ton?' was much in vogue after that battle. g.

"During the action Washington might have been seen driving up and down the lines, exposed to a deadly fire, in a small Concord. wagon, drawn by a bobtailed gray horse. His celebrated dispatch, 'veni, vidi, vici.' or I came and saw in a Concord wagon, has reference to this circumstance. "Washington has been called the Tather of his Country ;' (an unapt title, more properly belonging to the Mr. McCluskey, parent of the celebrated pugilist;) the child has grown, however, to that extent that its own father would not know it. Gen. Walker (William Walker) is also called the 'Eather of Nigaragun,' and we have no doubt in case of his demise, his children, the native Nicaraguana, would erect a suitable monument over his remains; with the inscription, 'Go, father, and fare

Washington was a member of the Know Nothing order, and directed that none but Americans should be put on guard, which greatly annoyed the Americans, their comfort being entirely destroyed by perpetual turns of guard duty. "He was twice elected President of the United States by the combined Whigs and Know Nothing parties, the Democrats and Abolitionists voting against bim; and served out his time with great credit to himself and the country-drawing his salary with a regularity and precision worthy of all commendation." "Although for the time in which he lived, a very distinguished man, the ignorance of Washington in some things is perfectly incredible. He never traveled on a steamboat, never saw a railroad, or locomotive . engine; was parfectly ignorant of the principle of the magnetic telegraph; never had a daguerreetype, Colt's pistol, Sharp's rifle, or used a friction match. He cat his' meals with an iron fork, never used postage stamps on his letters, and knew nothing of the application of chloroform to alleviate suffering, or the use of gas for illumination. Such a man as this could hardly be elected President of the United States in these times, although it must be confessed, we occasionally have a candidate who proves not much informed about matters in general. "Washington died from exposure on the summit of Mount Vernon, in the year 1687, leaving behind him a name that will endure, forever, if posterity persist in calling their children after him to the same extent that has been fashionable.

"A monument has been commenced in the city. of Washington to his memory, which is to be five hundred feet in height;' and it should be the wish of every true-hearted American that his virtues and services may not be forgotten before it is completed, in which case, their remembrance will probably endure forever." HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS .- Rock Cakes .- Large
