbers of small calcarous stones are thrown up, which are drawing upon the farm road. They are rapidly pulverized under the carts, and in wet weather the mud is collected for covering the managements. It shortly forms over them a soliquite impervious coating, about one included thick, completely protecting the manure from water and air. Within, the heap ferments, and respectively loss occurs, he escate of second contracts. no perceptible loss occurs by escape of anmonia, and the whole is converted into an end form fine black mass of excellent minutes. in fertilising ingredients, and, as it would seem, in the best condition for exerting a beneficial action. It is this manufer that is plowed in before the root crops are sowed.

Mr. Lawrence said to me with great emphasis, "the secret of farming is a good flott of sheep." I had only a distant view of his 500 sheep, but from his lips gained an idea of the systematic manner in, which they are managed.

They are kept a greater part of the year upon the fields, and to furnish them constant ly with green food, a variety of erdps, viz:-Turnips, rutabagas, mangel-wurzel, rape, la cerne and clover are cultivated, and so che sen and sown, that each one is consumed while in season, and before it passes its prime,
