In regard to cheap traffickers, who are in reality as great a bane to the prosperity of a communi ty as the "shavers," it must strike every man of business whose motto is "live and let clive," that they check a healthy flow of the circulating medium of a place which grows out of the fair promonopolize the business of a place by large sales and low profits, are detrimental to its prosperity. While European capital seeks investment abroad, here money is scarce-and would be if the usery laws were repealed, confined to the hands of shavers to the detriment of the legitimate business of the country. It is evident since the question of the repeal of the usury laws has been agitated, that reckless borrowers and money lenders are alone in favor of their repeal. payments of high rates for money. Therever money does not by law possess a fixed valuation, the money holder enhances his power, every pappose; but the time at last has arrived, while the business man is impoverished. Very properly, the majority of the States place a valution on money, regulated by position and circumstances. Raper growing out of money is a different matter, as it is but the representative of money, based upon the credit of the person who issues it! The standing of that person, and the risk run in accepting it, regulate its value in market. Money is different. A value can be fixed upon it, worked out above water level, tracts are small and ought to be for the benefit of all classes -Laws should project the producers, those who add to the wealth of a country by their labor, while the drones, who are an incubus on its prosperity, in the deeper portions of the Basin. When recently a furore existed for the incorporation of Mining Companies, we fought them off here, while a number were obmoney articles of the city pross. Hence the tone tained for other Regions. Experience has defavorable to the repeal of the usury laws which monstrated that no same person would think of mining, associated in a company. Such associations are capital plans for speculations and to sell stock, but in mining they fail. The proper play in every Coal Region is simply-let the handholders make the necessary improvements, and lease to individuals. In the Shamokin, on the Broad tocracy springing up based on capital, multiplied Top and in the Wyoming Regions, this plan has at their expense, and to the injury of the producer | been adopted, and works well. In this Region so far, individual enterprise has developed its mineral resources, and has answered when with large tracts of undeveloped land, and expenses of mining greatly increased, individuals find it impossible with limited resources to operate with advantage. HIGH TONED, HONORABLE MERCHANTS -For years, Philadelphia has enjoyed an enviable mercantile reputation. The word of a Philadelphia merchant is nigh as good as his bond, while the Southern or Western purchaser deals confidentive with him. Prominent among the high-toned, honorable, manly mercantile firms of Philadelphin, stand M. L. Hallowell & Co. During the last Presidential contest, when a strict political aurveillance had the temerity to question the principles of Philadelphia's men of business, the treme South a business amounting to $80,000 per to of the English Lutheran Church, Miss A. Strauch, Teachmonth, yet stamped them as men not to be intimidated into a cringing, servile position. "The Card they published awakened the admiration of true men, North and South, and gained them eventually a custom for exceeding that which they previously enjoyed. We point to the position this firm occupies, as a bright example to the young' merchant who wishes to succeed in business, and be distinguished as high-toned and honorable.

RASCALLY PROCEEDINGS .- It is the practice of members of the Legislature to pass acts of incorporations, for instance railway, unasked for by the public, for the purpose of interfering with companies in existence, and frightening them into a purchase of bogus charters. This is a species of robbery that cannot be too severely condemned. It is rascally. There are some instances of this kind of work this session, we regret to say.
