This measure is the more important, because recent events have fully shown that no question of Governmental policy, in all its various departments, and even the question of Religion itself, cannot be discussed without the inligar question being forced into the arena, and the whole country distracted and convulsed, causing allenation and hostile positions in various sections. > How Wesley REGARDED REVENUE FROM SPIRirs.—In a letter to the Hon. William Pitt, in Sept tember, 1784, republished in the Wesleyan Mag agine for Febuary, 1850, John Wesley thus tren the revenue question: "Servants of distillers inform me that their masters do not pay for a fortieth part of what they distill. And this duty last > year (if I sm rightly informed) amounted only to £20,000; but have not the spirits distilled this year cost 20,000 lives of His Majesty's liege subjects? Is not then the blood of these men vilely bartered for £20,000? not to say anything of the chormous wickedness which has been occasions thereby; and not to suppose that there pour wretches have any souls. But (to con ide money alone) is the King a gainer or an immoney ters of corn destroyed which, if exported, would have added more than £20,000 to the revenue; be it considered. "Dead men pay no taxes." So that by the death of 20,000 persons yearly (and this computation is far under the mark,) the revenue loses far more than it gains. But I may urge another consideration to you. You are a man. You have not lost human feelings. You do not love to drink human blood. You are a son of Lord Chatham. Nay, if I mictake not, you are a Christian. Dare you then sustain a sinking nation? Is the God whom you serve able to deliver you from ten thousand enomies? I bel Nay, and you believe it. Oh may you fear nothing but displeasing Him?"

The rulls rest upon India Rubber springs which deaden the noise of a train, and at the same time ease of those heavy blows and shocks of the engines and cars while running, thus diminishing their wear and tear.

A conrespondent of the Ledger writing fro Altoona, Pa., "lets himself out" as follows: Reaching the highest of the Alleghenies, magnificent view was before us, mountain after mountain seemed to rise, one above the other, butil the outlines of the farthest were scarcely perceptible in its blue tinge; and although there are within the valleys that intervene many excel lent and extensively cultivated farms, the whole seemed a vast unbroken and boundless forest. HE IS GRATIFIED .- Lord Palmerston is the busiest man in the world just now. Having just emerged from a war with Persia, he is deep in a contest with China; he has to put down a revolt in the Ionian Islands and the last news from cont avenues: 00 Australia shows that country in the heart of a political crisis, which may eventuate in its declaring itself independent one of these days, and claiming rank among the nations of the earth 00 as the republic of Australia. Some $3000 has been expended in this way. The authority for this remains to be explained. The whole affair is very justly regarded as a swindle, and it is an interesting question whether Mesers. OH, INGLER .- One Mores Ingler of New York -a very ungallant individual-has commenced a suit against Dr. George Hayward and wife of Boston. Twenty-five thousand dollars damages are claimed for a breach of promise of marriage. Ingler alleges that as the wealthy widow of the late Amos Binney, the present Mrs. H. promised to marry him, but subsequently married Mr. Hayward. As Ingler appears now to be in the voin for healing his wounded affections, he thinks a large plaster will effectually secure that desideratum. Whether it will be applied or not, remains to be seen.

Why do the merchants and mechanics in your region proper, sees in the most deposing time, with your expensions? Simply because they can mathematically demonstrate their exact position as it regards the price of the article they deal in, their expenses of read clerk hire, sources of profit and chance of loss, which enable, them to shape their businers to the exigencies of the times, and as a result, can keep comfortable from such prudent calculations. prudent calculations.

Not so with the operators; there are so many contingencies in the business that it has deficit the most correct mathematician among them to tall the probable result of even a few months business. Euppose an operator, after an expenditure of several thousand dollars, has his mines mathematician among them to tell the probable result of even a few months business. Suppose an expenditure of several thousand dollars, has his mines in order to ship coal, and his ideas fixed regarding the cost of delivering it at the point where he can realize from it. Le sells at an advance of say 25 cents per ton, which on 1000 loss per west would soon remunerate him for his outhy! A golden dresm; but bye and bye an occurrence, "not in the bills," sakes place; an air course is needed; that will cost $1000; some of the machinery breaks which requires money and time to rejusiv; then to cap the climax, the miners run into a rock or dirt fault, and that, while the quantity of coal decreases the expenses lucroses. Leaving him minus—his hopes and arptrations proving an exciting deception—this is the rule, not the exception, as your operators are well aware.

The consumers are not interpreted in those things and will buy coal below cost as long as they can get it without event hanks; when a community are laboring under an evil and the remedy rests with themselves, it should

In this region the operators have generally been more not take long to put it right.

In this region the operators have generally been more successful, and the cause is very apparent to the most principal cool is the uniformity of the cond in the mines, enabling them to realize a certain, although it may be, a small profit; they have mined coal and delivered it in boats or cars as the case might have, been, at what you would doem a fabulous price, and yet "lived to tell the tale."

Bear Size—This Company deems it proper to inform its customers and correspondents, that it is not correct, as has been sated in everal prominent newspapers, that this Company had "arraigned to decrease their supply of Coal this year about 20 per cent." On the contrary their sim has been to bring to market not less than they brought in 1856. The heavy rains of the season, and the scarcity of laborares have so far prevented it. In view of the shortened supply, and consequently increased cost of production, they have advanced the prices of their cost (on and after this date) to the following rates, viz: Stemmer Lump, $1 20)

Both grow out of the necessities of our existence and relations. We have individual rights based on the fact of our individual being; and we have social deties resulting from our connection, in the bonds of society, with other individuals who have similar rights. Marals and manners alike, while they justify us in asserting and maintaining our own rights, require us scrupulously to respect, in word and act, the rights of others. OR the rapid cure of Coughts, tooks.

Houseness, Bronchilis, Whooping Cough. Asthma and Consumption, is universally known as the best remedy ever yet discovered for every variety of Pulmonary disease. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures. that simost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its klud is too apparant to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to amploy for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. By its timely use many, nay almost all stracks of disease upon the Lugior throat, are arrested and thus are raved many thousands every year from a premature grave. No family should be without it, and those who do neglect to provide themselves with a remedy which wards off this dangerous class of disease will have cause to deplore it when it is too late. Proofs of the susprising efficacy of the Cherry Pectoral need not be given to the American people,—they have living proufs in every neighborhood. But those who wish to read the statements of those whose health has been restored and whose lives have been saved by its use, will find them in my American Almanac which the agent below named has to furnish gratis for every one.
