THE ARMY .- Notwithstanding a time of peace, our army appears to suffer on the frontiers. I appears that during 1856, there occurred 46:319 cases of wounds and disease, which with 898 cases on the sick report at the close of the previous year, made an aggregate of 47,217 cases treated during the year. Of this number 45,508 were "returned to duty," 21 were placed "on furlough," 252 were "discharged the service," 52 deserted, and 358 died, leaving 1026 still under medical treatment at the close of the year. Letters are published in the Leavenworth papers

This search was successful, and a number of returns were found buried in the ground under a wood-pile. The value of a Breaker depends on possessing ertain qualities, such as making but little waste, strength of machinery, and ability to arrange it with facility to break the different sizes of Coal the market requires at the time, and also the quantity the mine produces. As near as we can learn, Mr. Battip's Breaker makes from 10 to 20 per cent. waste, according to the quality of Coal, whether hard or soft, and also how clean it is put into the Breaker. No criterion can be given of the loss by using picked Coal-the only way to test a Breaker, is to try the experiment with Coal as it comes from the Mines and is delivered directly into the Breaker from the drift cars. We invention of Messrs. Lyons & Hoyt may possess advantages worthy of consideration, and we advise those interested to call and see it, particularly those of our friends in New York who understand mining and breaking Coal. There was a strong feeling manifested on the part of some of the heavy Cosl Operators to dispense with Breakers altogether, owing to the expense of keeping them in repair, and the great loss caused in breaking Coal.
