PREPARATION OF SEEDS .- Some seeds are to low of germination, that weeds grow in advance of them, and thus render their cultivation the more difficult. Many of these, such as the carrot, parsnips, etc., may be buried in a bag in the soil a few days before use, and thus swell materially, by the humidity and other necessary conditions found in the soil, before final use. This mode of treatment, in many cases, will do away with the necessity for steeps, and render early.

germination quite certain. Care should be taken broken off or injured during planting .- Ohio Val.
