Trespass," or "Private Wrongs."

Sitting in a rail car,
Trying on by steam,
Head against the common,
Dressed a curious dream:
Yet I would not think it
All a thing dead
For the very sweetness,
It appeared real.

First there came a gentle-
Man, in patent leather,
Collar, bosom, wristbands,
Regular for the weather:
In the height of fashion,
Watch-key, hat and gloves,
And with air professional,
Spit upon the stove.

Near him sat a person,
Talking how the Lord
Sent the great revivals,
Blessed the promised word;
But my dream discovered
He was not above
Honey-dew, or fine rye,
Spitting on the stove.

Next came in a trader,
Pockets full of cash,
Talked about the country
Going all to smash;
Sopped the newspaper dressing,
Did the thing, by Jove,"
Sipped a little brandy,
Spit upon the stove.

Then a jolly farmer,
Bragging of his wheat,
Thought his hogs and horses,
Nowhere could be beat;
"Like to sell his durhams
By the head or dozen,"
Kept his jaws a wagging,
Spit upon the stove.

Paddy thought 'twas "quare like,
To be sitting still,
All the while a-goin'
Over bog and hill:
'Twas a glorious country
Sure," as he could prove,
Equal to his betters,
Spitting on the stove.

Within perfumed dandy-
Putting on his airs,
Flourish'd diamond breastpin,
Bended in forward ears;
Talked about Lamoreaux,
"Such a perfect love,"
Twirl'd a sweet moustachio,
Spit upon the stove.

Little boy in short coat,
Wants to be a man,
Following example
As the surest plan;
Watches gent, and parson,
Copies every move,
And with Pat and Trader,
Spits upon the stove.

Now, perchance this dreaming
Was not all a dream;
Think I've had a steamling,
Traveling by steam;
'Tis a public nuisance,
Any one can prove,
"All the air corrupting—
Spitting on the stove."

Men call women angels—
Wonder if they think
Such obnoxious vapors,
Angels' meat and drink?
Wonder if they 'spect to
Smoke and chew above;
Below 'twill be handier—
Spitting on the stove.

Talk of ladies' flounces,
Ribbons, jewels, flowers,
Crinolines and perfumes,
Gossip, idle hours;
Put all faults together,
Which men can't approve,
And they're not a match for—
Spitting on the stove.

St. Louis, February 28.

A THEATRICAL INCIDENT.—Some years ago the manager of a "well regulated" theatre, somewhere along the line of the Erie Canal, engaged a good looking and brisk young lady as a supernumerary. It happened that the young lady in question had formerly officiated in some capacity as a "hand" on board a canal boat, a fact which she was extremely anxious to conceal. She evinced much anxiety to master the details of her newly chosen profession, and soon exhibited a more than ordinary degree of comic talent. She was duly promoted, and in time became a general favorite with both manager and public. One night, when she was announced to appear in a favorite part, a couple of boatmen found their way into the pit, near the footlights, particularly anxious to see the now famous comedienne. The house was crowded, and after the subsidence of the applause which greeted her appearance, one of the boatmen slapped his companion on the shoulder, and with an emphatic ejaculative, exclaimed:

"Bill, I know that gal!"

"Pshaw!" said Bill; "dry up."

"But I'm durned if I don't, now, Bill. It's Sal Flukins, as sure as you're born. She's old Flukins' daughter, that used to sail the Injured Polly, and she used to sail with him."

"Tom," said Bill, "you're a fool; and if you don't stop your infernal cheek, you'll get me put out. Sal Flukins! you must know a sight if you think that's her."

Tom was silenced, but not convinced. He watched the actress in all her motions with intense interest, and are long broke out again.

"I tell ye, Bill, that's her—I know 'tis. You can't fool me, I know her too well."

Bill, who was a good deal interested in the play, was out of all patience at this persisted interruption on the part of Tom. He gave him a tremendous nudge in the ribs with his elbow, as an emphatic hint to keep quiet.

Tom, without minding the admonition, said:

"You just wait—I'll fix her; keep your eye on me."

Sure enough, he did fix her. Watching his opportunity, when the actress was very deeply absorbed in her part he sung out, with a voice which rang through the galleries, "low bridge!" From the force of habit, the actress, instantly and involuntarily ducked her head, to avoid the anticipated collision.

Our Binghumpton friend sends us a fact which needs no fixing:

"A country gentleman who has lived near us so long that he might pass for a native of these diggings, though he was born nearer you than me, was obliged to visit your city on business a few weeks ago, in the midst of the panic. He took quarters at a boarding house, and his rustic dress and appearance exposed him to the observation and remark of a smart young lady, of very uncertain age, who sat opposite to him at the dinner table. Taking him for a decidedly verdant son of the soil, she proceeded to quiz him at her leisure. The gentleman perceived her drift, and humored the joke. In the course of her inquiries she asked:

'Did you ever visit our great city before?'

'Yes, ma'am, I did, several years since.'

'Did you come by railroad or steamboat in those days?'

'Neither of them things were in use when I come to town.'

'You must have come by stage?'

'Not exactly that way, neither.'

'In a wheel-barrow, perhaps?'

'No, not that way, neither.'

'You must have come on foot?'

'Not exactly so, ma'am.'

'Well, how then did you come—do tell us?'

'Well, if you must know, I was born here, June 24, 1814, at No. 40 Walker street, near the Bowery.'

The young lady was perfectly satisfied. She dropped the conversation, dropped her napkin, and finished her dinner another time, having learned a lesson to mind her own business.—Harper's Magazine.

JACK BANNISTER, the comedian, was going into a pastry-cook's shop with Parsons. The latter gentleman was very curious in examining an electrical eel, and inquired of Bannister what sort of a pie he thought it would make. "A shocking one," was the reply.

At Gibralter there was a great scarcity of water. An officer said he was very easy about the matter, for he had nothing to do with water; if he only got his tea in the morning and punch at night, it was all he wanted.

A RULE FOR THE CLERGY.—A minister who had received a number of calls, and could hardly decide which was best, asked the advice of his faithful old African servant, who replied—"Massa, go where de most debbil."

HOW TO BUILD A CHIMNEY.—It's easy enough," said Pat, "to build chimneys—you bowld one brick up, and put another under it."

A SHOEMAKER has one important advantage over most kinds of mechanics—his goods, whenever finished, are always sold.

A MODERN tourist calls the Niagara river "the pride of rivers." That pride certainly has a tremendous fall.

COCKNEY PUN.—Which are the worst of all waiters? Ivy, beggars-waiters, (aggravators.)

BOSTON BELTING COMPANY, Machine Belting.

THE experience of the past ten years has gained for this Belting the confidence of manufacturers and consumers. The great improvements recently made in its quality, warrant us in asserting it to be superior to leather for all open Belts,—especially for heavy or main Belts.
Its first cost is much less than leather—it is stronger and more durable, and gives a gain in power on the pulley. It will stand a heat of 300 degrees unaffected,—no degree of cold or wet can injure its working. In all respects it is recommended for Saw-Mills, Mines, Grain Elevators, Machine Shops and Manufactories.

New York Croton Hose,
Hose of any size and strength made to order—also, Suction Hose for Fire Engines and other purposes.
The above Hose has great advantages over leather, as it needs no oiling, is perfectly tight, will stand a very high degree of heat without injury, and is not affected by the severest cold.
Couplings, Hose-Pipes, &c., furnished at the lowest prices.

Steam Packing.

This article is now in general use by the most skillful Engineers and Machinists throughout the United States. It is prepared so that 3000 Fahrenheit will not affect it, and is superior to everything else, as no substance has so much elasticity which stands so high a degree of heat, and may be used about all parts where packing is necessary, viz: Manhole Plates, Piston Rods, Steam Joints, Steam Chests, Cylinder Heads, Stuffing Boxes, etc., etc.
Packing made to order for all the various purposes, such as MANHOLE PLATES, PISTON RODS, PIPE FLANGES, HOT AND COLD WATER PUMPS, VACUUM PUMPS, FOOT AND DELIVERY VALVES FOR STEAM ENGINES, &c.
☞ The subscriber has the Agency from the Manufacturers of the above articles. The Belts are the best in the United States, and we furnish them in Schuylkill County, at Manufacturers' prices, thus saving the carriage to the purchaser. Our orders have also the preference at the Mills over any others for Belts to be made to any pattern or thickness not on hand, as per agreement; we can therefore guarantee the delivery of any Belt within a stated time after the order is received.
